

Snack Bars, Radio Added To Cross Country Bus Travel

By Harman W. Nichols
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—Going cross-country on a bus soon will be comfortable, almost, as going cross-country in anything else. A number of things have been added. Continental Trailways, with headquarters in Dallas, exhibited a cream-and-cream sample here just before they gassed her up and west on the maiden trip. The bus, which is 35 feet long and weighs over 25,000 pounds, is equipped with a lavatory, a snack bar, air-conditioning and a radio hostess, who comes to the back and call when you want a little button. An AM-FM radio is piped through the vehicle by means of a dozen hidden loud speakers. The hostess, sitting at the snack table in the middle of the car, handles the controls and gets the thing tuned in properly before she turns the music commercials loose on the commuters.

The "Continental" is known as a decker-and-a-half. Twelve passengers can sit in the lower part, while the topside compartment holds 20 persons. The inside is fixed up like a living room. The seats are upholstered in plushy nylon done in sea green and lavender with white lily painted on the back of the seat for decoration. Each seat is equipped with an ash tray and they say the air-conditioning is able to draw out the cigarette smoke as fast as you can light it.

Reading Lights
There is an individual reading light over each seat for the benefit of the sleepless. The seats can be tipped back for those who have learned to snooze while in motion.

Windows on both decks are set with a "kick-out" sash. In case of an accident you give the sash a kick and it falls to the pavement. All of the windows, incidentally, are of "Solex," which is a heat-absorbing glass that keeps out a lot of the sunlight and keeps out a lot of the heat.

Lot of Baggage Room
Not only can you fetch along the whole family but there is room underneath for about everything in the ice box and the grand piano. There is a large baggage compartment on the right side, big enough to hold a flock of trunks, and another in the rear end which has a capacity of 80 cubic feet. Inside, on the lower deck there is space under each seat for hand bags and what do you think—a tray that pulls out and is big enough to hold a woman's handbag.

The interior is further dolled up with curtains. They are made

Stop Shopping Mister!
...what she really wants is a THOR AUTOMAGIC GLADIRON

Only $99.50
Half the price of other full-size irons

No wonder she wants a THOR GLADIRON for Christmas. It's the one ironer that does shirts and fuzzy dresses as easily and as beautifully as it irons sheets. It's the one electric ironer she can use anywhere. Folds and wheels where she wants, stores snugly in a closet. And, oh, the time and work it saves. Instead of waiting herself out over an ironing board, she just sits and bosses the job. Give a GLADIRON and you give glad ironing days forevermore.

Coast Population Growth Predicted

SAN FRANCISCO — (U.P.) — The states of California, Oregon and Washington will have a population of 17 million to 19 million in 10 years, the Pacific Coast Board of Intergovernmental Relations predicts. The growth will represent from a third to a fourth of the nation's gain in population, families and housing, the board said.

NO EASTER EGGS
SAN FRANCISCO — (U.P.) — A look into her backyard rabbit hutch gave Mrs. June Miller the impression it had been visited by the Easter bunny. Another look convinced her differently. Police decided the painted shells were de-activated Japanese bombs. The explosive assortment was listed as "lost" and turned over to the police property clerk.

Estimates on how long U. S. coal and oil will last vary from thousands of years to less than 100.

Teacher Coordinators Plan Statewide Meeting Here

Ten cities will be represented by teacher coordinators at a statewide Distributive Education conference to be held in Eugene August 31 through September 2. W. W. Cox, director of the Eugene Vocational School, will give the welcoming address at the opening session, 9 a.m. Wednesday, in the Bamboo Room of the Eugene Hotel.

Workshops will be held Thursday morning by instructors under the direction of the supervisor of distributive education, Larry Y. Eaton. Thursday afternoon the group will hear a panel discussion on the cooperative retailing program by the following people: Miss Nina Kitts, dean of girls at Eugene High School; Mrs. Virginia Miller, personnel manager of the J. C. Penney Co., Eugene; Miss LaVonne Wellman, former distributive education student; and Mr. Roy M. Morse, co-owner and manager of Morse's store.

After the Thursday meeting, the group will inspect the new distributive education classroom at Springfield High School. Coordinators and guests will hold a luncheon meeting in the banquet room of the Del Rey Cafe Wednesday. Following this meeting, Earl Brown, northwest manager of the Keweenaw Mfg. Co., is in charge of the program.

will speak on "What's New in Store Modernization." This will be an open meeting and retailers are invited to attend.

Distributive education workshops will be held Friday morning, with business and committee reports. Friday afternoon the group will tour the Eugene Vocational School Shops, and there will be refreshments in the home-making room, where State Director of Vocational Education Oscar I. Paulson, will speak.

Mrs. David C. Barnhart, local distributive education coordinator, manager of the Keweenaw Mfg. Co., is in charge of the program.

will speak on "What's New in Store Modernization." This will be an open meeting and retailers are invited to attend.

PAIR LOST AT SEA
KETCHIKAN, Alaska — (U.P.) — Ditto 35 miles north of Sitka, the Coast Guard reported. Alex Diddickson, skipper of the Ditto, and two men were missing and feared drowned Saturday after a cannery tender rammed the fishing boat were named as the missing men.

RECTAL DISORDERS

HEMORRHOIDS

(Piles)

There are many conditions that may affect the rectum and adjacent areas however a rectal disorder may affect the general health and well being of the entire body. Some of the more common complaints that have entirely cleared up after local rectal treatment are: pain in shoulders and arms, headaches, indigestion, gas, constipation, bleeding, itching, backache, pain in hips, legs and feet, general rundown feeling, and weakness, irritability and nervousness. If you are suffering from any of the above symptoms or have a suspicion that something may be wrong, do not delay in seeking the advice of a doctor. I have found that most cases can be successfully treated if discovered in time. I shall be happy to examine you and give you my honest opinion and recommendation. Phone 4-2062 for appointment.
