MR. AND MRS. RICHARD WILDER (Jeanne Spores) were married recently here, the bride wearing her grandmother's wedding gown.

Grandmother's Gown Worn by Miss Spores At Chapel Ceremony

Wearing the bridal gown of her maternal grandmother, Miss Jeanne Spores, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Spores, Springfield, became the bride of Richard Wilder, son of Mrs. Louise Wilder, Eugene and Manley Wilder, Honolulu, T.H. The ceremony as read within the Chapel of First Congregational Church, by the Rev. W. G. Nicholson, Saturday afternoon, November 6 at three o'clock.

Miss Spores' gown, which had been worn years ago by her grandmother, Mrs. William Norwood of Cottage Grove, was of ivory Chinese silk, made with round shirred yoke, long sleeves and a short train. Lace flower medallions edged the yoke. The fingertip veil was gathered to form a head dress by rows of shirring. She carried for the traditional "something borrowed" a handkerchief carried by her mother at the latter's wedding. Her flowers were American Beauty roses.

Mrs. Robert Murdoch, Springfield, was matron of honor, wearing a gown of powder blue taffeta, with head dress of white ribbon and multi-colored nosegay. Bridesmaids were Misses Mary Alice Baker and Betty Bounds, the first in gold satin and the second in baby blue satin, each carrying a nosegay. Carolyn Spores, small sister of the bride was flower girl, wearing a gown of cream colored taffeta. Misses Marilyn Eyerly of Salem in white organdy, and Dawn Koster in powder blue organdy, lighted the candles.

Mrs. Spores, mother of the bride was dressed in black velvet and lace. Mrs. Wilder wore wine satin. Both wore white carnations.

Frank Bishop served as best man. Ushers were Francis Palanuk, Denny Quinn and Ronald Spores. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

White chrysanthemums and ivy were used to decorate the church. Music was provided by Miss Mary Grubbs at the organ, who played, "One Alone" and "I Dream of Jeanie".

Mrs. Manlee Spores cut the cake at the reception in Wheeler Room of the church. Mrs. Zelma Edwards and Mrs. Cecil Runyon assisted. Mrs. Harry Hill poured. Guest book was in charge of Miss Connie Ohlsen.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilder went on a trip to Portland, she wearing a black dress with wine coat. They will live here for a while but will go to Southern California later where both will attend university. Both have attended University of Oregon. Still later they plan to live at Honolulu.
