BPA Employees to Move To New Portland Building

PORTLAND (U)—The Bonneville Power Administration will move to the new 4 1/2 million dollar Lloyd Building here. R. L. Smith, Portland representative of the General Services Administration which had the building constructed and leased it for Department of the Interior offices, said GSA headquarters in Washington, D. C., had approved the move.

Rep. Phillips (R-Calif.) criticized the proposed move, saying that the government was paying too much rent and had raised the question of not allowing the change.

Brown said an effort will be made to lease the ground floor of the building to commercial firms while the government offices will occupy the remaining seven floors.

REUNION

LEXINGTON, Ky. (U)—Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Snider of near-by Danville met unexpectedly Monday.

County patrolmen stopped W. C. Snider for running two stop signs.

En route to Magistrate's Court, they saw another car, driven by a woman, commit a similar act.

Officers stopped the car and found that it was driven by Snider's wife. Each was fined $10.

Population Up In The Dalles

THE DALLES (U)—Population of The Dalles has increased 24 per cent since the 1930 census. It now is 9,852 persons under a preliminary count given to city officials this week by Guy E. Rainboth, U.S. Census Bureau supervisor.

The city stands to gain $12,000 to $16,000 annual from the state in higher per capita highway and liquor allocations as a result of the new census. The census cost the city about $1,600.

Growth has been boomed by construction of The Dalles Dam on the outskirts of the city.

The census was authorized after Oregon Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Thornton issued an opinion that the secretary of state would have to accept a new U. S. census count in allocating receipts.

Takes Publicity Post

PORTLAND (U)—Tom Scanlan, assistant editor of the Union Register, a labor publication of the AFL-Lumber and Sawmill Workers, was named Tuesday as public relations director of the Oregon State Federation of Labor. Scanlan succeeds Kelley Lee who retired.
