

Girl Scout Camp Comes to Close

COTTAGE GROVE—The Day Camp, sponsored by the local Girl Scouts, and Brownie Scout troops, closed Friday of last week, following six days of camp training for the girls. A program was presented on the last day and a number of parents joined the group on the occasion.

The six day events were held at the 4-H camp eight miles east of Cottage Grove. The 160 acres of land is beautifully situated for all types of outdoor activity and will be used for future summer recreation for the Scouts.

Leaders of the groups expressed appreciation for the cooperation given by all who took part in this year's camp and say they hope to have as many mothers interested in giving assistance when next year's programs are being planned.

Good-Looks Schedule For Summer Wilters

You don't have to live near the beach to have a lovely golden tan your friends will envy! You can acquire one in lazy luxury in your own back yard or terrace if you have a comfortable beach roll to stretch out on.

Here are simple directions, from the Woman's Home Companion, for making a roll-up sun mat. This is what you need: one long strip of plain denim and one of striped, 2 1/3 yards long; an extra yard for boxing strips to go down the sides; 6 rolls of quilt wadding for stuffing; 2 1/4 yards of cotton tape for braided ties.

This is what you do. Get everything together before starting. The trick is to put two long pieces together with boxing strips on side, wadding stuffed in.

You do this by cutting enough 3 inch wide boxing strips to piece together 2 side strips 2 1/3 yards long; pin together, baste sides of fabric with these strips, wrong sides out.

Stitch seams on machine, wrong sides out, leaving 12 inches open at middle of one long side to use as stuffing vent; then seam two open ends of the sun mat. Turn work right side out, seam again 1/4 inch from edge to make boxed seam. Fold wadding into 6 pads the width of beach roll and 12 inches the other way; flatten and stuff first one through opening vent.

Push bat firmly to one end, anchor with pins, stitch across roll. Continue to set in place, one by one stitching each bat. Work alternately towards ends, then set last bat in middle at vent and sew up opening.

For ease in carrying, braid three 2 1/2 inch strips of strong cotton tape and sew to beach roll 8 inches from one end. Then roll up mattress and tie braided tape around it.
