

Plan to Improve Eugene Parks Starts This Week

Improvements this week will start the biggest parks improvement program in Eugene in years, according to city department officials.

Work will be grading and leveling work at the Park location, between the Park and Roosevelt Junior School on 24th, and High School on 24th, and High School on 24th, and High School on 24th.

The Eugene city council has been approved by the Eugene city council. The firm bid $15,000. The firm bid $15,000. The firm bid $15,000.

City Council Session

The Eugene City Council will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. in a session continued twice from the previous meeting a week ago.

The council is presently waiting for a decision on boundaries for the city of Bethel. The city council has some important business to transact.

The county board of commissioners meets part of industrial development for the new city, it will leave the section open to the city of Eugene.

The continued sessions presumably have been called to consider the boundaries of these boundaries. The council has a chance to take action if it desires.

At the council on Monday, however, will include the new sewage treatment plant, a report from Leigh Fisher, airport consultant in Indiana, and a report of a building at Mahlon Sweet.

Sack Lunches For Solons A Possibility?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Carl E. Hoffman said Saturday it's becoming so hard to get a meal in the crowded base restaurant that Congressmen may have to start bringing their lunches in paper bags and thermos jugs.

The 78-year-old Michigan Republican said he is sick and tired of pushing and shoving. Besides, it is bad for a congressman's health.

In a speech inserted in the Congressional Record, Hoffman said he has been trying for some time to expose the "ridiculousness, the absurdity, the vicious effects of this situation."

He said the answer is bigger and better dining rooms.

"Not a swank eating place such as those our tax dollars have provided in foreign lands," he explained, "but just an ordinary cafeteria or dining room, operated in such a manner that it will pay a profit, instead of taking a loss upon the taxpayers."

House members have one dining room where they can take guests and another for "members only." There also are two canteens—one in the Capitol and one in a House office building.

The House Friday approved a resolution directing the House clerk to investigate Congressional eating conditions.

Eleven Die As Car Burns

WHITESBURG, Ky. (AP)—Eleven persons, seven of them children, burned to death Saturday when the car in which they were riding crashed into a cliff near the top of Pine Mountain.

The only survivor was the driver, Hexie Maxie, who was in critical condition in a hospital with burns over most of his body.

Maxie, shaken and almost incoherent after the tragedy, told police and firemen that his brakes failed on the steep mountain road between here and Harlan just after he crossed the peak.

He said the car plunged into a rock cliff by the side of the road and immediately burst into flames.

Maxie managed to free himself but was critically burned in attempting to rescue those trapped inside the 1941 model Buick.

'Outdoors' Is Book Theme

Outdoor living will be the theme at the Eugene Public Library during August—not because of any great structural changes at the old headquarters on the corner of 11th and Willamette St., however.

Instead, the library is featuring a complete display of all kinds of reading material concerned with the outdoor life. The books and magazines will be out in the open throughout the month, according to Librarian Clara Nash-olm.

Parents, children and group leaders are urged to make use of the books on out-of-door safety. "Books that will teach children how to become wise and appreciative woodsmen, how to recognize poisonous plants and snakes, how to behave on and in the water and what to do if they get lost in the woods, all are available at the library," Miss Nash-olm said.

"If you plan to camp for a weekend or a longer period, to take nature walks, to entertain in your backyard or to act as a camp counselor, the library can provide you with the books that can tell you how to do it easily, inexpensively, and efficiently," she added.

Books can be borrowed from the Eugene library without charge. The building is open to the public from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. through Saturday.

Troops Honor Audie Murphy

FORT LEWIS (AP)—More than 18,000 troops of the 44th Infantry Division honored Audie Murphy, most decorated soldier of World War II, with a division mounted review Saturday morning at Gray Field.

Murphy, in the Northwest to make a moving picture based on his own life, was feted with the ceremonies usually reserved for governors or retiring post and division commanders.

The hero turned actor wore the uniform of a captain in the Texas National Guard and some of his 24 decorations, which include the Congressional Medal of Honor. Murphy is a reserve officer.

The freckle-faced Texan, impressed with the full-scale review in his honor, quipped: "This is great! I think I'm going to enlist."
