ing to union officers who added, "The union has agreed to arbitration any time, if the company is willing. So far we have met with a flat refusal."

Westfir workers were divided on personal opinion toward backing the strike issue.

One union member said, "If we lose this case we lose everything. It's the principle of the thing that matters now."

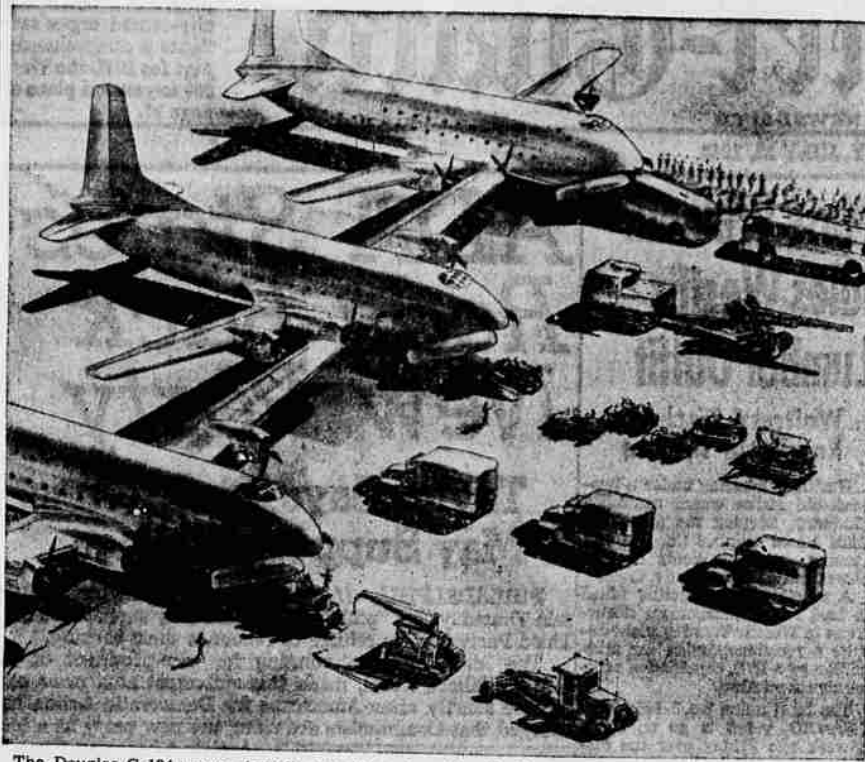

"There is a lot more to this than discharge of a waitress. It means whether or not you people are going to have a union up here or not," C. S. "Skip" Monroe, president of the local, told the men at Tuesday night's meeting.

Loggers, enmeshed in a union meeting without a book on Robert's parliamentary rules, spent 30 minutes deciding whether or not the strike motion of the previous week should be reconsidered by secret ballot or a show of hands. A secret ballot lost the move by a vote of 57 to 51, whereupon one member withdrew his membership from the union.

Approximately 200 men packed the Westfir community hall Tuesday night and gave an almost unanimous show of hands when asked how many intended to seek jobs elsewhere.

Only three members of the union agreed to remain and serve as pickets. A decision to hire pickets was approved.

"What is the family with five children and four dollars in the house going to do?" one striker asked and drew a reply that if the pickets were to be paid he could earn his money in that manner.

The Douglas C-124 cargo aircraft, recently ordered for the U. S. Air Force, shows the great variety of loads it can carry. The big craft, 2 1/2 times larger than the war-famous C-54, has a built-in nose ramp, enabling it to accommodate heavy tanks, field guns and even bulldozers. Operating from the same size field as the C-54, the new plane is said to be able to carry a load of 50,000 pounds, or 222 fully-equipped troops, for a distance of 1200 miles and return.

building but he recently allowed a contents policy to lapse because of the high premium cost in the suburban area.

Eugene firemen battled the fire for three hours and prevented it from endangering other buildings in the vicinity. It was the third time the city department has been called to Glenwood since fire protection was extended to the community under a July 1 contract with the city of Eugene.

A little over a week ago the Eugene department responded to another alarm from the drive-in. At that time they extinguished an awning fire with small property loss.

Gonzaga University Now Coeducational

SPOKANE — (AP) — A 61-year-old tradition will be broken this fall when Gonzaga University becomes coeducational.

The school, administered and staffed by Jesuit fathers, has been previously a male stronghold although some women students have been permitted to attend the university's professional schools.

The change was authorized by the superior general of the Society of Jesus in Rome and announced by the Very Rev. Francis E. Corkery, S.J., the school president.

Gonzaga will cooperate with Holy Names College, a girls' school here, to provide increased educational facilities, he said.

By the change, Gonzaga will become one of the few Catholic schools in the United States to be coeducational. Seattle University, also a Jesuit school, is likewise coeducational.

Herb Cox Re-elected Foundation President

H. J. Cox, secretary-manager of the Willamette Valley Lumbermen's Assn. in Eugene, was re-elected president of the Forestry Research Foundation in Portland Wednesday.

The foundation, established by leading forestry and lumber men, funnels money into research fields for the advancement of Northwest forestry practices.

Re-elected as secretary-treasurer was Paul M. Dunn of Corvallis. Continuing members of the board of directors are Edmund Hayes, O. R. Miller, and Paul Neils, all of Portland, and Dunn, E. B. MacNaughton and B. V. Hancock, both Portland, and Cox were elected to the board.

New Sulfa Aids Polio

HOUSTON, Tex. — (AP) — Polio patients here treated with thiazolyl, a new sulfa-type drug, are up and walking around, doctors confirmed, but they warned against over-optimism.

One doctor pointed out that many patients recover spontaneously from polio.

The doctors at the city-county Jefferson Davis Hospital, said also that the acute illness period of patients treated with the drug is being cut as much as one-quarter of the usual five to eight day period.

"We feel that the drug is doing some good," one of them said, "but we just want to be sure before we make any claims."

NEW SUMMER-WEATHER FACE CREAM

cool and refreshing while cleansing and beautifying

Here is the perfect summer-time face cream: No matter what the temperature, PEARLS IN WINE COMBINATION CREAM always feels delightfully cool and pleasant, yet it does far more to help clean and beautify the skin than ordinary, heavy, "skin-heating" creams.

As a LUBRICATING cream, PEARLS IN WINE COMBINATION CREAM relieves dry skin by the emolliency of the "special ingredient" it contains.

As a POWDER BASE, it gives the skin a soft, smooth, velvety texture that holds make-up hour after hour.

YET NO HOT, STICKY, GREASY FEELING — EVER

Keep your skin cool, refreshed, the year 'round, by changing to PEARLS IN WINE COMBINATION CREAM now. And look for a clearer, softer, lovelier complexion in as little as five days.

As a CLEANSING cream, PEARLS IN WINE COMBINATION CREAM gently penetrates deeper into the skin surface and pore mouths than creams without the "special ingredient" — loosens and removes, with a brief massage, grime, dirt, keratin, and cosmetics.

At your drug store $1.00 for generous jar, plus tax

Oregon Pioneer Dies at Age 99

SALEM — (AP) — Madison L. Jones, 99, who came across the plains from Indiana to Oregon in 1853 when he was four years old, died in Portland Wednesday from a bronchial ailment.

Jones was a farmer north of Salem until 1920, when he went to the Arlington district of Eastern Oregon to become a wheat farmer. He retired when he was 80 years old.

Jones served in the state house of representatives in 1882, was on the state fair board from 1915 to 1921, and was president of the Oregon Hop Growers Assn. in 1910.

He was born in Kokomo, Ind. His father died at the age of 97, and his wife died in 1939.

Survivors include two sons, Ronald, of Brooks, state president of the Farmers Union and a former state senator; and Ellis, who is publicity man for the State Unemployment Compensation Comm.; and three daughters, Mrs. Anderson M. Cameron and Mrs. Joyn Withycombe, both of Portland; and Mrs. Claire Jones Gray of Los Angeles.

Stockman Arrives; Prepares to Leave

PENDLETON, Ore. — (AP) — Congressman Lowell Stockman (R-Ore.), arrived in his home town of Pendleton Wednesday from the last session of Congress, in Washington.

And already he is preparing to leave by train Friday to return to the national capital for the special session of Congress called by President Truman.

The Stockmans drove to Pendleton from Washington, pulling their newly acquired large trailer home. Rep. Stockman stopped along the way to visit several government projects.

The Oregon congressman said he felt that the European crisis had nothing to do with President Truman's call for the special session. He expressed belief that the call was "a political move."

World Author To Broadcast

formed at the rate of three per month. At present there is no formally organized chapter of the United World Federalists in Eugene, but a number of members, from other chapters, have indicated that one will be formed in the near future.

Post Session
Glenn Gregory, acting chairman of the Eugene Council on World Affairs, said that following the broadcast, the speakers will be available for a short time to discuss any questions from the audience for which time was not available during the formal program.

Cranston will represent the UFW position, favoring a revision of the United Nations to provide a real world government. Stessl favors a union of the world's democracies, possibly in addition to retaining their UN membership, to provide a bill of rights similar to that of the United States, for all nations joining the union. Judge Bosone is a member of the United Nations Association, and favors full cooperation within the UN of its member nations. The fourth speaker, to be announced, will probably represent a combination of these views, from the British standpoint.

Gregory pointed out that the Eugene Council does not necessarily endorse all of the positions taken by the speakers, but feels that it is in the public service to bring as many viewpoints as possible to a Eugene (and nationwide) audience.

Counsel Says Law Illegal

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board, formally charged Thursday that the 1948 soft coal contract violates the Taft-Hartley Law.

He made the charge in amending his complaint that John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers coerced 10 big steel companies into signing the agreement. It contains a union shop clause, which Denham says is illegal under the Taft-Hartley Act.

REFORM PLAN TOLD
MANILA — (AP) — President Elpidio Quirino announced Thursday a reform program that included a plan to turn large estates over to peasants and convert them into farm colonies.

AT YOUR DRUGGIST

Child Murdered In Backwoods

GRANTS PASS — (AP) — Rodney Oscar Houston, 11, is dead and his mother, Mrs. Nola Houston, 40, is in Josephine General Hospital with a bullet wound in her head as the result of what state police termed a murder and an attempted suicide in a backwoods cabin eight miles east of Wolf Creek Wednesday night.

Coroner Virgil Hull, of Josephine County, said that the boy apparently died almost instantly from a .25-caliber rifle bullet fired into his left temple. The mother was at first believed dead but proved to have been only stunned by a bullet. Hull said she had fired a slug into her head above the left ear. The bullet plowed a furrow along the skull, laying bare the brain, Hull said.

Barring complications, the woman will recover, an attending physician stated.

The double shooting was discovered by Roger Houston, an older brother of the dead boy, who had been on a trip to Wolf Creek.

The coroner quoted Roger as saying his mother had been released three months ago from the state hospital.

The fact that he already has a wife and does not have much cash doesn't seem to bother Danny Wicker, Daytona Beach, Fla., tavern-keeper and high bidder for the $10,000 want-ad finance, Dorothy Lawlor of Hempstead, N. Y., as they prepare to shove off on a one-day, get-acquainted cruise aboard the newly christened boat, "Dorothy Lawlor." They were chaperoned on the trip by the owner of the boat and his wife.

No Housing Bill

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rep. Horan (R-Wash.) said Thursday he does not expect the special session of congress to pass any housing legislation.

"More housing is being constructed throughout the country than can be used," Horan told a reporter. "Because of this the government should not start construction of housing as it would bring about a dangerous situation from the financing and material supply standpoint."

Paralyzed Actress Sues for Divorce

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Susan Peters, partly paralyzed screen actress, filed suit for divorce Thursday from film producer Richard H. Quine, charging cruelty.

The actress, who was paralyzed from the waist down as a result of a hunting accident three years ago, asked custody of their adopted son, Timothy, 2. She also seeks support for the child, but requested only $1 monthly alimony for herself. Her attorney, Leo Sherman, said a property settlement has been agreed upon.

Mountain Peak Reported Spilled

LONE PINE, Calif. — (AP) — Students of this mountain country are speculating on the report of a peak in an isolated section of miles southwest of here split by a terrific roar Saturday.

Mrs. Laverne Whiting, wife of forest ranger Bob Whiting, reported the phenomenon Wednesday. She said the mountain, 10,000 feet high, apparently split from top to bottom, sending great clouds of what appeared to be smoke or grey dust.

The hill is not named on maps but is known locally as Red Mountain. It is reported to be an extinct volcano.

Mrs. Whiting said she saw the spectacle from her home about a mile away. Later through binoculars she said she saw a crack which appeared to be several miles wide.

(Geologists have speculated that the formerly volcanic area in the Sierras might someday become active because the section is described as the youngest, geologically speaking, on the western plain.)

Grace May Calhoun

Grace May Calhoun, former president of Creswell, died July 19 year she lived at Grants Pass, Ore. She was born Jan. 20, 1892, in Washington, N. D., and married O. Calhoun at Roseburg May 10, 1910. She was a member of Creswell Rebekah Lodge.

Surviving are her widowed three children, Mrs. Duane Creswell, of Eugene, Mrs. E. L. Bates Creswell, and Laddie Freitas, of City; two brothers, W. J. Peters, Grants Pass; and five grandchildren.

Services will be at Pool-Larsen Mortuary Monday at 2 p. m. with interment in Rest Haven Memorial Park.
