

Autopsy Set As Man Dies

An autopsy was scheduled to determine the cause of death after John Adam McCune, age unde-termined, died early Wednesday in the kitchen of his apartment at 87 Eighth Ave. W.

Deputy Coroner Fred Buell said that McCune was found violently ill in his apartment shortly after 5:30 a.m. and died before aid could be summoned.

A city police officer summoned to the scene reported that McCune had complained Tuesday to John Cunningham, manager of the apartment house, that he had eaten some green beans and then became ill.

Cunningham told of helping the sick man to bed about 4:30 a.m., the officer reported, and T. C. Johnson, who lives in an adjoining apartment, said he heard McCune moaning about 5:15 a.m.

Cunningham and Johnson broke through a locked door in an attempt to aid McCune, the officer's report stated, but the stricken man died before an ambulance arrived. Private funeral services will be at Bartholomew-Buell mortuary in Springfield at 10 a.m. Saturday.

US Accused Of Stalling

LAKE SUCCESS — (AP) — Russia charged Wednesday that the United States was trying "feverishly" to avoid international control of atomic energy.

Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko made the complaint when the United Nations disarmament commission met for the first time this year.

Before the commission was an Australian resolution which would link disarmament with atomic control and a restoration of world confidence. Gromyko said this was just another way of veiling the acknowledged Anglo-American desire to delay disarmament until political stability is restored.

What's more, said Gromyko, the United States is feverishly looking for loopholes to avoid atomic control.

American Delegate Frederick Osborn replied sharply. He was sitting on the disarmament commission for the first time, but recalled that he and Gromyko had argued at length on the atomic commission.

Osborn said that Gromyko failed to accept the realities of atomic problems.

The UN Palestine commission postponed action on a resolution that would open the way for formation of an international army to enforce peace in the Holy Land.

UN Tackles Police Issue

LAKE SUCCESS — (AP) — The United Nations Palestine Partition Commission Wednesday tackled two major questions: that of asking for an international army to enforce the split-up of the Holy Land and that of opening Tel Aviv to Jewish immigration Feb. 1.

A Philippine request for action by the Security Council, the only U.N. organ empowered to provide military units, to enforce partition topped the commission program. Immediately after a decision on that point, the five-man commission planned to hear from Sir Alexander Cadogan, British delegate, on London's program in connection with the General Assembly's recommendation that a port area be cleared for admitting Jews within the next 10 days.

In its present form the Philippine resolution merely calls on the council to consider whether the situation in Palestine constitutes a threat to international peace or a breach of peace, but informed quarters said it was virtually certain that a specific request for force would be made.

Same Car, Both Fined

PENNSAUKEN, N. J. — (AP) — A police judge decided Wednesday that two men can be guilty of drunken driving in the same automobile and at the same place. Witnesses told Recorder George E. Yost that Robert Burns, 30, of Philadelphia, drove his automobile onto the sidewalk of John W. Mortimer. Mortimer telephoned police—who said they arrived to find Clarence Trotter, 35, also of Philadelphia, struggling to drive the vehicle off the sidewalk.

Yost fined each $100 and suspended their driving privileges for two years.

Grove Council

COTTAGE GROVE — A very satisfactory discussion of Cottage Grove's hopes for an adequate municipal airport took place at Monday evening's city council meeting. Among speakers were Max Green of Eugene, Ken Blais, a flight operator at the Eugene Air Park, J. W. Blair, assistant airplane engineer for the state aeronautics board, J. V. Fryberger, of Salem, assistant engineer for Oregon Civil Aeronautics Administration. Local men were Merle Porter, Les Cone, and Loy Swanson.

The design of buildings, management of the proposed field, expansion, private flying, flight school, charter service, crop dusting, were some of the facets of the discussion. Ben Heinz, city manager, was appointed to make a further survey to get specific information for the council.

The council afterward discussed the special levy which would be necessary to buy the land and buildings on which the present airport is located.

C. E. Neet and Myrtle Neet requested that their bee license be transferred from their Grove Cafe to a new location, the present Cottage Grove Sentinel office. When the newspaper moves to its new building, the Neets, who own the present office building, plan to institute a new and large, modern beer parlor, leaving the Grove Cafe as a restaurant without beer. The transfer was granted.

A Class B license was granted field, who have purchased the Eagle Cigar Store from George W. and George R. McQueen.

Approximately 23 homes are affected by difficulties which R. D. Northcutt is having getting water piped to his housing project. His new water line which has never yet been used or tested, was damaged by the high water. City Manager Ben Heinz, City Engineer Les Coiner, and the water committee were detailed to go with Northcutt to examine the line, and when all rules have been complied with, permission will be granted to turn on the water for a test of the line and of the purity of the water, for a brief time, after which the line will be put in use if satisfactory.

There is some possibility the line will have to be moved a few feet to avoid a county ditch. County Sanitarian G. W. Smith must approve and also the State Board of Health must be consulted whenever a new waterline serving 50 persons or ten families is installed.

It was pointed out at council meeting that water from the Northcutt project could conceivably pass back into the city water lines.

Expected to be an unpopular regulation was the council's decision to prohibit parking on one side of Sixth Street, from Washington to the south city limits. The police department will decide which side of the street will be closed to parking and signs will be placed soon.

A city employee's plan to move outside the city limits was quashed by the city council, which has always required all city employees and heads of departments to live within the city limits.

Some progress was made on the hospital project. Councilmen reported that their investigations among townspeople have revealed divided sentiment on the city park site. Another location, in the same block with the Masonic Temple, is also under consideration now, half of which is owned by the city and half by the American Legion.
