

Lois Cook is pictured testing electrical switches on main arithmetical machine, the MANIAC, short for a Mathematical Analyzer, Integrator and Computer. Designed and constructed by members of the University of California's Los Alamos, N. M., Scientific Laboratory to aid in the work of the Atomic Energy Commission. The machine can work about 100,000 times as fast as a trained operator using a desk calculating machine. The cost was approximately $330,000.

Little Trip

W. Little, dean of the school of architecture at the University of California, leaves the university on the first leg of a one-month trip to Europe. He will take him to two continents and to Europe. He will attend the joint meeting of the American Institute of Architects and the Association of Schools of Architecture in New York City this month. He will present a paper on the "Aims and Curricula of Graduate Degrees in Architecture." He will leave for Europe following the completion of a sabbatical leave from the university. While there he will interview outstanding architects in France, Italy and Germany to determine their views on incorporating the new ideas into their professional work. He was awarded the 1952 Fellowship by the AIA to conduct his research in Europe. He will make Florence, Italy his headquarters in Europe and return to the university in October.

Churches to Fight Race Segregation

CHICAGO — (AP) — The National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. decided this week to fight racial segregation in its churches and in the nation. The council's general board meeting here adopted a program calling for a "non-segregated church and a non-segregated society." Representatives of the Presbyterian Church abstained from voting on the document, maintaining it would "cause a disruption of the racial gains our church has been making." DR. JOHN LAND, pastor of the St. Charles Ave. Presbyterian Church of New Orleans, one of the two Presbyterian representatives not voting, said the board's statement placed "undue stress on coercion, and would cause disruption and ill will among races." "The sweeping changes advocated by this document," he said, "must be done gradually. You cannot establish the Kingdom of God by force." But Luther A. Weigle, dean

Farmers Maul Evicting Sheriff

Widow Holds On to Home

LAPER, Mich. — (AP) — Sheriff Clark Gregory said Thursday he will seek warrants against three more farmers accused of mauling him when he tried to evict Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens from her farm June 2. Five farmers already have been charged with obstructing justice in the fracas. All are freed on $2,000 bond. Their arraignments are expected next week. The sheriff was granted court permission to hire emergency deputies to carry out evictions. He worked out plans for another eviction attempt at the widow Stevens' farm, but kept plans secret. Mrs. Stevens, 60 year old mother of nine, lost title to her farm in 1948 when she refused to pay $172 assessment on the failure in 1935 of the Lapeer Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Association. Mrs. Grace White, a Lapeer attorney, bought the farm at a sheriff's auction for $500. Mrs. White also bought the farm of the brothers Chris and Paul Ziegenhardt, who lost title through refusal to pay a $280 assessment. Evicted in 1951, the Ziegenhardts moved back in the same night and have defied further eviction attempts.

Retired Sailor Earns Degree

BERKELEY, Calif. — (AP) — For 30 years Arthur E. Anderson thought he'd kinda like to go to college. The chance came in 1947 when he retired from the U. S. Navy. He entered the University of California the following spring. Last year Anderson was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic society. On Friday, June 20, Anderson, now 59, will receive a Bachelor of Arts degree. He majored in languages and literature and hopes to start a new career in the travel or shipping business. His wife will be a proud guest at the graduation ceremonies. She graduated from the same university 25 years ago.

Party to Tour Mexico by Car

SALEM — (AP) — Seven college students and seven school teachers will leave Sunday by automobile on an educational tour of Mexico. It is sponsored by the Salem YMCA and Willamette University. The purpose of the tour is to acquaint the party with Mexican culture and social conditions. Students making the trip are Jack Phipps, Wenatchee, Wash., and Marcella Davis, Salem, both Willamette students; Silvia Wingard, Lakeview, Marjorie Elliott and Clara Dulling, students at the University of Oregon; Rae Newton, Oregon City, and Marilyn Meyer, students at Lewis and Clark College. The teachers are Patricia Graham, Parrish Junior High, Salem; Edna Goheen, Corvallis High School; Olivia Claypool, Springfield; Helen Redbird and Patricia Dolan, both of Highland School, Salem; Harold D. Osborn, Eugene; and Jack Gruber, Lorane school superintendent.

Linn County Judge Named

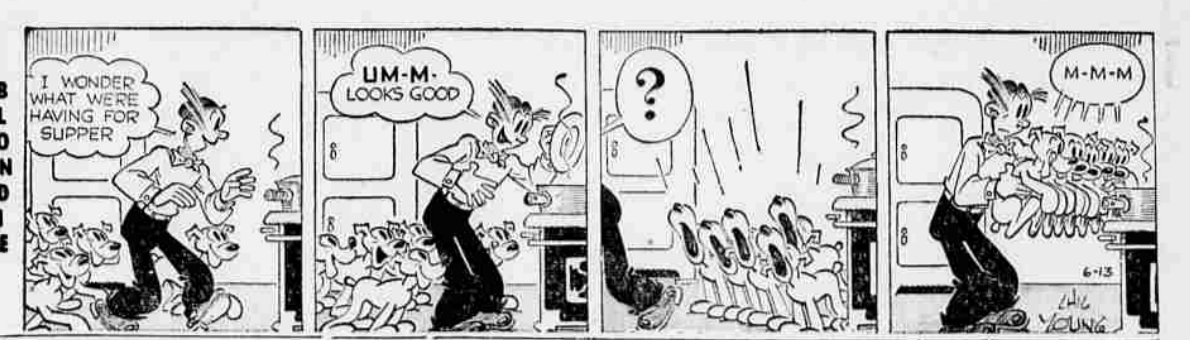

SALEM — (AP) — Gov. Douglas McKay said this week he has appointed Wendell H. Tompkins of Albany as district judge for Linn County. Tompkins will assume the post July 1. The Linn County Court issued an order last March establishing a district court for Linn County. Judge Tompkins was named to succeed Harlow Weinrich, whose office as justice of the peace was abolished through creation of the district court. Judge Weinrich indicated he did not wish to serve as district judge. Judge Tompkins was a candidate for the post at the May 16 election and won a majority vote.

Find Young Drug Addicts Spend $77 a Week

CHICAGO — (AP) — Case histories of youthful drug addicts here show that they spend an average of $77 a week for narcotics. The study was made by the Cook County Behavior Clinic, which picked 25 young addicts at random. The study disclosed: Their average age when they first used narcotics was 16.4 years. Seventeen of the 25 first took drugs while still in school. They preferred heroin alone or with Cocaine.

MAN NIPS DOG? WELL, NOT QUITE

BERKELEY, Calif. — (AP) — Jack Hamilton's dog got a taste of Jack Hamilton's teeth. No, Hamilton didn't bite the dog. The dog chewed up the teeth while Hamilton slept. The teeth were false, and Hamilton kept them on the nightstand beside his bed. That's the story Hamilton told Thursday, and he's chaplain of the American Legion post in nearby Albany.

Rocky Mountain Area Expects Record Rain of Tourist Gold

DENVER — (AP) — A flood of tourist gold—close to three quarters of a billion dollars—is expected to pour into the Rocky Mountain States before a summer's end. It will be spent by an estimated 20 million persons from other states. That's close to five times the population of the seven states with their lofty peaks, summer glaciers and high altitude coolness. Despite the bites chewed from income by taxes and high living costs, nearly all of the seven

Frost Damages Medford Crops

MEDFORD — Widespread crop damage in the Rogue River Valley was caused Thursday when the temperature fell below freezing in June for the first time on record. Medford recorded 21 degrees, nearly Ashland 29 and some areas were as cold as 26 degrees. C. B. Cordy, county agent, said the tomato crop was ruined and other vegetables heavily damaged. Extent of damage to the area's 10 million dollar pear crop had not been determined. Most orchardists had put away for the summer smudge pots used to combat freezing weather. The previous June low on record was 32 degrees on June 12, 1917.

Five to Compete in Annual Oratorical

The annual Failing-Beckman oratorical, in which graduating seniors compete with original orations for prizes of $150, $100, will be at 8 p. m. Friday in the music auditorium on the campus. Presiding at the event will be Dr. K. E. Montgomery, associate professor of speech. Judges are Mrs. John McCloskey, Hale Thompson, and Raymond Coulter, all of Eugene. The public is invited. Competing seniors include Bliss Stanley and Eugene; Faber De Chaine and Ron Symons, both of Portland; Henry Douglas Ambers, Klamath Falls; and Richard Hiatt, LaGrande.

NATURE VINDICATED

HARTFORD, Conn. — (AP) — The "sun that rose in the west" saved a building from serious damage. When a man awoke early in the morning and saw a rose glow, he thought it was the sun. After getting thoroughly awake, however, he realized that the glow was in the west and called the fire department, which put out the blaze.

Knowland May No. 2 Spot

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The top in the political books is the chance of Sen. William Knowland (R-Calif.) to be the vice-presidential pick of the Republican party. He is the top spot. He is the top spot. He is the top spot.
