

Baby Tornado's Picture Is Drawn by Mapleton Woman

E. FREDERICKSEN—The picture of the tornado and the egg taken by the Register-Guard in the June 10 issue of the Register-Guard really shouldn't have had a "Swiss home" dateline, although several Swiss home people who were at the home on the highway were caught in it. I don't think the Register-Guard and the folks east of the summit understand just how severe and unusual this storm really was. People who have lived for 50 years on the Siuslaw River have never before even heard of such a storm.

Culp Creekers Take USFS Jobs

CULP CREEK-DISTON—Al Davies, district ranger, has announced the forest service staff for the summer. A number of new faces will be seen this year. Positions already assigned: Martin Robinson, packer and music foreman; Gladys (Bob) Barry, fairview lookout; Wm. R. Mallory, June Mountain lookout. As soon as final arrangements can be made, and the equipment is received, LeRoy Berrey will be assigned to road maintenance of the Layne Creek Road, a timber-salvage operator-built and maintained road, under a co-op maintenance agreement, with numerous operators on Layne Creek drainage.

Definite assignments will be made for the following after guard school: Donald L. Anderson, forestry student from University of Minnesota; Robert Walsh, Robert Reed, Kenneth Wicks, (Culp Creek), John Tuttle, Frank Wilson, and Wm. R. French. Year-long personnel of the district: N. Albert Davies, district ranger; W. Gordon Holbrook and John E. Todd, timber management assistants, and Clair Hogate, district assistant. Guard school began Monday and ends Friday of this week, at the old CCC barracks at Steamboat on the North Umpqua. Besides Davies, instructors include Clair Hogate and Ray Berrey.

Creswell News

CRESWELL—The Reese Lumber and Timber Co. located on the north highway have completed the installation of a new modern burner to care for the refuse from the plant. It improves the look of the place a lot and reduces the fire hazard from the open pit to a minimum. Harold Rasmussen of Springfield has been given authority by the city council to establish a garbage route for the convenience of local residents. He will pick up each week for $1 per month and will keep the dump grounds in shape for use. Privileges of the grounds have been so abused that an attendant will now be placed at the grounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Ostrum and family of Timber Lake, S.D., arrived Friday to visit with the Art Mogstad and Ted Mogstad families. Myrna Mogstad, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art Mogstad, and Roberta McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Clark, left Friday to visit relatives in South Dakota. J. W. Smith will serve as delegate this week to the meat cutters union 324 convention at Salem.
