

British Look At Fall Styles
LONDON — (AP) — British designers crashed straight through the looking glass into Alice's Wonderland today. The unveiled fashions featuring a coat worn all backwards, collars shaped like the backward ears, jorgnettes and corsetry.

The Molyneux stable romped away up front in the fall fashion parade with coats made of fabric and fur inside. Designer Charles Creed produced skirts which were plain in front and decorated in back.

Molyneux and Creed, a French couturier, gave buyers and designers a peek into the worlds of style on the second day of Britain's Fall and Winter Fashion Week.

Creed showed forty-three models. Some were decorated with chains, gold seals and jewels, and a brown dress with buttons just about everywhere and on the inside.

Zonta Club Plans Yachats Outing

Zonta Club members planning to attend the week end and beach outing of the club are advised that all plans are made, and they will not need to arrange to take any sort of food or supplies. For information, they may call Mrs. C. A. Huntington, 1691.

The outing, an annual custom, will be at the homes of Dr. Leslie Kent and Mrs. Wilbert L. Davis, two and a half miles north of Yachats on the coast, at Camp One. Camp duties are shared by all, and apportioned by schedule so that all have turns at resting and at working, according to members.

MANY VISITORS AT BELSEY HOME IN PAST WEEK

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Phillips and son Alfred of Oakland, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Whipple of Bremerton, Wash., have been visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Belsey of Springfield. The visitors and Miss Shirley Belsey left for Bremerton Sunday where she plans to spend two weeks vacation.

School lunch workers in many communities plan to can and preserve foods for next year's school lunch needs during the summer.

Friends Honor Miss Clingman

Miss Bebe Clingman, Miss Mary Alaska Thompson and Mrs. Cliff Rawlings were hostesses recently at the Clingman home in Springfield at a miscellaneous household shower for Miss Marilyn Bucklin. Miss Bucklin will be married August 22 to Edward "Bud" Boqua of Springfield. Guests were hidden on the lawn when the honored guest arrived, and rushed out to surprise her. The evening was spent socially and in the opening of gifts.

Those present were the Mesdames Pauline Duggins Wright, Joanne Appling Larson, Betty Allen Edwards, Marilyn Johnson King, Alene Burkhalter Nixon, Dorothy Ward Moore, G. R. Bucklin and Otis Clingman, and the Misses Joanne Ward, Patsy Christner, Edith Reynolds, Bernice Chase, Jean Eversole, Doris Ann Gaard, Betty Goodykoontz, Juanita Crabtree, Virginia Bruner, Eleanor Vroman, Ellene Bybee, Marilynne Robinson, Jean Allen, Vivian Rowland, Nadine Lee, Joyce Bryson, Betty Jo Hoyt, Lorraine Engel, and the hostesses and honored guest.

Invited guests unable to attend included the Misses Freda Shannon, Dorothy Hamlin and Evelyn Ford, and the Mesdames Juanita Walls Wetzel and Mary Lee Rodakowski. The hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Otis Clingman, served a buffet supper at the close of the evening.

Recipes

Three meals and good eating in a fresh pork roast! That's a good way for Mrs. America to save money this weekend—if she buys the roast from the rib end of the loin.

Government home economists give us this advice, suggesting we look first for meat bargains and then the right vegetables to go with the meat in end-of-the-week shopping.

Buy a roast that weighs about three pounds, they say. Rib and pork roast is about 49 cents a pound in many markets. And you'll have three meals for a family of four.

The rib end is an economy cut of meat. For it's about 24 cents a pound less than center-cut loin pork chops.

On a three-pound roast, that's a saving of 72 cents. And who can turn down a 72-cent saving on groceries these days?

Have the roast boned. For the first meal eat a savory stuffing, cook the roast uncovered in a moderate oven, 325 degrees F., and during the last half hour braise celery and carrots in the drippings.

Then serve thin slices of roast pork with a tossed green salad for a second. Third time, it's a flavorful pork puff with brown gravy.

Pork Puff
1 cup cooked pork
2 eggs, separated
2 tablespoons fat
1 cup mashed potatoes
Salt and pepper
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 cup milk
¼ cup bread crumbs

Combine pork with egg yolks (beaten slightly), fat, mashed potato and seasonings. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into greased baking dish—sprinkle with crumbs and bake in a 350-degree F. oven for 45 minutes.

Those leafy, green and yellow vegetables should be served once a day—or oftener—for good nutrition. And some of them are excellent buys right now because they're plentiful.

With the hot pork, you might serve colorful carrots—a yellow vegetable—and perhaps a tangy cabbage salad.

The cold pork might take a hot vegetable for accompaniment. One of those delicately-flavored green vegetables—aspargus, peas or baby limas—might be your choice, whichever is cheapest.

The pork puff for your third meal will be delicious with green and tender cabbage. You can't do better for thrift than new cabbage.

To keep the ends of kitchen and bath rugs from curling, dip them in a thin starch after washing. This gives them more body and keeps them flat on the floor.

New Swim Suits Are Flattering

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

The mature woman whose figure is not as supple as it once was needn't rule out swimming or sunning at the beach on that account. She needn't, if she'll make use of the flattery which this season's bathing suits offer.

The type of suit that is best able to give her figure slimming lines is a one-piece, princess-styled suit with a slightly flared skirt. The skirt should be long enough to reach midway between knee and hip.

The most figure-flattering suit of this type is equipped with a well-fitted built-in bra which uplifts and moulds the bustline.

The fabric for this suit should be light weight so as to minimize bulk. The fabric weave should be firm-textured so that it won't cling when wet. A dull-finished material is usually more slimming than a light-reflecting, shiny-surfaced fabric. Water-resistant cotton, gabardine or thin wool knit answer these requirements better than silk jersey, satin or nubby woolknit.

Dark solid colors, such as navy, black, cinnamon brown, and hunter's green are, of course, more slimming than vivid colors or bold prints.

Suits to avoid are those with short or very full ballerina-styled skirts which add bulk and accentuate hip-span. Two piece or two-color suits are unwise because they have the effect of cutting her figure in half, thus emphasizing its width instead of the height that a woman wants to accentuate. She should also beware of the loosely fitted suit which, tied at the waistline, seems to do nothing for an older woman but wrap her up in sack-like style.

GARDEN CLUBS ARRANGE FLOWERS

Three Rivers Garden Club recently entertained members of the Springfield Garden Club at a picnic at the home of Mrs. William Paustinen, on the banks of the McKenzie River. Mrs. A. Leonard was co-hostess.

Several other guests, non-members of either club, were invited. After the business meeting, the afternoon was spent in making flower arrangements in difficult containers.

August 6 is Deadline For State Fair Entries

Among the record number of entries now on file in Salem with the Oregon State Fair are those of Ted McKay, Eugene, who will exhibit his sheep at the Fair for the first time during the State's 83rd annual exposition starting Labor Day.

Manager Leo Spitzbart has called the attention of livestock owners to the new fair closing date for all entries, Aug. 6. Most divisions of the state fair livestock show are expected to be the largest in history and it is likely the 5000 animal livestock barn will be filled to capacity during the fair week of Sept. 6-12.
