WITH GLEN STADLER

Some 500 years ago, boys and girls in France began sending one another little tokens of friendship or love.

Maybe because lovers often feel a kinship with martyrs, the tokens were exchanged on the anniversary of the beheading of a priest named Valentine, by the Romans, toward the end of the third century.

(Actually, there were three Valentines beheaded within a few years of one another. All became saints.)

The date comes down to us as Feb. 14. The pilgrims brought the custom with them. Early American Valentines were all handmade, with simple pen-and-ink drawings. To show more affection, the senders began coloring them; adding lace.

THEN, IN 1840, Valentine's day began to go commercial. Esther Howland, a student at Mt. Holyoke College for Women, designed such beautiful ones that her classmates urged her to make some for them. Esther set up shop . . . in that leap year of 1840. Since then Valentines have become big business.

Because this is another leap year, the manufacturer is having a field day . . . everything from delicate lace to comic Valentines with springs and moving parts.

If you can't find one that suits you, then you might want to send candy or flowers. Different flowers convey a variety of meanings, according to the National Geographic society.

Red carnations, for example, mean: "Alas for my poor heart." Bluebells indicate constancy; fuchsia, admiration.

EACH DIFFERENT shade of rose carries its own personal message. The Austrian rose, "you're lovely," the yellow rose, "jealousy." The maiden-blush rose carries the longest message: "If you love me, you will find it out."

The pink larkspur means fickleness; lily denotes coquetry; the lily of the valley, a return to happiness.

And, if this one might be apropos: the mustard flower (or seed) means . . . indifference!

A ROSE: Valentine roses.

A THORN: Valentine commercialization.

FERGUSON 4-H — At the coming 4H Stock Club meeting, Gene Kellogg will help the group to tie the knots of various kinds. All wishing to learn, bring a piece of rope.

Volunteer workers of the American Red Cross canteen service have made a total of more than 183,000,000 servings since the service was organized in 1917.

McKenzie Blood Needed By Soldiers; Friday Is the Day

McKENZIE RIVER—Hours for bloodmobile which were published in Saturday's Register-Guard, are slightly different from what was announced in that story. They will be 2:30 to 7:30 p.m., Friday, Feb. 15, at the McKenzie School, according to Mrs. Clarence Belknap, Red Cross local chairman.

The diet before making the donation is important: for the four hours preceding the donation, fatty or fried foods should be avoided, including butter, cream, etc., no cream in coffee, for instance.

The quota for the McKenzie visit is 100 persons. Only a portion of the quota have signed cards in advance. Anyone meeting the usual qualifications for blood donors may come to the bloodmobile without making previous arrangements or having a card.

Remember, maybe your pint of blood will save the life of one of our boys over there," said Mrs. Belknap, reminding all that need is urgent.

Price Charges Aired in Court

PORTLAND—(U.P.)—A jury was being picked in Federal Judge Gus Solomon's court Tuesday to hear the government's case charging that the Fred Meyer chain stores violated price regulations by up-grading meat.

The stores, as a corporation, denied the charge.

The government lists 23 separate incidents which it says involved marking meat at a ceiling price set for better grades.

Two meat department managers also have been charged but their cases will go to court later.

More than 12,500,000 persons have completed American Red Cross first aid training since 1910.

Night-and-Day Walterville Works On Those Garden Peas

WALTERVILLE — Does Lowell have any peas more than an inch high? On his sandy soil, Otto Marquardt optimistically plants peas every fall, late in the season. When the weather is kindly disposed, he has fine early peas, and this was one of those winters. So, although some of the neighbors are just planting theirs, the pea marathon seems well under way here. Peas for Easter, fresh out of the garden, is our goal.

ONE TRUCK driver, anxious to show his prowess, heard about Lowell's claims to superior peas. Although it was pitch dark when he got around to read the paper, he got out the tractor and plowed his pea-patch by the headlights. You can't damper that kind of enthusiasm.

The first American Red Cross membership campaign, conducted in 1918, enrolled a total of 20,390,173 members.
