Navy Develops Escape Device

New Mechanism Protects Pilot

AKRON, O.—(P)—The Navy announced Thursday the development of a mechanism which would permit pilots to escape from airplanes traveling at supersonic speeds.

WHEN A PILOT wants to abandon his plane, he pulls a handle which retracts his seat into the capsule and closes clamshell doors. By pulling a second handle the pilot can fire the capsule into space.

THE issue, a procedural one, was whether the Parliament should consider at once the premier's proposal for a guaranteed wage scaled to the cost of living.

THE powerful Socialists backed the scheme, but Conservative deputies oppose the "escalator clause" of the bill as inflationary.
