Man Who Wedded Parents Officiates At Daughter's Rites

Miss Madelyn Ocumpaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Ocumpaugh, and Eldon L. Carlson, all of Cottage Grove, were married in a ceremony at the bride's home Saturday evening, November 13, at seven o'clock. The Rev. Wesley Knotts of the Creswell Methodist church officiated as he did at the wedding of the bride's parents at Roseburg, twenty-two years ago.

The bride wore an afternoon dress of aqua with silver sequin trimming and black accessories. Her necklace and earrings were a gift from the bridegroom and had been brought by him from Italy, when he came back from service there. She carried a white Rainbow Bible, loaned by Mrs. Faye Stewart. Her flowers were brown orchids and stephanolids. Miss Elaine Guggisberg, a cousin was her attendant wearing a pink afternoon dress with corsage of gardenias.

Cecil Carlson, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Clinton and Milton Ocumpaugh, brothers of the bride, who was given in marriage by her father.

The home was decorated with a lattice trimmed with greenery, and baskets of white chrysanthemums and candelabra. Miss Marna Rynearson of Eugene lighted the candles, and later had charge of the guest book.

Miss Mary Lou Wolford accompanied her brother Larry Wolford who sang, "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer".

A reception followed in the home with Mrs. Elbert Carlson of Eugene, an aunt of the bridegroom, serving and Mrs. Harry McDole, an aunt of the bride, pouring. Mrs. Frank Guggisberg of Lebanon, another aunt of the bride, cut the cake. The table centerpiece was of pink and white chrysanthemums and tapers.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlson went on a wedding trip to Portland and on into Washington. For going away, she wore a suit of dusty rose with brown accessories and a beige topcoat with orchid corsage. They will live on Ostrander Lane Cottage Grove after November 20.

Among out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Addison, and family of Yreka; Mrs. Anna Zapp, Coos Bay; Mr. and Mrs. Logan Miller and son of Holly, Ore.; Mr. and Mrs. Lorraine Ocumpaugh and sons of Oakland, Ore.; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kennedy, Creswell, Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Mostachetti, the bride's maternal grandparents, and Mrs. Josephine Ocumpaugh, mother of the bride's father, who came from Oakland, Ore.

'Keep Freedom Free' Theme of Speaker For Business Women

Dishes recently purchased and contributed to the Washington Street Park Recreation Center by Eugene Business and Professional Women's Club were used by the club to serve a dinner Thursday evening at the center. The public affairs committee arranged the meeting and the dinner, with Miss Eleanor Skene as chairman. As Miss Skene was called away from the city, Mrs. Charlotte Donovan took her place as program chairman at the meeting.

"To Keep Freedom Free" was the theme set for the session, and this was developed by a guest speaker, the Rev. Wesley Goodson Nicholson. The basis of democracy, which guarantees freedom, is the theory that each individual has equal importance, the speaker said. This basic principle did not derive either from the Roman-Greek culture, nor from the Oriental concept, but through the combined Jewish-Christian philosophy of religion, Mr. Nicholson declared. Religion makes each man a covenanter with God, and all equal in the sight of God, he said.

He urged that three of the things necessary for preservation of democratic freedom are these: That citizens be more zealous in using the voting privileges (only 50% of the registered voters having voted in the past election, as contrasted with 89% in Italy, 81% in France, 76% in Great Britain, and 74% in Canada); that they eliminate prejudice, racial and religious; that they strive for deeper religious understanding and loyalty.

In countries where dictators took over, those who consistently opposed such measures were found to be men and women of stout religious principles and belief in the brotherhood of man, Mr. Nicholson declared.

He brought forth the theory that unless the white race, which is in the minority in the world, with but 640 millions out of a total population of more than two billions, shall change its thinking and drop its prejudices, it is on a downward path, ultimately.

Emphasizing the importance of voting on to democracy, he cited personal views of occupied Poland given by a friend, to show how persons of that country "disappeared" from community life whenever they expressed free thought.

Miss Genevieve Hallin presided at the brief business meeting which followed the six-thirty dinner. She reported that a gift of $50 voted by the club to parks and playgrounds last year has been used by the Garden Club to purchase shrubs to be set around the recreation center. The club voted to purchase a shrub or tree to be set out on the grounds in the memory of the late Eugene McMurphy, war veteran and son of a charter member of the group, Mrs. Leora McMurphy.

The convention log was exhibited by Mrs. Helen Kilpatrick. It was compiled by her with the aid of chairmen of the recent state convention, and will be given to the state board for future convention committees.

Dr. Allie M. Smith was introduced, as one of the committee which aided in the purchase of dishes for the open house at the center, and was in charge of that affair. She reported that several articles still are needed in the center's kitchen: serving spoons, salt and pepper shakers, a can opener, tea towels, an egg beater and a step ladder, in particular. Miss Bennidine Backlund, who is director of the recreation center, was a guest. Several other guests also were introduced.

Dr. Helen Gilkey Is Speaker Here For Garden Club

Oregon scenery and wild flowers were extolled by Dr. Helen Gilkey of Oregon State College, speaking at the October meeting of Eugene Garden Club. The clubhouse was full, there being over a hundred present. Dr. Gilkey said that Oregon has more wild flowers than any other state, with the possible exception of Louisiana.

There was an informal show of chrysanthemums in connection with the question-and-answer talks by Mrs. T. H. Anderson and Mrs. Don Davis. Arthur Warren, president of the Rose Society turned over a check to the garden club for money realized on the recent sale of roses. There also was a plant exchange which was well patronized.

Those present stayed on to talk and visit after the program. The question of requirements for membership in the Garden Club has been asked and it is explained that the club is most democratic. Dues have not been raised. Anyone who is interested and anxious to have "two plants growing where one grew formerly" is welcome to join. Several new members affiliated at this meeting. Membership now has almost reached the three hundred mark.

Less than 5 per cent of the weight of typical plants is mineral material drawn from the soil.
