Income Level Doubles 1929

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The average income of Americans is about double what it was in 1929, a "boom" year in its day.

A Commerce Department report showed this week that the average income of individuals (as distinct from corporations) increased from $680 in 1929 to $1323 last year, a rise of 95 per cent.

But it noted that "from 1929 to 1947 there was a pronounced relative of income from the New England and middle eastern regions to the West and South."

This was attributed mostly to industrial development in the two regions. A table showing average incomes for individuals in 1929 and 1947, and the percentage of increase includes: Far West (California, Nevada, Oregon and Washington) — $896 and $1559, 80 per cent.
