

Police Officer Wks to Lions

Respect, Not Fear,
Goal of Agency

Police officers are getting more respect from the public, according to a survey conducted by the Eugene Lions Club. The survey, which was conducted by a committee of the club, found that the public's opinion of police officers has improved significantly in the past few years. The committee found that the public now respects police officers more and is less likely to fear them. This is a great improvement, according to the committee, and it is a result of the hard work and dedication of the police officers. The committee hopes that this survey will help to improve the public's opinion of police officers even more.

The Eugene State Police make an average of 50,000 arrests annually, and issue about 75,000 citations. The department's 200 vehicles patrol an average of 10 million miles per year, he added.

CONTROL WORK and criminal investigation are supplemented by the state police arson unit, the state crime laboratory, the state identification bureau. The state crime lab by the Eugene State Police is one of the best in the country, according to the state police chief. The lab has a staff of 200 men and women, and it has a reputation for being one of the most accurate and reliable in the country.

The 'Screwball' Editor Enjoys Daily Variety of Stories, Ideas

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The place where I work is full of desks but this stranger in the white shirt naturally had to walk up to my desk.

"I been up all night," he said belligerently. "You don't expect me to stay up all day, too, do you?"

"No indeed," I murmured. "Well, I'm going to stay until I get the rules clarified," he said. "Does a baseball fan have legal rights or doesn't he?"

"Of course, he does," I said. "They can't throw a fan out of the ball park just for hollering, can they?"

"Oh no, indeed," I said. "THAT'S WHAT I told them after they threw me out of the park last night," said the stranger. "I knew I was right all along."

My visitor was obviously slightly screwball, and I fell to thinking. "Why, out of all the ears in the world, did he pick on mine?" The only answer I could find was that in me he instinctively recognized a kindred soul.

Brenne Attends Week Institute

Fred Brenne, manager of the Eugene Chamber of Commerce, last week attended the annual Western Institute for chamber managers, at Whittier College in southern California.

He devoted his time to a course in industrial promotion conducted by Oscar Monrad, of the First National Bank and Trust Co., Oklahoma City, Okla.

Some 200 managers from 11 western states attended the institute. Next year's session will be at the University of Oregon, Brenne reported.

While there, Brenne viewed off-street parking developments in Whittier and other nearby communities.

Deane Seeger, former city manager for Eugene and now city manager at Whittier, told Brenne that 75 per cent of that city's parking meter revenues are used for acquiring new city parking lots.

Under the program, Seeger reported, Whittier has purchased 10 lots which accommodate 750 autos. Parking meters are installed on the lots.

Ingred Sheds Tears of Joy Over Twins

ROME—(AP)—A wan and weary Ingred Bergman shed tears of joy Thursday as she got her first good look at her day-old twin daughters.

Isabel, seven pounds three ounces, and her younger sister by half an hour—eight-pound, five-ounce Ingred Jr.—dozed in fitful unawareness of their international publicity.

Sharing his wife's joy after a night-long vigil at her bedside in the flower-packed hospital room was Roberto Rossellini, for whose love the blonde Swedish film star abandoned her husband and a Hollywood career.

The twin, two weeks overdue, were born Wednesday night at the fashionable Salvatore Mundi Hospital.

The 35-year-old mother was reported doing well.

Dr. Pier Luigi Guidotti, who assisted in the birth, said the film star "cried when she saw her babies and was happy because they were perfect babies and just what her husband wanted."

I REMEMBER the fellow who wanted to launch a crusade to get raspberry flavored stamps. That seemed so sensible to me that I sat down and helped him draft a letter to the postoffice.

My favorite screwball, however, was a lady we came to know as "Rambling Mary." Every week she wrote a long rambling letter, telling of her fights with the landlord and the neighbors, and the small children down the hall who teased her.

The letters, bearing no return address and signed only "Mary," came year after year, and I got so I felt I knew the lonely old lady real well. When the letters

I always loved this work myself, although it makes some reporters nervous, particularly if the visitor is carrying a small parcel that could turn out to be a home-made bomb.

My trouble with crackpots is that I usually end up on their side. If an added inventor shows up with plans for a flying submarine, he has no trouble at all convincing me submarines should have wings.
