Highway Crash Injures Driver

James O'Dewell, thought to be from Monroe, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital Friday morning suffering from injuries received when his car overturned and was completely wrecked by fire about two and one half miles north of Junction City on Highway 99 North. He reportedly sustained internal and back injuries.
The hospital reported his condition as satisfactory although extent of his injuries could not be learned at press time. State police reported his car hit a telephone pole, slid in loose gravel and turned over at a curve. O'Dewell was dazed and unable to talk when admitted to the hospital. He was brought to Eugene by Arrow Ambulance.
This was the first time state police have used the two-way radio system to call a fire department. The Junction City fire department extinguished the blaze.

Acting Postmaster Ethan Newman commented that "there must be hundreds" of ardent stamp collectors in this area. He said most collectors buy the commemorative stamps by the sheet as an investment. The pre-war national park commemorative stamps, he noted, have increased in value from three to five cents each.
The postoffice received 20,000 stamps commemorating 100 years of progress by women in the United States. The Oregon centennial stamp will be available here late in the month.
