

State Appropriations Group Military How to Save

The list of economy hints and directives back up the Senate appropriations committee's drive to slash $1,118,736,322 from the $15,908,000,000 previously approved by the House. This covers Army, Navy and Air Force costs for the fiscal year that began July 1.

Recall petitions are being circulated against Elliott. Leaflets distributed Monday called the meeting for Sunday afternoon in a public park. They said the sponsor was the Legal Defense Movement, an organization known also as the Citizens' Action Committee.

Col. Francis W. Mason, deputy selective service director, said personnel and office hours also would be reduced. The budget was cut from $207,000 to $90,000.

Before entering into a new contract for this concession, the Department of the Interior desires, in conformity with the new policy for national park concessions, to give responsible persons or firms an opportunity to study the operations covered by this expiring contract and, if interested, to make application for conducting the business under a new long term contract.

The statement listed them as: "1. The shameful betrayal of labor's fight for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act, and as part of that betrayal, "2. The adoption of raiding, gangsterism and strike-breaking as official policy by reactionaries in the leadership of the CIO."

Francis and Mexico now have professional women jockeys.

The hitherto confidential committee report outlined particular targets for economy, including: 1. Reduction in the flying time required for "administrative and proficiency flying by the Air Force and Navy," especially for flying officers on desk jobs. It complained that Air Force "desk pilots" used large two-motored aircraft that cost from $60 to $100 an hour to operate. It suggested smaller planes be used.

2. The large numbers of Navy shore stations and Army posts.

Secretary of Defense Johnson was advised to get rid of inactive or partially active installations, although this usually draws a scream of protests from local committees and their congressmen.

3. Use of heavy military-type vehicles for light pick-up operations was criticized.
