Soviets Order Crimea Shift
MOSCOW (U)—The Supreme Soviet announced Saturday that the Crimea has been transferred from the Russian S. S. R., largest of the 16 Soviet republics, to the Ukraine.
The announcement, carried on the front pages of the Moscow press, said the transfer was made because of the "territorial proximity and close economic and cultural ties between the Crimean region and the Ukrainian and Great Russian peoples."
The Crimea is a 10,000 square mile peninsula jutting into the Black Sea below the Ukraine. Prior to World War II it was an autonomous Soviet Republic. Many of its Crimean Tartar inhabitants were accused of collaborating with the wartime German occupiers. After the war the area lost its autonomous standing, and many Ukrainians settled there. The Big Three Yalta conference was held in the Crimea in 1945.
After the Russians reoccupied the Crimea they exiled large numbers of the Crimean Tatars to Central Asia.

Jet Testing Facilities To Be Built at Boeing
SEATTLE (U)—Flight test facilities costing about $1,200,000 soon will be built at Boeing Field here for Boeing's new jet B52 Stratofortress program, the Air Force announced Friday.
Col. G. J. Eppright, Air Force representative at Boeing, said the Air Force will pay for the facilities, with Boeing acting as contractor.
Earlier, the Air Force announced a 10 million dollar construction program for B52 flight test facilities at Larson Air Force Base, Moses Lake, Wash.
