Assembly-Line Homes Confuse British Firemen

LONG BUCKRY, Eng.—(AP)— Firemen rushed up to Jack Goff's house, looked at the burning chimney, and told him they would fight the flames from the roof.
Goff's house is one of a tightly-packed row of similar structures. A fireman clambered up with a hose, stuck the nozzle down a chimney, and cut loose.
Screams burst forth from next door. One of Goff's neighbors, drenched, ran out.
The fireman had put the hose down the wrong chimney.
