

A. Plans Young Actors Open New Play Friday

A dingy-looking, but clean, S. Hilyard St. opens at 11 a.m. shop in the heart of San Francisco daily, and will remain open until the show starts. All seats are reserved.

THE PLAY was written by Rose Hum Lee and Charlotte Chorpene, especially for a child audience. The actors are teen-age Eugene-area students who take courses at Director Jean Poull's Stage Door Studio.

The plot concerns the theft of a white jade statue of a Chinese goddess, and the efforts of a little Chinese girl, Lee Bobo, and her friends to regain possession of the statue.

THE FIRST performance of this second youngsters' production of the season will start at 7:30 p.m. Friday. Additional performances of "Lee Bobo" will be given Saturday and Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p.m.

Merchants Promising ($) Bargains

Eugene merchants are out to lure you into their stores Friday and Saturday with what William Dell, chairman of the "Dollar Days" promotion, has described as "genuinely worthwhile bargains."

More than 80 stores are participating in the city wide event, sponsored by the Retail Merchant's Division of the Eugene Chamber of Commerce.

"We're asking all the merchants to really do some price-slashing," Dell declared. "We want to make it worthwhile for customers from all over western Oregon to come and shop in Eugene this weekend."

"Dollar Days" is the first of a series of special shopping events planned by Eugene merchants this year.
