Girl Scout Leaders To Get Training

New ideas for Fall troop meeting will be presented to all Girl Scout and Brownie leaders of Three Rivers Girl Scout Council area Wednesday and Thursday, at the Springfield Scout House. Meetings are planned to give leaders an opportunity to renew friendships and to get inspiration for their first fall troop meetings.

Mrs. R. M. Carpenter, chairman of the Training Committee for the Red Feather Community Chest agency, is general chairman of the two days. Other members of the committee who have been active in the planning are Mrs. Warren Korstad, hostess, and Mrs. George Mast, volunteer trainer chairman. Mrs. Ralph Follett, volunteer trainer, has served as chairman of recruiting discussion leaders. Mrs. Vernon Kerley also will assist.

Miss Marilyn Marr, field director of the local council, will be chairman of the Brownie Round-Up, which will be Wednesday. Assisting that day, in addition to members of the committee, will be Mrs. Wm. Dolph Jones and Mrs. Curtis White.

Miss Joyce Hainsworth of the professional staff will be the chairman of the day Thursday for Intermediate leaders. Discussion leaders that day will be Mrs. Dan Sellard and Mrs. Charles J. Moller. "Fall Projects from Summer Camping"; Mrs. Irving Henning, "Service Projects"; Mrs. Frank Mersdorf, "How to Help Girls Select Badges"; Mrs. J. A. Wheeler, "When is a Badge Completed"; and Mrs. James Blackford, Mrs. William Roecker will lead the group in folk dancing.

Registration for both days will be taken in the Girl Scout office, and those who plan to attend are requested to phone the office so the committee will know how many will be present.

Invalid Honored On Birthday

Mrs. Anna Coleman was honored on her 79th birthday Sunday with an open house given by her daughter, Miss Meta Mae Coleman, at their home, 135 Hansen Lane. Guests were members of Mrs. Coleman's adult Sunday School class at First Evangelical United Brethren Church, neighbors and friends. Mrs. Coleman, who has been in bed for one and one-half years due to a hip fracture, sat up in bed and presented the guest book to the 50 guests who called between 2 and 4 p.m.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Coleman's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ed (Ruth) Wilson, of Red Bluff, Calif. Mrs. Wilson cut the birthday cake; Mrs. M. B. Eaton, a neighbor, poured coffee, and another neighbor, Mrs. George Moxley, who was 81 years old Saturday, poured tea. The refreshment table was centered by an arrangement of floating tuberous begonias flanked by green candles.

Mrs. Coleman received many gifts and cards.
