Soviets, Yankees Pop Wine Corks

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Defense Minister Nikolai Bulganin clinked cocktail glasses with U. S. Charge D'Affaires Walter Walmsley Jr. at a reception Tuesday night and said, "Down with war."

Throughout the reception at the Indonesian Embassy, celebrating Indonesia's ninth anniversary as an independent nation, the gray-haired Bulganin made toasts to peace.

A waiter removed the cork from a champagne bottle. The cork burst like a shell from the bottle, flew across the room and struck Bulganin and Indonesia Ambassador Subandrio on their foreheads.

"Let's use these instead of cannon," Bulganin quipped.

At one point during the evening Bulganin ushered Walmsley, highest American diplomat in Moscow during Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen's vacation, and the French and British charges d'affaires into a separate room to drink toasts "to the big powers."

Communist Chinese Ambassador Chang Wen-Tien already was in the room when the four others walked in.

The party came less than a week after the festivities that marked the visit here of the British Labor party delegation on its way to Communist China.

It was another in a growing list of major diplomatic social events becoming more frequent in Moscow with representatives of the non-Communist nations.

Chiang Opponent Speaks in Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Non-Nationalist Chinese forces "are already operating behind the Bamboo Curtain" against the Communists, according to Gen. Li Tsung-jen, former president of China and outspoken foe of Chiang Kai-shek, who spoke here Tuesday under police guard.

Five detectives guarded the short 64-year-old general after a handbill was circulated in Chinatown calling Li a "traitor to the nation" and urging Chinese to "kill this traitor."

CHARGE MADE

The circular, printed in Chinese, charged Li came here "to organize the rebel party to create disorder among the overseas Chinese and endanger the nation." It was signed by "The All-Overseas Chinese Kill-Traitor Corps of San Francisco."

Speaking at a Chinese gathering at the Li Family association headquarters, Gen. Li said the Chinese people want neither the "Communist tyrants" nor the "corrupt" rule of Chiang Kai-shek.

Li told members of the press that the free Chinese forces on the mainland "need help in the form of encouragement and material assistance."

COMMIE PLAN

Gen. Li called on the United States to continue opposing Red China's admission into the United Nations and said that the threat to invade Formosa was a Communist plan to force their admission into the U.N.

Invasion of Chiang's island stronghold would not bring on World War III, Li said, but if the Communists took the island, it would be a blow to U.S. prestige in the Far East.

Officials of the Li Family association said that the general was their guest as a member of the tong but that they wished to remain neutral as far as the former president's political views were concerned.
