Brawn, Brain Called to Help

DETROIT — (AP) — Tony Rea, who has been trying unsuccessfully for five of his 23 years to qualify for the Detroit police force, was accused Tuesday of hiring a brawny friend to take a physical examination for him and a brainy one to pass the mental test.

Rea appeared in traffic court with 200-pound Robert Gilligan and student Joseph Sokolowski, identified by police as the brawn and the brain. Both officers said, passed their tests with flying colors.

Judge John D. Watts placed each of the three on six month's probation after they pleaded guilty.

Police, who said they discovered the ruse when they became suspicious of the sudden jump in Rea's written exam rating, charged Gilligan was paid $15 for his part in the plan and Sokolowski did his share for free accordion lessons.

An abundance of snowshoe hare may mean disaster for Alaska moose. They eat the same food and starve each other out.
