ound the State Neuberger Proposes Limit To Campaign Expenditures

PORTLAND (AP)—Richard L. Neuberger, Democratic senatorial candidate, has proposed that he and his Republican opponent, Sen. Cordon, limit their campaign expenditures to $50,000 each. Neuberger made public the text of a letter he said he wrote to Sen. Cordon, suggesting the limit on expenses for the November campaign. He said he had received no reply from Cordon.

Sen. Cordon's failure to reply . . . speaks for itself," Neuberger said.

Portland Democrat, in his letter to Cordon, cited a resolution passed by the Oregon Council of Churches that "excessive use of money for campaigns is a public office constitutional violation to the high ethics which we expect of our representatives."

Neuberger proposed that "the committees organized to conduct our campaign should spend no more than $25,000 on each of our campaign committees."

Neuberger said he doubted if his supporters could raise this much. He pointed out that the last time he ran for the Senate, he spent $100,000 while the Democratic Committee spent $25,000.

Neuberger could not be reached for comment but his campaign director, Shovalter, said he had no knowledge of the letter.
