

MRS. CURTIS

The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Baker Curtis (Marilyn Rowling) took place Saturday at St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

Miss Marilyn Rowling Serenaded at Wedding

Members of the Sigma Chi fraternity serenaded the bride with "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" at the wedding which followed the wedding of Miss Marilyn Rowling to Richard Baker Curtis, Saturday evening. Miss Rowling is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loy W. Rowling of Eugene, and Mr. Curtis, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Curtis of Spokane, formerly of Portland. Their wedding service was held at eight o'clock last evening by the Rev. Ernest S. Bartlam, at St. Mary's Episcopal Church. White gladioli and pale pink peonies were used to decorate the church at the altar and in the aisle.

Mr. Rowling gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of white organza, trimmed with tulle up the front and down the sides of the skirt, and with a ruffle all around its train.

Another ruffle outlined the round yoke of the bodice. A full length veil of white net was held by a Juliet cap formed of crosses of the net. Clusters of white daisies held it in place, and the daisies formed her sunny bridal bouquet. She wore a round wrist watch, which was fastened to the bridegroom. For the bride she wore a garter of blue satin and lace, made especially for her by Mrs. C. A. Leighty. Matron of honor was Mrs. Robert L. Curtis of Portland, the bridegroom's sister-in-law. She wore a gown of blue dotted swiss, made similarly to the bride's. It had a deep ruffle around the front of the skirt, which extended up the back to form a bustle. ## Commencement Is Sign For Rush of Weddings

By ANN CONNELL

COMMENCEMENT at the University of Oregon seems a signal for a rush of weddings which apparently only awaited the end of classes. Several ceremonies took place in the past week, and today there is the marriage of Miss Marilyn Griffith to James W. Kays, taking place at three o'clock at First Methodist Church. One wonders what burst of sound there would be if the guests suddenly should start singing, for members of both the Eugene Gleemen and the Women's Choral Club have been given mass invitations.

Next Sunday will see two weddings of special interest to the campus. Miss Stephanie M. Huestis, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph R. Huestis, will be married to Frank Allison McLean at three-thirty o'clock, at First Congregational Church, and Miss Gem Cressman, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. L. S. Cressman, will be married to James T. The time is eight o'clock.

Invitations are out for the marriage of Miss Lidy Lu Swofford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Andrew Swofford, to Glen Mearl Hankins, for Sunday, June 27 at three o'clock, at Lighthouse Temple.

July 10 is the date now set for the marriage of Mrs. Frances Elfving of Astoria to John A. Warren of Eugene. The ceremony will take place at Trinity Church in Portland, according to plans.

Mrs. Elfving is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Watzek of Astoria, who announced the wedding plans recently in Portland papers.

The couple will make their home in Eugene, where Mr. Warren is coach in basketball and track, and assistant coach in football, at the University of Oregon.

Miss Oberg Is Bride In Church

A sapphire lavalier belonging to her mother was the "something borrowed" which Miss Dorothy M. Oberg wore when she became the bride of William M. Brundy last Sunday afternoon in St. Mary's Episcopal Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Oberg, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Lorence, all of Eugene. The Rev. E. S. Bartlam officiated at the three o'clock ceremony.

Miss Oberg wore a period gown of white satin, made with leg o' mutton sleeves, folds of satin at the waistline forming a bustle in the back, and full-length train. The long veil was held by a crown of seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with two lavender orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Eloyce L. Oberg, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of pale blue taffeta and net, a head band of sweetpeas and stephanotis and carried a nosegay of sweetpeas and rosebuds. Mrs. Lee Heater and Miss Phyllis Hixson were bridal attendants, wearing similar gowns of pink and carrying matching flowers.

Mrs. Oberg, mother of the bride, wore a dress of royal blue with corsage of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Lorence wore a dress of brown and white print with corsage of Tallman roses.

Virginia Bailey Wedded Here

Lovely imported lace, embroidered on net, formed the bodice of the wedding gown of Miss Alice Virginia Bailey, bride of Donald D. Derickson in a ceremony of last Sunday. The rites were read by the Rev. Llewellyn O. Griffith in First Methodist Church, at two o'clock. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bailey of 100 Mayfair Avenue, and Mr. Derickson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Derickson of Route One, Springfield.

Delphiniums, both blue and white, and pink peonies were used in decoration of the church auditorium. Before the ceremony, Lowell Chase sang a solo, with accompaniment by Glenn Griffith.

White slipper satin formed the skirt and underbodice of the bride's hand-made gown. The lace bodice was simply cut, with Peter Pan collar and long sleeves. She wore a fingertip veil of illusion, gathered into a halo and fastened with orange blossoms, and she carried pink rosebuds and gardenias as her bridal bouquet. She was given in marriage by her father.

The bride's sister, Mrs. William L. Peterson of Ontario, Ore., was her matron of honor. She wore a gown of faille in royal blue, with pink carnations in her hair, and carried a cascade bouquet of pale pink peonies.

She speaks Spanish, French, and Italian fluently, and she has a good working knowledge of Latin and German. That isn't quite enough, however, so next fall she plans to return to the
