Way to Stop A-Strike, Chief Says

Counter-Offensive
Invulnerable

DETROIT (AP) — Gen. Vandenberg declared today that "the means do not for stopping an American counter-offensive are such means likely to appear in the near future."

Air Force chief of staff said today that the conclusion drawn from all the available evidence is that the counter-offensive is being reinforced by the experience and continuing tests and the friendly air forces."

Address written for the Air Force Assn. Preparedness luncheon, Vandenberg said these other points:

"It is economically possible to use new-style atomic weapons against all types of targets, not merely the larger, more obvious ones."

"This fact is 'well known' by ourselves but also to enemies."

"The trend toward complex aircraft should be recognized," he added, "let us not delude ourselves into believing that cheap 'hot rod' airplanes are the economy we all desire."

"The right solution, we are convinced, lies not in masses of cheap and simple aircraft, but in the careful choice of aircraft most effective for the job that must be done."

"The increased effectiveness of atomic weapons, plus the fact that they are being produced in great numbers, 'may yet save us from a costly re-enactment of the strategy of the previous wars.'"

After P. Reuther chief of the Auto Workers told the gathering that the aircraft industry is "one of the most important managements in America," he said, cannot be defeated so long as the industry is divided between the good and the well fed, the free and the free."

Starve-Out Try Made on Killer

MIAMI, Mo. (P)—Police, convinced they have a cordon around the Merle Martin, 42, one of FBI's 10 most-wanted fugitives, adopted a starve-him-out tactic Friday.

"It can't possibly get enough to comb those woods there," Capt. Lewis Howard of Missouri Highway Patrol said. "He can come out any time he wants to get some food and water. We'll just have to wait until he gets hungry enough to break."

A driver of a car, stolen in Michigan, Ala., several days ago into a rugged section of St. Louis County, about 10 miles west of St. Louis, after troopers forced the vehicle into a ditch.

They said the man is believed to be Martin's description.

Ground dust last night two farmers, part of a large group of civilians who have joined the area, saw a man who appeared to be Martin walk through the woods.

The man spotted them and fled, firing shotguns but apparently didn't hit him.

During, who began a crime spree in 1929, got on the FBI list after the slaying of Deputy Sheriff Ed Carver near Olathe, Kan., in 1933.

THE BASIC ARCH-LIKE FRAMEWORK of a new floral building for the Lane County fairgrounds was in place this week. The new structure, which replaces the old "maltese cross" floral building, is expected to be finished well in advance of the county fair which opens Sept. 17. The new building is a part of the improvement program for the grounds embarked upon this year.

Lodge Knocks Filibuster Talk

NEW YORK (P)—Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. Friday denounced as a "pious, insincere piece of double talk" Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson's statement Thursday night against congressional filibusters.

The Massachusetts senator, who was chairman of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's presidential campaign advisory committee, said the Democrats had controlled the Senate for four years and had "done nothing about it."

Stevenson said Thursday that if elected President he would use whatever influence he might have "to get the Senate to change its rules under which filibusters have killed civil rights legislation."

The Democratic presidential nominee said "the sound of tireless voices is the price we pay for the right to hear the music of our own opinions. But there is also a moment at which democracy must prove its capacity to act. Every man has a right to be heard, but no man has the right to strangle democracy with a single set of vocal cords."

Lodge told a news conference at Eisenhower's headquarters that the Democratic presidential nominee had said Thursday night in a speech that he was proud to have Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama as a running mate and only hoped that he could keep up with him.

He said the man is believed to be Martin's description.

Ground dust last night two farmers, part of a large group of civilians who have joined the area, saw a man who appeared to be Martin walk through the woods.

The man spotted them and fled, firing shotguns but apparently didn't hit him.

480 Holiday Deaths Predicted for Nation

By UNITED PRESS

The big rush was on throughout the country Friday for Labor Day's last long summer holiday. Almost everyone in the country will be on the move.

Forty million cars—one for every four persons in the nation—were expected on the highways. The National Safety Council at Chicago predicted 480 persons will die in the heavy traffic.

In state after state, highway patrolmen went on emergency status. From New York to California, traffic officials pleaded with motorists to be careful.

Last Labor Day weekend, traffic claimed 461 lives. The weather was generally fair and mild over most of the nation, enticing millions to a last summer fling.

But, at Detroit, the trend was different. The weather was generally fair and mild over most of the nation, enticing millions to a last summer fling.

Foresters Warn Of Fire Threat

Local forestry officials warned holiday planners Friday that the fire danger in the woods is now greater than it has been all summer.

Citizens preparing to take a camping trip over the Labor Day weekend were urged to use extreme caution in building camp fires. Here are some suggestions from the East Lane Fire Patrol office:

● Don't leave a camp fire unattended.

● Don't throw away a lighted cigarette.

● Be sure a camp fire is extinguished before leaving it.

One official said the period has arrived for the appearance of dry east winds which lower the humidity and dry the land. September is the month of greatest fire danger, he said.

Probers Study Fraud Cases

WASHINGTON (P)—House investigators turned Friday from charges that Justice Department officials interfered with a tax scandal probe to the way in which the department handled war fraud cases.

A judiciary subcommittee called four government attorneys to produce files dealing with a war fraud case that began in Detroit in 1944 with an indictment and ended in 1951 without a prosecution.

The decision to take up the Detroit case came after ranking members of the subcommittee lambasted Justice Department officials for trying to "whitewash" a tax case inquiry by a St. Louis grand jury early in 1951.

Rep. Keating (R-NY) told newsmen: "This effort at a whitewash of a smelly situation by the grand jury was frustrated only by the patriotic perseverance of an upright federal judge who could not stomach such shenanigans and by a stalwart band of honest men and women who comprised the grand jury."

Stubble Fields Burn

Jake Smith, warden of the Eastern Lane Fire Patrol, had reassuring words Friday for those who have been worried about the pall of smoke hanging around the Coquille area. Smith said the smoke is caused by the extensive burning of stubble fields which always occurs in late August. Burning is necessary to rid the fields of certain plant diseases.

Adlai Receives Full Support Of Lawmaker

Negroes Will 'Back Him to the Limit'

By RELMAN MORIN

Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, Negro congressman who once said he expected Negroes to boycott the Democratic national ticket, said Friday after conferring with Gov. Adlai Stevenson that "we are now ready to back him to the limit."

Powell, New York Democrat, and a dozen other Negro leaders from Atlantic seaboard areas, visited the Democratic presidential nominee Friday.

"ENTIRELY SATISFIED" Powell said Stevenson promised to make "a strong pronouncement" on the question of segregation in Washington.

The Congressman told correspondents after the conference: "We are entirely satisfied on the civil rights issue now."

"We feel the whole question has been spelled out. There can be no argument as far as the Negro voters are concerned—or for that matter any other minorities. We are ready to back him to the limit."

He said after Stevenson's speeches here Thursday that they were thoroughly satisfied.

SPARKMAN ANGLE

Powell's earlier statement that Negroes might boycott the Democratic national ticket was made in Chicago after the Democrats picked Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama as their vice-presidential candidate.

Earlier Friday Stevenson conferred with elder statesman Bernard Baruch who is currently out of favor with the Truman administration.

Emerging from Baruch's home after a breakfast conference lasting one hour and ten minutes, the Democratic presidential candidate told newsmen:

"There was no discussion of politics at all. We talked mainly about inflation and some other economic matters. It was a good breakfast and a very interesting talk."

Asked whether he and Baruch agreed on the matters discussed, Stevenson smiled and replied: "We didn't argue."

STILL UNCOMMITTED

Baruch, a financier who became a wealthy unofficial adviser to the late President Roosevelt, has not yet stated whether he favors Stevenson or his Republican opponent, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Stevenson ends his first campaign invasion of the East Friday after throwing a series of challenges at the Republicans, particularly in the issue of civil rights.

He plans to return to his office in Springfield, Ill., Friday afternoon.

TAUNTS GENERAL

Stevenson taunted Eisenhower Thursday night to choose something besides the "middle of the gutter" road in deciding whether to support Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) for re-election.

The Democratic candidate also urged Eisenhower to shake off what he called his "middle of the gutter" counselors.

Flannel-Clad McFadden Parachutes Over Paris

PARIS (U.P.) — American physical culture enthusiast Bernarr MacFadden parachuted safely from a plane Friday but kept his red flannel underwear jumpsuit dry when he missed the Seine River target by 75 yards.

More police watched the dare-devil feat of the 84-year-old millionaire publisher than the arrival of Charles A. Lindbergh on his trans-Atlantic flight 25 years ago.

MacFadden, who intended to jump into the Seine, miraculously escaped injury when he landed in a vacant lot on the left bank of the river.

He leaped from his rented twin-engine French Air Maroc plane at 6:02 p.m. from a height estimated at less than 1,000 feet. Police had insisted he jump from no lower than 1,625 feet.

A crowd of 15,000 patiently waiting persons lined the banks of the river as MacFadden hit the silk on the plane's third pass.

After the parachute opened, a light wind carried him into the heavily built-up section of Suresnes opposite the Bois de Boulogne and near the smokestacks of sprawling factories.

MacFadden quickly got up, brushed himself off, took a few tentative steps, tottered a bit and then straightened up and awaited the police cars which raced to him from all directions with sirens screaming.

VALERIAN A. ZERLIN, who engineered the Red Czechoslovakia coup of 1948, is replacing Jacob A. Malik as Russia's chief delegate to the United Nations, officials of the organization say.

PLANE TAKES GI FROM TRANSPORT IN RACE HOME

By HENRY SUPPLE

Associated Press Staff Writer

SALEM, Mass. (P)—A grim-faced Nebraska soldier stepped from a Coast Guard mercy plane Friday in a relay race home to his tragedy-stricken family.

Tech. Sgt. Charles R. Buggy, of Winnebago, Neb., stepped off the mercy plane a little more than three hours after he was plucked from the troop transport Gen. Alexander Patch 500 miles at sea in the Atlantic ocean.

The Patch was New York bound from Bremerhaven, Germany.

The husky, moustached soldier, a veteran of World War II who enlisted, already has lost one of his two children to polio.

His other child is ill of the same disease.

His wife faces critical surgery for a spinal ailment.

"I appreciate it an awful lot," Buggy told the Coast Guard crew which flew so far to sea to pick him up.

He blinked as he added: "I hope everything is all right at home."

Buggy said he first learned of his illness at his mid-western home Thursday noon.

A first mercy plane from Westover Air Force Base, Mass., alighted on the water near the transport Thursday night, but was disabled when it collided with a lifeboat lowered from the ship.

The second mercy flight left Salem in the middle of the night, and contacted the transport at dawn.

Buggy shook hands with Lt. William G. Fenlon, pilot of the Coast Guard amphibian which brought him to Salem.

He also thanked with a handshake Commander J. D. Hudgens, acting commandant of the Salem Air Station.

Co-pilot of the Coast Guard plane was Aviation Pilot E. P. Ward of Lynn, Mass., and the navigator was Lt. Don Vaughn of Marblehead, Mass.

Armed Forces Radio Features "Oregon Day"

LOS ANGELES (P)—Friday was Oregon day around the world on a special home town program on the radio series "Way Back Home" produced by the Armed Forces Radio Service.

A familiar touch of Eugene, produced and taped recorded by radio station KERG, was scheduled for broadcast during the day by 60 overseas stations of the AFRS. Twenty-five Oregon radio stations are producing the glimpses of home for the new program series for servicemen on duty overseas.

Ike Gets Top Spot in Pravda

MOSCOW (P)—Pravda gave its top editorial position Friday to a blistering attack on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's speech this week before the American Legion convention in New York.

The organ of the Soviet Communist Party, in the first Russian comment on Eisenhower's speech, termed the Republican party nominee the "most energetic propagandist of the hate, contempt and enmity of the American aggressors and warmongers."

The editorial appeared in the two right-hand columns of the top Soviet paper, a key space used for editorial; only when they treat of major events in the field of foreign relations.

AMERICAN EMPIRE

Pravda told its Russian readers that Eisenhower announced his intention of "including in the American empire" Soviet Latvia, Lithuania, and Estonia, as well as Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Rumania, Hungary, Albania, Eastern Germany, Eastern Austria, China, the Mongolian Peoples Republic and the Korean Peoples Republic.

"Fascists of Hitlerite persuasion ought to open their mouths in amazement," Pravda asserted.

"Their appetites were enormous enough, but even they did not decide to include among their 'flesh and blood' the Mongolian, Chinese and Korean peoples."

COMMUNIST TIDAL WAVE

Eisenhower in his speech on Monday said the United States should tell the Kremlin: "Never shall we rest content until the tidal wave of aggressive Communism has receded within its own borders."

Enumerating the Soviet satellites in Europe and their populations, Eisenhower added that "the conscience of America can never know ease until those peoples of our own blood and our own way are restored to the society of free men."

Referring to Communists conquests in Asia, the general said: "Most of these peoples of the Far East have been friends of America. . . . The conscience of America shall suffer self-reproach until those peoples have the opportunity to choose their own path."

The former Oregon national committeeman dismissed criticism that the campaign has not got off to a good start by saying, "Many people are impatient, but the campaign hasn't really begun yet—and we're going to see that he hits his peak just before election day and not on Oct. 15."

Cake this week moved into offices here after spending the weeks since the convention at Denver.

Fraction of Tax Paid by Guzik

WASHINGTON (P)—The government, peeling the "secrecy" label from compromise tax settlement cases, says it accepted $100,000 from Jack "Greasy Thumb" Guzik as full payment for $900,000 it had claimed he owed in taxes and penalties.

The 11-cents-on-the-dollar settlement by Guzik, once connected with Al Capone's organization in Chicago, was one of several disclosed Thursday by the Bureau of Internal Revenue as it put into effect a new "open book" policy.

Under the new policy, all cases settled on or after Aug. 20 with taxpayers for less than the amount of taxes assessed will be made public. Those before that date will be disclosed upon specific requests naming the taxpayers involved.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue said Guzik was granted a compromise for three reasons: Doubt as to whether he owed the full amount; inability of investigators to determine what he was worth; and "reduced earning power."

Police Ready to Give Money to Youngsters

PORTLAND (P)—Police said Friday they were ready to turn $1,140 over to two youngsters who found the money in a dump early this month.

Marion Rushing, deputy city attorney, said the boys — Don Schmunk, 15, and Wesley W. Featherston, 12—must hold onto the money for a year. If no claimant turns up, the youngsters then can keep half the find, the other half going to the county, Rushing said.

Nixon to Make Rear-Platform Talk in Eugene

Ike, Stevenson Plan Portland Speeches

Sen. Richard Nixon, Republican nominee for vice-president, will be the first—and possibly only—major candidate to stump up-state Oregon before the 1952 presidential elections Nov. 4.

According to schedules released Friday, Nixon will make a south-to-north tour of Western Oregon in mid-September. While Nixon's running mate, Dwight D. Eisenhower, is scheduled for at least one stop in Oregon there has been no indication he will campaign outside Portland.

REAR-PLATFORM TALK

Nixon will make a rear-platform talk in Eugene on Sept. 20, press associations reported Friday. His schedule calls for brief stops in Ashland and Medford, Sept. 19, and in Roseburg, Eugene, Albany, Salem, and Portland on Sept. 20. He is billed for a major address in Portland Sept. 21 and will follow that with a tour of Washington.

The first of the presidential candidates to appear in Oregon will be Illinois Gov. Adlai Stevenson. The heir to Democratic Party leadership will speak at a picnic of Multnomah County Democrats at Holladay Park in Portland, Monday, Sept. 8.

Later in the day, Stevenson will give an address at the Benson Tech Auditorium.

IKE IN MID-OCTOBER

Dwight D. Eisenhower will engineer his presidential campaign train into Oregon only once, probably toward the latter part of October, according to Ralph Cake, former Republican National Committee chairman.

Cake told A. Robert Smith, the Register-Guard's correspondent in Washington, "Eisenhower's western tour hasn't been worked out yet in detail but we are thinking in terms of late in the campaign, at least after mid-October."

Cake has been a member of the GOP candidate's personal advisory staff.

Cake added that in arranging Eisenhower's travel itinerary they have sought to avoid appearing in the same region simultaneously with Vice-President Nominee Richard Nixon, who will appear in Oregon in September.

When asked whether the general would hit Oregon more than once, Cake replied: "No, the only sections we'll cover more than once will be the more populous areas, such as Illinois."

WON'T ACCOMPANY IKE

Cake said he would not travel with Eisenhower on all his forays this fall, that he considered the main part of his job completed. He explained that he has helped map the general outlines of the campaign Eisenhower will wage, where to speak, what to say and who to see when he gets there, which memorials to dedicate. Cake said he has helped screen suggestions that have poured in from throughout the nation.

The former Oregon national committeeman dismissed criticism that the campaign has not got off to a good start by saying, "Many people are impatient, but the campaign hasn't really begun yet—and we're going to see that he hits his peak just before election day and not on Oct. 15."

Cake this week moved into offices here after spending the weeks since the convention at Denver.

Adlai Backed By Rayburn

DALLAS, Tex. (P)—Speaker Sam Rayburn and U.S. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson rallied around the Democratic banner of Adlai Stevenson today. Others of their fellow Texans did, too.

But the cry to put Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower's name on the Texas Democratic ticket continued.

Johnson and Rayburn announced Thursday their advocacy of Stevenson's Democratic presidential bid in the face of opposing stands by Gov. Allan Shivers and Atty. Gen. Price Daniel, Democratic nominee for U. S. senator to succeed Tom Connally.

Both Shivers and Daniel have expressed personal opposition to Stevenson's candidacy because the Illinois governor said he agreed with President Truman in advocating federal ownership of the supposedly oil-rich off-shore tide-lands.
