and fire district customers outside the annex area the same rates and services they now have and still avoid double taxes within the annex. The councilmen and directors were not specific on the proposals as attorneys on both sides had not decided which solution would be best. But, Calkins and City Attorney John Pennington noted that in case the water board and the Bethel districts cannot agree, it will be arbitrated by the county court, and that, if this fails to bring agreement, there will be recourse to the circuit court, under the law.

should not in any way be interpreted as constituting a political or territorial boundary." Confidence was expressed in the declaration that a political settlement would be achieved in Viet Nam in the near future. The date of the general all-Viet Name elections was disclosed for the first time—July 1956.

The elections will be conducted under the supervision of an international commission composed of representatives of India, Canada and Poland. The same states will police the armistice in Indochina.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden said the agreements sealed here Wednesday were "the best that our hands could devise."

STOPPED WAR
"All will now depend upon the spirit in which those agreements are observed and carried out," he said. "The agreements concluded today could not, in the nature of things, give complete satisfaction to everyone. But they have made it possible to stop a war which has lasted for eight years and brought suffering and hardships to millions of people."

Gen. Georges Delteil of France and Gen. Ta Quang Bui of the Vietnam rebels signed armistice agreements covering Viet Nam and Laos just 3 hours and 50 minutes after the Tuesday midnight deadline French Premier Pierre Mendes-France had set for peace or his resignation.

A truce for the third Indochina state, Cambodia was scheduled to be signed later Wednesday.

The simple signing ceremony, under a blaze of photographers' lights in the former home of the League of Nations, called a halt to an eight-year war in which 92,000 soldiers of the French Union expeditionary corps died or disappeared.

It also laid a Korea-like partition across the 42-mile waist of Viet Nam, Indochina's largest, richest and most populous state, about at the 17th Parallel of latitude.

Communist leader Ho Chi Minh will take over the destinies of the residents north of the line. The 10 million Vietnamese below the partition will live under the pro-Western regime of chief of state Bao Dai.

All-Vietnamese elections, not earlier than one year from Wednesday and not later than two years, are supposed to reunite the divided country. But Western officials here generally conceded the "temporary" partition line probably will become a political and ideological frontier like those which split Germany and Korea.

Officials said the texts of the agreements would not be published for several days, but their contents already were generally known.

FRENCH TO MOVE
The French have the next 300 days to move out of the big northern cities of Hanoi and Haiphong. Until that day next May they will hold an enclave in the Red River Delta around those two major centers.

Cambodia and Laos will remain under their French-supported royal governments. Vietnam troops which have invaded their territory—an estimated 10,000 in Laos, fewer in Cambodia—will withdraw in 60 days.

For military security reasons the date for the end of hostilities was not announced. One Vietnamese official said, however, that cease-fire orders would become effective in a week for the regular forces on both sides. Guerrilla fighters in the jungles and mountains would be given a longer period, he added.

The partition line across Viet Nam runs along the Song Ben Hair River. It leaves Highway No. 9, a principal road leading from the coast across the country to Laos, in the hands of southern Viet Nam.
