Salem Log Scaler Uses 'Water Wings' on Job

SALEM —(U.P.)— H. C. Lamb of Salem uses "water wings" in his job of scaling logs.

"Water wings" is how Lamb describes the nifty little seaplane he uses.

For about 20 years, Lamb explained, he drove his automobile up and down the Willamette and Columbia River Valley roads hunting for rafts of logs. Then, he had to hire rowboats to take him to the rafts to measure and grade the timber before it got to the mill.

Buys Seaplane

One day he took a joy ride in a seaplane. He spotted a log raft, asked the pilot to land, hopped out and measured up the raft.

It wasn't log after that when Lamb bought himself a seaplane.

He already had 12 hours of solo flight in land planes and after five hours of instruction he checked out with a seaplane license. Since then he has piled up close to 400 hours of piloting.

Home for Supper

His work takes him from Tillamook to Hood River and from Longview to Eugene. He can fly to almost any spot in Western Oregon or Southwest Washington and measure up some logs and be home in time for supper the same day.

"I'm able to scale about twice as much footage in a day and save considerable expenses," Lamb explained.

He has been owner of the Lamb Scaling Bureau, Salem, for about 20 years. He has worked in the woods most of his life. He learned to fly at Albany, Oregon, when he was 46, "just a few years ago."

Son-in-Law Helps

Assisting him now is his son-in-law, Leonard Cain, 25, who also is a seaplane pilot with about 175 hours.

Lamb often sets down beside a raft entow, ties up his "water wings" and measures the footage as the raft, plane and scaler flows gently down the stream.

He carries his scale stick, a measuring staff with knife-like spikes on the end, in a pair of clamps alongside the plane's pontoons.

When Lamb is not scaling logs, he likes to fly to some remote lake and fish from the plane.

Even Mrs. Lamb is getting the flying habit, he said.

The United States now has an annual harvest of 200,000,000 bushels of soybeans.

BEAR SLAYERS — Robert Rippberger (left) of Minneapolis and his cousin, Jay Rippberger of St. Paul, pose with a 300-pound black bear which Robert killed with a single arrow, loosed from 200 feet near Tofte, Minn.

Richard Couldn't Open It

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Remember that song: Open The Door, Richard?

Well, because 10-year-old Richard Serrao couldn't open it, he was in Los Angeles Friday, instead of at home in Honolulu.

He went aboard the Matson Liner Lurline at Honolulu with his mother to see some friends off for the mainland.

He said he went into the restroom, the door slammed and he couldn't open it. He wasn't discovered until the Lurline was far out at sea.

His mother wired him $120 for a round-trip ticket. Richard is watching his doors, for the Lurline is due to sail Friday night for home.

Park, Terminal Bonds Called for Payment

City Treasurer Henry Beistel Friday reported that seven bonds in the series issued Sept. 1, 1925, for Eugene's park and terminal improvement program have been called for payment on the first of next month.

Issued in $1000 denominations, and paying 5 per cent interest, the bonds now called for payment are a portion of an original $175,000 issue. At the present rate of retirement, Beistel said, the entire issue will be paid off in another six years.

GIRL WINS TRIP

OSLO — (U.P.) — The foreign ministry announced Friday that Margaret Stewart, of the University of California, was one of three American students who won plane trips to Norway for the best essays on the subject "How to Bring Norway to the Average American."

The Toggenburg is the most popular breek of goat in America. It originated in Switzerland.

If you were traveling on "Shanks' mare," you would be walking.

M & M ELECTRIC

PHONE 6909-J

Installation and Service

Industrial, Commercial and Domestic Wiring

643 Adams, Eugene, Oregon

HANCOCK FRUIT MKT.

4453 Hiway 99 So. Phone Spfd. 9332

APRICOTS

Flat 79c

32-lb. Box 1.49

SPUDS Wash. No. 2 ..... 50-lb. Bag $1.09

TOMATOES Solid Ripe ..... Lb. 10c

PEACHES Yellow Cling ..... Lug $1.29

BANANAS Ripe ..... Lb. 15c

$45.00

Only First Class Materials Used

2-Day Service On All Cars

OPEN EVENINGS & SUNDAYS

$45.00

Price Includes All Labor & Materials

Phone Spfld. 2624 For An Appointment

ALL COLORS AVAILABLE

Lowest Possible Price On First Class Body Work

BOND'S AUTO REBUILD

1 Block West of Glenwood School Phone Springfield 2624

Open tonight!

Please Notice!

SHOP SATURDAYS UNTIL 1 P. M.

During the Month of August

* Rubenstein's Close at 1 p. m. on Saturday Afternoon

It's a Double Guarantee!

National Brands and Rubenstein's

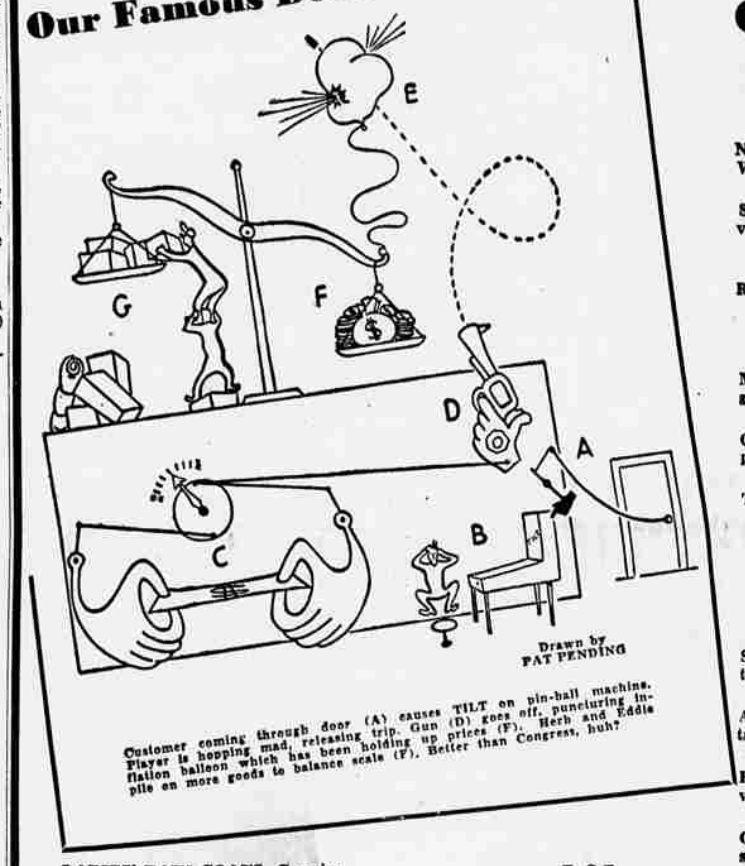
WHY WAIT? . . . FOR PRICE CONTROL

(You Should Be Living So Long!)

S-T-R-E-T-C-H YOUR DOLLARS TODAY

Your Dollars Go Farther

Our Famous Dollar Stretcher



Customer coming through door (A) causes TILT on pin-ball machine. Player is hopping mad, releasing trip. Gun (D) goes off, puncturing inflation balloon which has been holding up prices (F). Herb and Eddie pile on more goods to balance scale (F). Better than Congress, huh?

On These PX SPECIALS

NAVY BATHROBES. Corduroy. Who ever heard of a sailor in one?	2.49
SLEEPING BAGS. There's a variety. Honest	17.50
RUCK SACKS . . . New ones	4.95
Used ones	3.95
MAE WEST Life Preservers. A gold mine, fellas!	1.49
CAMP COTS. Almost like pre-war prices	3.98
TENTS. All new. Excellent condition 9x9	23.50
14x14	45.00
16x16	47.50
SUN GLASSES. Army Air Corps type. Sat., Sun. and Mon. only. Reg. 3.95	2.99
ALUMINUM LAWN RAKES. We take off our rake-off, leaving only	49c
HAND SOAP. You know, for people with hands ..... 5-lb.	49c
G. I. SUNTAN PANTS. The most serviceable work pants you can get	1.99
STRAW HATS. Strictly for service—not for beauty	19c
MOSQUITO REPELLANT. Keep those little so-and-so's at bay	10c
G. I. WADING SUITS. Equally good for fishing or changing the baby	2.49
COCOA MATTING. Used in ship decks. Laughs at Oregon weather. (A new comer huh?) . . . Running yd.	69c
TRENCHING SHOVELS. Collapsible handles (for laughs)	79c
TUBULAR LAWN CHAIRS. We're all out of short ones — only lawn ones left	9.95
HUNTING KNIVES. Complete with leather sheaths	98c

LADIES' RAIN COATS. Genuine Nylon. Marine Corpse	5.95
BURGLES. Boys, learn to play the Burgle Call Rag	2.49
LENSATIC COMPASS. Folding Case	2.95
DITTY BAGS. Itty bitty ones for o'nite trips. Zippers	1.98
RUBBER BOATS. The lowest price yet!	29.50
TANKER JACKETS. Be tankful for such a bargain	7.95
BLUE ZIPPER JACKETS. Genuine Melton cloth. Melton hot value	4.95
N-1 JACKETS. Ask the man who's N-1	5.95

LOTS OF FREE PARKING

TWO STORES

Corner of 13th and Hwy. 99 South and GLENWOOD JUNCTION

OPEN SUNDAYS AND EVERY NIGHT UNTIL NINE P. M.