

Water District Vote on Monday

SPRINGFIELD—Residents living in an area immediately north of here will vote Monday on the formation of a proposed water district.

Boundaries of the proposed district are roughly outlined by Mohawk road, Hayden Bridge road, Chase Garden road, and the Willamette river. It will include Halstead district and part of the game farm area, but will not include the Chase Gardens area.

A polling booth will be open from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. Monday at the home of W. W. Walker, 2220 North 5th St. Any person who has resided in the proposed district for at least 90 days and is a registered voter is eligible to vote. No property qualification is required.

Voters will also cast ballots for 12 water commissioner candidates. The top five will become commissioners if a water district is formed.

UO Professor Edits Book

Dr. Laurence R. Campbell, professor of journalism at the University of Oregon, is editor of "Careers in Journalism," a 108-page revised edition of his earlier book of the same name.

The book contains articles by 72 writers who examine the journalism field. Among the contributors are Palmer Hoyt, editor and publisher of the Denver Post, and Charles Gratke, who was foreign editor of the Christian Science Monitor until his death in a plane crash in India last month.

The opening article in the book was written by Dr. Campbell and George Turnbull, former dean of the school of journalism at the University of Oregon, who is now a visiting professor of journalism at the University of Nebraska.

ITU Remains Outside NLRB

OAKLAND, Cal. — (AP) — The International Typographical Union closed out its 91st annual convention Saturday resolutely committed for another year to stay outside National Labor Board jurisdiction.

The printers again refused to order its officers to sign the non-Communist affidavits required to place the union under NLRB procedure.

The union also: 1.—Rejected a resolution by members of the San Francisco local which has been under fire for signing a memorandum agreement short of ITU contract standards. The motion would have instructed ITU officers to stop using unwaranted affidavits against intra-union opponents.

2.—Submitted to union referendum an increase in the salaries of the president and secretary treasurer from $10,000 to $12,000 a year; vice president from $7500 to $9500.

3.—Rejected a one-union proposal for the whole printing industry.

4.—Directed more cooperation with allied printing crafts.

5.—Refused to solicit other unions for strike funds.

6.—Voted to intensify ITU activity in Canada.

President Woodruff Randolph told the convention he opposed the move to force officers to sign non-Communist affidavits because it would place the union under NLRB regulation.

"We don't want to use these procedures. We have not from the beginning and we do not now," he said.

TEXAS IS BIG STATE DENTON, Tex. — (AP) — West Texans are easy to tell from East Texans by their speech habits. So says Dr. E. S. Clifton, North Texas State College English professor. Dr. Clifton says words like "where" and "nor" tend to come out "whur" and "nur" when West Texans use them.

KUPPENHEIMER CLOTHES THE MAN'S SHOP BYROM & KNEELAND 32 East 10th

IF YOU'RE GONNA polish apples, you might just as well start early and get in solid before you get to school is the idea of five-year old Marvin French of Eugene, who expects to start kindergarten this fall. Marvin showed up at the Oregon Education association Summer Leaders Workshop and handed out shiny red apples right down the line, because, he decided, you never know who you're gonna get for a teacher, so you treat them all alike. Getting a big red one from Marvin is Mrs. Velma Tenney, elementary teacher from Klamath Falls. Those who had already received their treats are, from left, Mrs. Albert Kirkwood, Hood River teacher, Glenn Lynn, principal of a junior high in Medford, and (You've even gotta go to the top, thinks Marvin), Rex Putnam, Oregon's superintendent of public instruction. Some 150 teachers, all leaders in their fields, met on the University of Oregon campus August 15 through 17 for the workshop meetings. The workshop is expected to become an annual event. Chipper Old Soldier Ready For Final GAR Encampment

DULUTH, Minn. — (AP) — Albert Woolson quit worrying when he was a "youngster" of 50 and has felt fine ever since. He's 102 now.

He was feeling "chipper" enough Saturday to start "getting set" for the last encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic at Indianapolis Aug. 28. Only six of the surviving 17 boys in Blue will attend the meeting, the last one to be held.

Never Worries Woolson said he hasn't done a lick of worrying since his half century mark. He smokes one cigar a day.

His eyes are good enough though he wears glasses. His conversation is sharp and his memory astounding. His ruddy face has few wrinkles and he gets about snappily. However, he is almost deaf.

Woolson recalled that he was 13 years old when he saw two famous men sail into each other on a debating platform.

"I saw a tall man with a tall stovepipe hat," he says, "and my father told me that was Abraham Lincoln. The other man was Douglas."

Woolson was born in New York state but came to Minnesota in the early 1860s. He volunteered with the First Minnesota Heavy Artillery in 1863 and later became a drum major, serving in the Georgia campaign. He has been married twice. He

Sen. Cain Hits At CVA Article

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Washington's Republican Senator Cain told the Senate that a Walla Walla attorney, who wrote an article favoring a Columbia Valley Administration, had been "a $50 a day boy" for the Interior Department.

The attorney, Charles Luce, promptly agreed that it was true, and asked what was wrong with that.

Put in Record Luce's article was inserted in the congressional record by Washington's Democratic Senator Magnuson, who favors a CVA. Magnuson described Luce as a prominent attorney.

Then Cain, who opposes a CVA, and fellow-senators Saturday that they should know of Luce's connection with the interior department in evaluating his CVA stand.

Contacted at The Dalles, Ore., Luce said it was no secret, that he had been employed to prepare testimony for CVA hearings at "the usual basis—$50 a day."

"If the government wants to hire me for organizing a hearing, I expect to charge them something," he said. "So far as I know, Mr. Cain is not working for nothing."

Wrote for Paper As far as the article is concerned, Luce said he wrote it for the Walla Walla Union-Bulletin in reply to an earlier article which had opposed a CVA. Both the pro and con articles were inserted in the congressional record, he added.

The attorney also commented that his work for the government—done during May and June—was carried out at a financial sacrifice. "I can do better than that" (The $50 rate) "in my own office," he said.

Eugene Pitches In to Help Johnson Triplets and Family

More and more gifts and donations rolled in this week for the Johnson triplets. Radio and newspaper publicity brought gifts ranging from pillows to beds. A carpenter built shelves and cabinets in the Johnson house and a well-drilling firm attempted to sink a well.

Mary Zunke, 477 Third Ave. E., reported Saturday a long list of donations for the triplets who were born to Mrs. Chas. Johnson in July.

Ensel Hyland of Eugene Planning Mill, 306 Lawrence St., gave lumber to make cabinets and cupboards, and Ward W. Johnson, 500 River Road built them.

The manager of the Heilig Theater donated nine complimentary tickets for the family: Grace McVay, Blachly, sent in $1 in cash.

Mrs. and Mrs. Irving Shack, 1115 Ogle St., gave a large crib bed; Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Wright, 2419 Nixon St., donated a sink; (several other sinks were offered).

Mrs. Roy Gillespie, 2571 Alder St., sent in a large box of baby clothes; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ruth, 285 Federal Lane, contributed a high chair; Mrs. J. Hoyer, 1664 Columbia St., a bassinet; Rubenstein's Furniture, one high chair; Johnson Furniture, one high chair; and Montgomery Ward, one nursery chair.

Star Furniture Co. gave a nursery chair, as did Sears Roebuck and Co. M and K Furniture sent a clothes drier, and so did Monroe Furniture, Lyons Furniture, one crib mattress; Martin's Upholstery, 845 Olive St., gave a rocking chair for Mrs. Johnson; Williams Department Store, gave crib pillows.

U. S. Plumbing Co. donated one pair of water faucets for the sink, and Marshall Wells of Springfield discounted the price on a pump.

Mrs. Irene Roberts of 1531 Pearl St., gave a box of clothing for a ten-year-old girl in the family; the Broadway store sent three baby pillows.

On down the list — Fenner's Electric store donated one electric sterilizer. A mattress company at 1751 11th Ave. W., gave one large pillow. Garrett Appliance Co. told Mrs. Johnson to "come down and pick something out."

The Maytag Washing Machine Co. gave an electric iron, Everybody's Drug contributed three brush and comb sets and "other things." Tiffany-Davis Drug gave a gift; Myer's Drug donated a package of diaper liners.

Pennywise Drug Co. gave three pair of rubber pants; the Red Cross Drug sent a baby bathing set; Jensen drug, a baby book; Puritan Drug, mother's choice;
