I SAW—Two boys take a spill on their bikes at 10th and Madison. They started swearing and using such vile language that they frightened a dog nearby into barking. This angered them more, and one took a large sling shot from his filthy pocket and loaded it with a large rock. He missed the dog, of course, narrowly missed three very small children playing on the porch and by an even more narrow margin missed a large window. His marksmanship was evidently on par with his intelligence.—Mrs. R. E. N.

John Andringa, Corvallis, was in good condition at Eugene Hospital Tuesday after suffering foot injuries while fighting the Culp Creek forest fire. He is an employee of the state forest service and a member of a fire fighting crew.
