

Lawmakers Cool to Rhee Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Syngman Rhee, South Korean president, heard the end of his White House talks Thursday after winning personal acclaim but a cool reception for his plea to Congress against Red China now.

The White House did not make known Eisenhower's views Wednesday on the South Korean fighting talk before a joint session of Congress, although the speech conflicted with Eisenhower's previously stated view against the concept of a preventive war.

Addressing senators and congressmen in a soft, emotion-packed voice, the 79-year-old Asian patriot urged that American warships blockade China, that U.S. Air Force bombers hit its productive centers and that an Asian anti-Communist army of two million South Koreans and Chinese Nationalists—equipped by the United States—strike out and destroy the Red regime. He also declared that the one-year-old Korean armistice should be scrapped.

"Unless we win China back," he declared "an ultimate victory for the free world is unthinkable."

Coon (R-Ore.) declared: "It's great to find a man who loves his country as does Syngman Rhee. As to the wisdom of his policy, it may be good but too aggressive for us at this time."

Tollefson (R-Wash.) declared the Korean president as "the most courageous man in the world today," but said Rhee is "willing to go to the point where certain the time has come for that kind of action."

Don Magnuson (D-Wash.) Rhee's suggestion "is a course in the Congress and the American people, in my opinion, did not sanction short of some provocation. I do not think we are a nation which would start a preventive war."

Ellsworth (R-Ore.) declared Rhee's plea as "a sincere, courageous speech by a patriot of his own country."

Pelly (R-Wash.) said he would be opposed to Rhee's proposal "unless and until our military and diplomatic leaders, particularly the president, gave us assurance it would not involve involvement and would assure victory, both of which I
