bbins, widely known in as "Tommy" Robbins work in preparing for impetus to the Willam- project, will speak on flood control work in the valley and couple his remarks on water resources with a survey of the state's other natural resources.

Chairman

The general is now serving as chairman for the raw materials research organization which is dedicated to the preparation and dissemination of factual information about Oregon's natural wealth as the basis for future commercial and industrial developments.

Forum Chairman Orlando John Hollis Wednesday reminded that all of the Friday luncheon discussions are open to the public, and added that he is sure Gen. Robbins' address will be of interest to many residents who do not belong to the Chamber of Commerce.

Raw Materials

Gen. Robbins was formerly in command of the Portland division office of the corps of engineers. The topic of his address Friday will be, "Oregon's Raw Materials —What We Can Do With Them."

Accompanying the general here from Portland and scheduled to speak briefly in supplement to his talk will be, Chester Starrett, manager of the Portland Chamber of Commerce industries committee and secretary of the materials survey organization, and Al Bartell, engineer for the materials survey.

Press Parley Talkers Listed

Heading a list of topflight speakers scheduled on the program of the 29th annual Press Conference on the University of Oregon campus Feb. 20 and 21, is Harold E. Stassen, candidate for the Presidency under the Republican banner.

Charles E. Gratke, foreign editor of the Christian Science Monitor and alumnus of the University of Oregon, will also appear through the courtesy of the Eric W. Allen Memorial Fund. This is the second annual lectureship under the fund.

The Monitor's foreign editor has had an inside view of affairs in Europe for many years. Being in Germany when Hitler first came to power gave him a ringside seat at events which culminated in the second World War.

Other speakers will be William O. Thornily of J. Walter Thompson Co., in Seattle, a collector of rare and old type faces; Clifford Kayner, publisher of Ellensburg, Wash., Daily Record; William L. Blizzard, publisher of the Oswego Review; and Quincy Scott, cartoonist from the Oregonian.

David Eyre, assistant news editor of the Oregon Journal is also scheduled; Fred Lockley, Oregon Journal historical columnist Dr. Harry K. Newburn, president of the University; and Dr. Laurence Campbell, professor in the university school of Journalism.

'Hydro-Flap' Aids Safety

SAN FRANCISCO— (U.P.) —The U. S. Navy has adopted a gadget to take the hazard out of forced landings at sea.

The gadget, known as a "hydro-flap," is a planing surface swung beneath the fuselage as a water ski when a pilot is forced to set his plane down in the ocean.

The hydro-flap keeps the nose of the plans skimming along the surface until most forward speed is lost. After the plane's gradual deceleration, personnel use escape hatches and launch survival gear in the few minutes before the plane sinks.

The Navy said most casualties during forced lands at seat result from structural failure and "submarining" which results when the plane's nose digs into the water.

The hydro-flap, developed by the national advisory committee for aeronautics, will be installed on the production models of the Martin P4M Mercator. In addition, studies are now being made to determine the type of flap best suited for the Lockheed P2V Neptune. Both are long-range patrol planes.

The newly-developed hydro-flap, though able to withstand loads up to 10,000 pounds, adds only 11 pounds to the weight of the plane.

Crow Report

CROW — Stephen Becker was called to Seattle to see his brother, Herman, who is seriously ill there. He is well known here as the family lived in this community when he was a small boy.

Crow Grade School has a substitute teacher, Mrs. Culver, who is teaching while Mrs. Maxine Softly is sick.

Mr. and Mrs. Haakon Bjerkness of Seattle and her brother, A. Frank Gates of Springfield, recently visited their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gates and the old home of their grandparents which Mr. and Mrs. John Smith now own. They expect to be joined by another brother, Ellery, from West Fir and will visit more relatives and friends here.

Delmer Gates is again employed at the Bauman sawmill in Hadleyville.

We also have several kinds of spring flowers blooming in this part of the county, but a big white frost Monday and Tuesday made us think we were not sure about spring being here.

New York Markets

By T. W. KIENLEN

NEW YORK, Jan 21—(UP)—The stock market began to sell off shortly before the close today in a quickened volume of trading that threw the tickers behind the market.

All sections of the list shared the late downturn. Rails, which had been showing strength earlier in the day, broke to net losses with Union Pacific giving up virtually all of a 3-point rise.

In the steel group U. S. Steel dropped more than a point while Bethlehem had a fractional decline. Oils, motors, coppers, amusements and mercantile shares were forced down.

Wall street ascribed the decline to technical factors.

The bulk of the selling came between 2:30 and 2:45 and the tickers caught up before the close after having run as much as one minute behind floor transactions.

Caterpillar Tractor held a gain of more than a point in its group but Deere & Co., and International Harvester both reacted after scoring similar gains and were around their previous closing levels.

Paramount made a new 1947-48 low in the movie group, scoring a minor fractional loss.

Report from Drain

DRAIN — Roy Cox has brought a cougar into town that he killed over on Salt Creek. It was one of the largest cats seen around here in a long time, nine feet long and was one of the dark brindle variety, an old one, fat, and in fine condition.

It took the dogs quite a while to tree him and Roy said his little twenty-two rifle did the rest. Now they are after a big bear that is in the same vicinity.

The remodeling of The Poplars restaurant is almost completed and they expect to open this week, giving Drain a modern eating place comparable to the finest found on our highways. Mrs. Hichethair and her nephew will be in charge. The old service station, in the front is being torn down and new island and pumps have been put in beside the restaurant.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Ritter expect to open their grocery and meat market in a few days. The new building of cement construction also houses cold storage lockers that have been in operation for two weeks.

All these new buildings and new business ventures are healthy signs for Drain's future.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer McFadden have built and are now operating a grocery in east Drain. They are serving hamburgers and short orders. Being near the schools, they are kept busy filling a long felt want for this service.

Mr. and Mrs. Spurgeon have received word that a son-in-law in Missouri, has been operated on for brain tumor but is progressing as well as could be expected. Another daughter of the Spurgeons flew east to be near her sister and family at this time.

Blotting paper was discovered when a paper manufacturer accidentally left the sizing out of a batch of paper pulp.
