

VA Releases Insurance News

Application forms for the special G.I. insurance dividend for World War II veterans will be on hand at the Eugene office of the Veterans Administration located at 202 Hampton Building, and at all veterans' service organizations on Monday, August 29, Kenneth L. Farner, officer in charge of the local VA office, announced today.

Approximately 135,000 World War II veterans in Oregon will share in the $2,800,000 dividend fund to be distributed to 16 million policy holders by the VA. Lapsed Policies Good

Veterans whose insurance has lapsed are still eligible for the dividend, provided their policies were in force for at least three months before the end of 1947, Mr. Farner said.

The application form is a simple one, with complete instructions on how to fill it out. If a veteran has misplaced his insurance number, he need not be concerned, according to Mr. Farner. Inclusion of his service serial number and his branch of service on the application is enough to identify his account.

After the application is filled out, it is to be mailed to the Veterans Administration in Washington D.C. The VA will acknowledge receipt of the application.

Veterans should give the VA an address where they will be for at least 6 months. Because of the tremendous size of the job, the first dividend checks will not be mailed until sometime in January, 1950. The VA hopes to complete the distribution in June 1950.

Lighter Agenda Facing Council

With the 1949 flood of street, sidewalk and sewer improvement projects definitely subsiding as the summer construction season draws near an end, the Eugene City Council's agenda for its next meeting, Monday night, will be considerably slimmer.

However, the council will take final action on one sanitary sewer project proposal and on plans for the construction of four bridges across the Amazon Creek.

Bids for these jobs will be opened Monday at the office of the city manager and tabulated for presentation to the council.

The sewer is proposed to serve residences on 24th Ave., from Chula Vista to Van Ness, and south on Van Ness from 24th to Reed.

The Amazon bridges will replace badly deteriorated spans at Nineteenth Ave. and Chambers St. and also provide for the opening of Oak and Pearl Sts. south across the Amazon to connect with Nineteenth.

Among other items to come before the council will be a report from the Chamber of Commerce-City Council joint traffic safety committee explaining final preparations for circulation of a questionnaire to determine the effects of the present one-way street system upon downtown business operations.

The council also will receive a petition signed by residents of the neighborhood in which the 20th and Washington municipal playground is located. This petition suggests that the playground be limited to use by youngsters only and that night league softball games be discontinued at this location.

Mr. True's Big Apple Brings Recollections of Other Fruit

The "Big Apple" may be 12 years out of style, but that doesn't worry C. E. True, 264 C St., Springfield, who brought a Jack o'lantern size one to the Register-Guard office Thursday.

The giant King apple grew in his backyard, he says, and he's proud of it—out of style or not.

It weighs one pound, 12 ounces; is 5 inches in diameter, and about 16 inches around.

Smaller apples have figured in history and legend, among them the forbidden apple of the Garden of Eden, the apple of Schiller's William Tell which led to the liberation of a nation, Sir Isaac Newton's apple that was to lead to important milestones in the history of mathematics, and the widespread apples of Johnny Appleseed.

True admits that his giant representative of the domesticated

State Hospital Row Reviewed By Civil Service

SALEM, Ore.—The noisy shake-up of the state mental hospital staff was under review and advisement of the civil service commission Saturday.

The commission hearing of the appeal of the dismissal of psychiatrist Dr. Horace G. Miller by Superintendent Dr. C. E. Bates ended late Friday amid charges and countercharges of incompetency. Nearly 100 people witnessed the loudly voiced proceedings.

Bates contended the trouble began early this year when he refused to recommend Miller for promotion to assistant superintendent. He said that after that Miller became critical of hospital policy and caused "dissension."

"He came for the purpose of practicing psychiatry," Bates said, "and until he merits promotion

... he should keep his hands off administration."

The superintendent said he wanted an assistant who would be "loyal" to him.

Miller replied that former Army Officer Bates wanted to make "a leg man" out of him and make him "subservient."

He said, "I don't believe in being subservient, or keeping a job for that reason."

Miller admitted that, "I guess I have of late been a little difficult."

Miller told the commission that although he appealed his dismissal, he did not want his old job back, but wished "to keep a good reputation and stay on the employment list."

Accusations on both sides of wrongful treatment to patients and mismanagement were supported by very little evidence.

The appeal was heard by civil service board members A. C. Cammack, Portland; Mrs. Effie Turnure, The Dalles; and J. N. Chambers, Salem, chairman.

Rep. Grace Oliver Peck (D-Portland), legislative member of the House social welfare committee, attended as an observer.

Civic Center Drive Extended One Week

SPRINGFIELD—The drive to raise $10,000 for completion of the Civic Center has been extended one more week, Lew Garbutt, Chamber of Commerce manager, said Saturday.

Garbutt said business firm solicitation was only half completed. He said the business and residential district canvas was taking longer than had been anticipated.

Members of the Veteran's Living Memorial Ass'n said the "assayer's" office at 5th and Main Sts. would also remain open an extra week.
