Chamber

portant, but that the thinking man is the important life."

This attitude, enhancing the value of the individual man, led America to invest in the development of the minds of men, and to give careful attention to this effort.

A university, Dr. Wilson said, functions in accordance with that special aspect of the American way of life. And, he concluded, it isn't difficult to believe that no American business of today could succeed without the influence of universities which train the minds of men and women who take part, directly or indirectly, in business affairs.

Following his election as Chamber president, Gragg took a note from Rodway's final message from that office to the membership. Rodway had just mentioned that the Chamber continues to face more problems than it was able to solve during his tenure. Gragg observed that a growing community will continue to encounter many problems but that he fully expects the Chamber to "work together" in efforts to resolve them.

PRESSING PROBLEMS

Rodway singled out for special mention problems of parking and transportation. "You don't decide these by putting them off," he noted. Noting there now are five cars for every four that were here in 1950, Rodway emphasized that these problems can only become aggravated with passage of time. He also mentioned the developing inadequacy of Eugene's Mahlon Sweet Airport. Fifteen years ago, this was one of the Northwest's largest air fields, he said, but now it is apparent that it is not the final answer to Eugene's air transportation problem.

WEB PRAISED

Attention to the progress of the Eugene Water & Electric Board also was called for by Rodway in his curtain talk. He lauded the municipal utilities operation and suggested vigilance against efforts to obstruct its further development.

Included in a number of business reports presented at the meeting was outgoing Treasurer Fred Brunner's financial recap on Chamber operations through the past year. The Chamber now has a $10,000 reserve fund in U. S. saving bonds, Brunner said, and its income for 1954 compares favorably with that of the previous year. Brunner gave special credit to the Chamber's membership committee which signed 246 new member firms during the year.

Jail Checked

This is one of the outstanding jails in this territory."

Elder's request for a "fact-finding" investigation of the city jail came Monday morning — at the same time that Chief Brown was holding a command meeting which resulted in the firing of three jailers for the Friday night escape of two county prisoners who still are at large.

Released were three probationary patrolmen who had been assigned to the jail.

They are William Clements, Leroy Prink and Ed Phillips.

The department's command officers found that the men had been negligent in not double-locking the doors and making periodic "head-checks" as required by jail rules. City Manager Finlayson approved the dismissals.

The escapees—Richard Henry Jarvis and Eugene Godfrey McIntyre—went through three doors using a spoon to move the latches sometime Friday night. Their disappearance was not discovered until Saturday afternoon.

Three new men were hired Tuesday morning. They are Donald McKay, 26, W. C. Hutcheson Jr., 24, and Richard Plane, 25.

The city cares for county prisoners under a contract agreement. Elder said that because of this he feels a responsibility for plugging the "leaks" at the facility.

The county commissioners Tuesday were seeking to get all concerned parties together to consider Elder's suggestion.
