Springfield's Millers kept their undefeated District 6 record clean at the armory Tuesday night, defeating a scrappy St. Mary's quintet, 35-27. This victory kept Paul Johnston's Springfield crew a half-game ahead of the Junction City Tigers in the torrid district race.

Big Irving Bingham, who plays his final game against Junction City Friday night, and Kermit Chapman were the two vital boys in putting and keeping Springfield out in front, after St. Mary's had pulled ahead at the mid-point of the second period, 10-8. Bingham made three important baskets late in the second and in the third canto to offset a Gael comeback and put the game on ice for Springfield.

The defensive play by both teams outshone the offensive tactics—Springfield using a man-for-man, and Father Louis Sohler's Saints maintaining a tight zone. Neither team was working the ball in consistently. Springfield had the backboards most of the time, thanks to Bingham, although the Saints never quit scrapping.

Springfield Leads at Quarter

John Adair put the Saints out in front after one minute of play with a one-hander from the key. A minute later, Wendy King tied the score with a two-handed set shot. Two more minutes passed before Bingham connected with a jump shot from the key to put the Millers ahead, 4-2.

Don Newsome of Springfield and John Fisher of St. Mary's exchanged baskets before foul shots by Fisher and Dick Kremmel tied the count at 6-6 with a minute remaining in the period. Don Barge and Newsome each added gifters before the end of the period to put the Millers ahead, 8-6.

Fisher flipped one in from under the basket, and Adair and Bill Higgins added freethrows to put St. Mary's ahead, 10-8, to start the second canto. At the four-minute mark, Ralph Cline pushed one up from the key to tie the count, 10-10. A minute later, Bingham pivoted another from the key and the Millers were on their way. Newsome and Chuck Hufstader added field shots before the halftime — the Millers leading at intermission, 16-10.

St. Mary's Wins 'B' Game

Bingham sank two buckets with Blackmon making a field shot and a freethrow to put Springfield ahead, 23-13, with one minute remaining in the third period. At this point, Chapman made his first point—a freethrow resulting from Fisher's fifth foul.

Dean Winther and Krasneski added fielders, while Kremmel and Krasneski connected from the foul line to cut the gap to five points—24-19—after two minutes of the fourth quarter. But Chapman took things in his own hands at this point, flipping in four more baskets and a free counter as the Millers made their lead a little more comfortable—12 points being the widest margin after four minutes, 32-20.

Don Greco came through with a last-minute field goal and Ronnie Olsen added a foul shot as the St. Mary's 'B' squad came from behind to defeat the Miller seconds, 28-26. Halftime favored Springfield, 17-15. Leon Bender of Springfield was high with eight, while Olsen led St. Mary's with seven.

RIGGS AHEAD

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Jan. 21—(AP)—Bobby Riggs pulled ahead of Jack Kramer by one match Tuesday night as he defeated the former world's amateur champion 7-5, 6-2 in their barnstorming tennis tour.

HIGHCLIMBER

By DICK STRITE

It doesn't add up! We've never seen any basketball team, anywhere or at any time, miss the hoop so repeatedly than did the Oregon Webfoots in their game against OSC at Corvallis Saturday night—and still hit so accurately from the freethrow line. While the Oregons were hitting only 13 of 60 shots from the field, they were netting 16 of 18 freethrows—.217 from the field, .889 from the gift line.

Impressions from that game—that OSC has as much or more speed than last year's championship team; that Norm Carey is the key man in the fast-breaking attack; that Dan Torrey has improved greatly in defensive tactics to combine with his dead-eye shooting; that Ken Storey is a better backboard man than Red Rocha, despite his 6 feet, 3 inches; that Slats Gill misses Erland Anderson and his rugged style of play more than any of his graduates from the 1947 quintet; that Jim Bartelt of Oregon will lose his starting forward berth unless he tightens up his defensive play; that Paul Cooper, the 6-foot, 3-inch transfer from Sacramento J. C. is the most likely reserve to replace Bartelt, following his fine clutch perfomance against OSC Saturday.

We'd hate to see Bartlet lose his berth because the rugged Ashland hoopster is a good player and was a very important cog in the basketball machine Coach John Warren had in 1945 when Oregon set several NCAA scoring records at Kansas City, but came out with only the consolation prize. . . It was Jim's shot in the final seconds of the "rubber" playoff game with WSC that broke a deadlock—and sent the Webfoots to the Western Regional finals.

MAIL-A-BUCK

The yellow box painted on the glass backboards at McArthur Court is a conference rule—supposed to give the players a better target. . . . The Webfoots claim they can notice no difference. . . .

Dwight Schyer, the new Northern Division hoop referee with lots of courage and some ability, was Roger Wiley's football coach at Bremerton High. . . . He worked the Oregon-OSC game with Hal Lee, who called the most unusual foul we've ever seen. Just before halftime, Torrey had the ball in back of the keyhole and to the side (directly in front of us) and suddenly, for no particular reason, Bartelt left his feet and landed on the Beaver—both going to the floor. Lee, who was downcourt behind Torrey, whistled a foul on Torrey for charging. Referees are entitled to some mistakes—but that was certainly an unusual reversal. . . .

OSC will have a terrible time with Washington. The Beavers are just as good man-for-man until you look at the centers—but how are they going to stop Jack Nichols?

Apparently Gill has given up on at least two lettermen—Center Frank Marshik and Guard Bernie McGrath, a three-year veteran who were not in suit Saturday. . . . We doubt if Alex Petersen, the 6-foot, 4-inch forward out with tonsilitis, will be of much help when he returns.

MAIL-A-BUCK

We've been attempting to figure just how OSC can use Don Fulgham on the Rook team. . . . The Portland youngster played with Oregon's 1945 varsity, but Paul Valenti, Rook coach, explains it with, "He was a wartime player." But how can a boy who played varsity ball as a freshman transfer to another school and compete as a freshman—unless it is a War Department instead of Pacific Coast Conference rule. . . .

Bob Wolf, Eugene High's fleet-footed and quick-acting guard, is the best collegiate prospect we've seen in prep circles for several years. . . . We also saw a kid by the name of Davidson playing for Outdoor Store in the City League with loads and loads of talent. . . . We understand he is from Rogue River and was lost to the Frosh squad because of scholastic troubles. . . .

Oregon's golfers—and Coach Sid Milligan should have as good if not a better team than last year—will play in the NCAA championships at Palo Alto June 28 if the Webfoots repeat for the Northern Division title. . . . Other NCAA sites and dates of local interest include Western Regional basketball at Kansas City March 19-20 and the finals at Madison Square Garden March 23. . . . Swimming at Michigan March 26-27.

MAIL-A-BUCK

Thanks to Bill Heinke, we collected a buck from Clifford Gee, who was introduced as mayor of Philomath, and Mert Folts brings in another with the hopes that something will be done with river pollution in preventing polio. That makes $281 in the Mail-a-Buck fund.

Webfoots Scrimmage With Freshman Squad

Oregon's Ducklings, who invade Klamath Falls and Medford this weekend, gave the varsity Webfoots a stiff scrimmage session Tuesday afternoon as Coach John Warren sent his charges through their paces.

The second scrimmage of the week, against the second team using the Washington horse-and-ladder offense, was scheduled for Wednesday—after which Warren will name his 12-man squad for the invasion of Seattle. The Webfoots entrain Thursday morning for Friday and Saturday night games against the Huskies—upon which will hang the Northern Division leadership. The Oregons are scheduled to arrive in time for a workout on the checkerboard Edmundson pavilion court Thursday night.

There has been no indication of a change in the starting lineup—with Roger Wiley at center, Dick Wilkins and Jim Bartelt at forwards, Al Popick and Stan Williamson at guards.

Warren plans to use agile Paul Cooper to portray Washington's Jack Nichols in Wednesday's scrimmage. Lynn Hamilton will take the place of Sammy White and Ken Seeborg will be Bill Vandenburgh. Bob Jorgensen and Billy Taylor will be Reedy Berg and Bob Lavey in the Oregon scrimmage.

Oregon and Washington split the opening series here and experts anticipate a repeat performance in Seattle.

Good scores were turned in by the Ladies Classic league which held forth at the Recreation Tuesday night. M. Van Orden with 194 single and Betty Van Orden with 497 series paced Al Clements Lumber to a 3-1 victory over Plant Plumbing. Dot Little tallied 219 and 492 as Jim Brannen Tires beat Miller Lumber 3-1. Squirt Botting led by Marion Bradley with 172 and 458 blanked Marley Sport Shop 4-0. Mel Wendel with 199 and Mary Bucklin with 561 led Wendell Woodworking to a 4-0 shutout victory over Goodyear Tires. Anita Young scored 200 and Lucille Duncan 479 as Medo Land bested Clingman's 4-0.

Tiders Crush Elmira 57-34 in Loop Game

By BARNEY BARTHOLOMEW

University High School built up a commanding lead in the first half of their District 6 league game with the Elmira Falcons and cleared the bench of reserves in the last two quarters as they coasted to a 57-34 victory over the visitors at McArthur Court Tuesday night.

Employing a fireball fast break, the Golden Tide jumped to a commanding margin over the Falcons from the start, rolling to a 13 point lead before Elmira could get in the scoring column, seconds before the end of the first quarter, when Ralph Dinnel and Wayne Mason collected foul shots each, with University ahead 13-2 at the start of the second canto.

With Jimmy King and Nick Brborich hitting often for University High, the Tiders continued to pour in the points, with the Falcons still going cold from the field, collecting three more freethrows, with University in front 25-5 at the halftime intermission.

The game speeded up considerably in the second half, with both squads chalking down counters, and University outscoring the visitors 32-29 in the last two periods.

Mason collected the first field goal of the evening for the Falcons, after Glen Torrey had bucketed two quick ones for University, with The Tiders rolling at a two-point-a-minute clip throughout the quarter and leading 47-17 at the start of the final period.

Reserves finished out the remainder of the games for University High, with the whole squad entering the scoring column, and raising the tally to the final reading, with Elmira, preced by Mason and Tom Brown, hitting consistently, but falling way short, 57-34 at the end.

King took scoring honors for the Tiders with 11, while Clancy Hultgren and Mike Lynch were runner-ups with eight. Mason was high for Elmira with 11 points and Tom Brown took second honors with 10.

The Tiders "B" squad made it a perfect evening for Uni High with their 31-13 victory over the Falcon second stringers, after trailing 10-8 at the half. Dave Fletcher paced the winners with 12 points, while Bob Bales paced the losers with 7.

Team Match Fills Double Main Event

A team match will make up the other half of the double main event wrestling card at the armory Saturday night. Frankie Hart and Jack O'Rieley meet in the top drawing card in a grudge match that grew out of last Saturday's card that O'Rieley officiated.

Selected by Matchmaker Don Owen to appear in the team tussle are Al Williams and Bub Cummings against Tex Hager and Milt Olson. Williams, a villain, won the main event match last week on a disqualification over Hart, and fans who were particularly ired at the decision, will be shouting in droves for the Chicago gangster and his partner from Florida to be beaten by the clean pair. However Owen has a clever two paired together for the bout—Cummings, probably the smoothest in the business, and Willaims always tough and rugged. Hager and Olson will have their work cut out for them. Not that Tex and Milt aren't fast enough to handle their company for the evening but when you get a couple of villains against a couple of cleanies anything is apt to happen and probably will Saturday night.

The billing of the team match insures fans of great card from start to finish with blood and thunder the order of the day.

Eugene Boxers in Armory Action Wed.

The Eugene Boxing Club goes into the action for the fourth time Wednesday night at the armory, when they take on some hand-picked punchers from several boxing clubs in the state from Oregon City, Chemawa, Vanport, and the Portland Jewish Community Center, in a polio benefit fight.

Bringing some of the outstanding boxers to meet his crew, Coach Jim Coffel is putting his boys up against some rugged competition in preparation for their March of Dimes Tournament battles in Portland at the end of the month.

In the double-main event clashes, Denny Quinn, one of the local's strongest hopes in the Golden Gloves fights at Twin Falls, Idaho next month, will meet Jesse Womack in the last half, while Dick Weldon, the slugging baker boy from Cottage Grove, meets brother Cleophus Womack in a 147 pound battle in the first half of the feature bout.

Wally Potter will be on hand to meet plenty of competition in Arlin Gallaher, one of the top punchers of the Jewish Community Center, who was runner-up in the Golden Gloves Tourney last season.

Freddie Hample, a game little 105 pounder, will meet Ted Giannatti of Vanport in the opener.

Other bouts have not been named yet to complete the ten bout card, but will be signed before ringtime, with Verle Boorstad, Jim McDonald, Bill Fleming and Ted Brasket of the Eugene club on hand to greet their opponents.
