of Ingram ate Transferred
 More than 100,000 acres of timber were transferred from the Ingram estate to the state of Oregon in a recent court decision. The transfer was the result of a long legal battle over the ownership of the land. The Ingram estate had claimed ownership of the land, but the state argued that it was public land. The court ultimately ruled in favor of the state, transferring the land to the state's control.

Politicians Now Woo Decisive Voting Power of U.S. Women

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Women now can outvote the men so decisively that politicians will woo the female vote with more ardor than ever this year.

That word comes straight from headquarters of both parties on the heels of news that women of voting age will outnumber men by around two million before November's presidential election.

MRS. INDIA EDWARDS, vice chairman of the Democratic national committee in charge of women's activities, says national political leaders have become more aware than ever that women hold a tremendous political power — but don't use it. So the political wooing of these female votes will be stepped up.

Mrs. Gilford Mayes of Kellogg, Ida., assistant chairman of the Republican national committee, shares Mrs. Edwards' ideas about the potential political power of women.

National Forest Income Is High

Operations Bring Over $41 Million

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government took in a record $41,790,145 from national forest operations during the last six months of 1951, the Agriculture Department announced Saturday.

National forest receipts for the period showed an almost 50 per cent gain over the $27,981,665 income during the same period a year earlier.

Collections from the sale of national forest saw timber and other forest products — pulpwood, fuel wood and naval stores — totaled $41,080,573 for the six-month period compared with $27,339,567 a year ago. However, the timber cut of 2,897,529,000 board feet was only a slight increase over the cut in the last six months of 1950.

One-Third of Nation's People Consists of Vets and Families

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Veterans Administration figures that one-third of the nation's population consists of veterans and their families. It estimates the figure will increase to 40 per cent by 1955.

This new statistical compilation made public this week is based on data up to last Nov. 30.

IT SHOWED THERE are now 18,893,000 living veterans of all U.S. wars, not including the Korean campaign. This means two out of every five men are war veterans.

There are now about 3,418,000 veterans of World War I and 15,310,000 of World War II. Other veterans' records stretch back to the Civil War. The books were closed on the War of 1812 in 1926 when the last dependent died. The last veteran of the Mexican war died in 1929 at the age of 98.

WHY DO MORE PEOPLE SHOP AT BIG Y MKT.

Other figures show that four of every five veterans are married and that two out of three live in cities.

The VA estimates that in the year 2000 living veterans of World War II will number about 4,618,000, that the average age will be 77.
