Kiwanis Have New President

J. Hugh Jackson

J. Hugh Jackson, dean of the graduate school of business at Stanford University, is the newly elected president of Kiwanis International, Ralph Fulbright, president of the Eugene club, announced this week.

President Jackson informed Kiwanis Clubs that his administration during the next several months will continue to emphasize the theme "Agressive Citizenship—Our Individual Responsibility."

As spokesman for 3000 Kiwanis Clubs, embracing 200,000 business and professional leaders, Dean Jackson will begin a speaking tour soon that will carry him into most states and into Canada.

At the Monday noon meeting of the local Club Song Leader Dean Lobaugh conducted a program of group singing built around the life of Bill Misher, club secretary since 1943.

His older brother, George Gibson Startup, after whom the town of Startup was named, died June 24. He was president and founder of the Wallace Lumber Co., in Startup.

Jerry G. Startup was born in England and lived here 67 years. He was in the lumber business in Chehalis at one time.

Pole Officer Convicted Spy

MANCHESTER, Eng. — (P) — Marien Kaczmarek, 40-year-old former Polish artillery officer, was convicted this week of spying on Britain and the American air force for a foreign power.

He was sentenced to three years in prison. Kaczmarek was specifically accused of obtaining information prejudicial to the interests of the state, which might be "useful directly or indirectly to an enemy."

He was accused of eight violations of the British Official Secrets Act.

Although the foreign power was not named in the eight count indictment, the prosecution charged that Kaczmarek's boss was Maj. Julian Kajdy, assistant military attache at Poland's London Embassy.

The prosecution had charged that Kaczmarek was commissioned to find out, among other things, whether the U. S. is sending atom bombs and jet fighter planes to England.

Will Rogers' Roan 'Soapsuds,' Joins His Master In Death

SANTA MONICA, Cal. — (P) — Soapsuds, favorite roping horse of the late Will Rogers, has joined his master in death.

The aging roan — named for the washed-out appearance of his hide — was dispatched by a bullet through the heart, fired by the humorist's son, Jimmy Rogers.

"He must have been somewhere in his thirties — over 100 for a man," said Will Rogers Jr.

States Close Forest Areas

PORTLAND — (P) — More Oregon and Washington forest areas will be closed by Saturday, state and federal Forest Service headquarters have announced.

The Oregon Forest Service was scheduled to close the Tillamook burn region Wednesday. Only persons bearing permits will be allowed to enter, Milton R. Mitchell, administrative assistant, said. He said the area was the driest since the state took over the land in 1946.

Federal Regional Fire Dispatcher Guy B. Johnson said forest areas in the Olympic Mt. Baker, and Snoqualmie forests in Washington state will close Saturday.

Areas in the Gifford-Pinchot Forest in Washington were closed Tuesday, Johnson added.

Forest areas in the two states are closed down when fire hazards mount, Johnson said, because "it is one way we can cut down man-caused fires."
