'String Clinic' Open to All

A "String Clinic" will be held all day Saturday at Springfield High School.

The area's music teachers will be available for free instruction and Floyd Ellefson, music supervisor of Springfield schools, extends a welcome "to those from six to 60."

String music as presented by the University of Oregon music department will open the 8 a.m. session followed by a demonstration and lecture by Dean Theodore Kraft and classes of instruction for all phases of advancement.

"This is open to all string musicians in the area," Ellefson reported Thursday noting that this is the first time such a clinic has been attempted by the schools and that an instrument and a music stand are the only requisites for admission.

Byron Miller, music leader in Eugene schools, said Thursday a school bus will provide transportation Saturday morning on a run from River Road School, 8:30 a.m.; Eugene High School, 8:45 a.m. and Condon School, 8:50 a.m.

The full-day clinic, with adequate instructors from the University and the school systems, will close at 4:30 p.m. March 8.

Martin Swallows Reported Eearly At Spencer Creek

Arrival of a flock of Martin swallows—two days early this year—was reported Thursday by Mrs. William Schnorenberg, Spencer Creek Valley.

Mrs. Schnorenberg, who considers the arrival of the swallows a sure sign of spring, said they usually get here March 8. She believes that the birds are seen earlier in Spencer Creek Valley than anywhere in the county.

Other signs of spring out that way, Mrs. Schnorenberg reported, are blooming wild strawberries and spring beauties.

Collision With Train Kills Truck Driver

ALBANY—(AP)—A Southern Pacific freight train and a truck collided at a grade crossing here Wednesday, killing the truck's driver. He was Lawrence S. Russell, 25, Albany.

The truck, a large semi-trailer, was carried 196 feet before the train halted.

Russell is survived by his widow and two-year-old daughter.
