

County DHIA Cited High Milk Production

Lane County was cited this week as the highest producing dairy county in Oregon, extension dairy agent at Oregon State College, Eugene, said.

The report, made by DHIA president Noland Huntington, Florence, shows that the two high producing herds in Lane County had an average return per cow of $318 more than the average return per cow in the two lowest producing herds.

"The use of DHIA testing enables herd owners to increase the average production of their herds. This increased return of more than $300 per cow shows the value of the production testing program," Ewalt explained.

BENTER FARMS LEAD

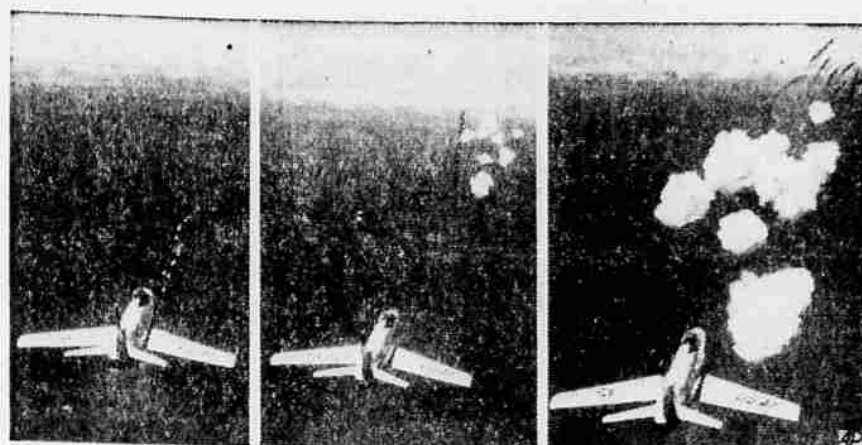

The highest milk production per herd in the Lane DHIA was turned in by Benter Farms of Creswell, with an average milk production per cow of 11,967 pounds of milk. H. J. Merz, Ada, took second place in milk production. His 69-cow herd produced 9,986 pounds of milk per cow. The Merz herd also led the association in butterfat production per cow, with an average of 660 pounds of fat.

This is the fourth time in five years the Merz herd has led the Lane County DHIA in butterfat production. The herd's five-year average production is 10,537 pounds of milk with 619 pounds of butterfat per cow—a remarkable production for such a large herd, Ewalt points out.

Divorces Hubby

Sixth Anniversary
ANGELES (AP)—Academy actress Olivia De Havilland, 36, filed for divorce from her only marriage on its sixth anniversary Tuesday, with her husband, novelist Marc Conner, 37, who has been married three times before.

De Havilland, who has been married three times before, said she was afraid her son was both psychologically and physically unstable, and this was the only way to make her marriage work, because this was her last chance.

SKYWRITING WITH ROCKETS—The Air Force's F86D all-weather interceptor plane provides a visual demonstration of rocket firepower during a test run over the Florida Air Proving Grounds' Gulf of Mexico range. The plane fires 10 of its 24 Mighty Mouse rockets, which then explode (center) in a smoke pattern due to special flash heads attached for the benefit of camera analysis from an accompanying plane. The rocket craft then catches up with the smoke bursts as the rockets (upper right) trail dark smoke pattern after explosion.

Ship Collision Leads to Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Owners of the lumber steamship Coos Bay filed a $475,000 damage suit in federal court here Wednesday against the Trans-Atlantic Steamship Co., owner of the motorship Stratus, which collided with the Coos Bay off the Southern California coast last Friday.

No one was injured but both vessels were damaged. The Coast Guard is currently conducting a hearing on the accident.

After the Irwin-Lyons Lumber Co., owner of the Coos Bay filed the suit, attorneys for Trans-Atlantic, whose home offices are in Gothenburg, Sweden—old newsmen they planned to file a $50,000 counter-suit against Irwin-Lyons.

The collision occurred at night in a fog. Visibility was zero. The crash touched off two fires. All but four of the Coos Bay's 21 crewmen took to lifeboats, returning to their ship after the danger of sinking had passed.
