

Union Action Held Illegal By Examiner

Firing of 5 Office Workers 'Unfair'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Teamsters Union at Portland had no right to fire its office workers because they had joined another union, a National Labor Relations Board trial examiner said here Wednesday.

The examiner, Martin S. Bennett, said the Teamsters should reinstate those fired, give them any pay lost, and stop trying to prevent the workers from joining the Office Employees International Union.

Both unions are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

5 EMPLOYEES FIRED

Five employees were fired last summer and the examiner found that the firings were an unfair labor practice stemming from the Teamsters' effort to force clerical workers in the Teamsters' Building to join a catch-all local, No. 223, Grocery, Meat, Motorecycle and Miscellaneous Drivers.

Directed in the examiner's finding to stop discouraging membership in the Office Employees Union by discrimination or firing and to reinstate the five workers with any pay lost, were the Teamsters Security Administration Fund, Warehousemen's Local No. 209, and Teamsters' Building Assn., Inc.

Told to stop the discrimination were Local No. 233 and the international union itself.

HELD RESPONSIBLE

Bennett held that No. 233 was directly under the international, with no constitution or bylaws of its own, hence the international union was responsible for the local's actions.

The examiner said, too, that John J. Sweeney, director of the Western Conference of Teamsters and in direct charge of Local 233, should "cease and desist from inducing prospective witnesses at a National Labor Relations Board proceeding to change their testimony and to absent themselves from such proceedings." He said Sweeney not only tried to get a witness to change testimony, but to go a long trip so she wouldn't be available to testify at the NLRB hearing.

The Teamsters Union has 20 days in which to appeal to the full NLRB.

Road Taxes Paid 'Less Grudgingly'

By HERB ALTSCHULL
Of The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Robert F. Kennon of Louisiana told a highway conference Thursday that taxpayers will shell out money for road construction "less grudgingly" than for any other purpose.

The taxpayer is convinced he is really getting "something for his money" when roads are built, Kennon said in a prepared address for a national conference on highway financing sponsored by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, head of the advisory committee which recommended to President Eisenhower a 101-billion-dollar federal state highway program this week, was another scheduled speaker.

10-YEAR PROGRAM

The Clay committee called for a new 27-billion-dollar program that would develop a 40,000-mile network of interstate highways over the next 10 years. All but two billions would be provided by the federal government through a bond-issuing federal highway corporation.

Ike in Favor Of Accrued GI Schooling

Legislation Pending To Extend Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said Thursday that President Eisenhower is "very much in favor" of pending legislation to let servicemen continue to build up GI education rights if they are in service by the end of this month.

On Jan. 1 the President signed an executive order which terminated all such rights as of the end of this month. Under that order, men already in the service by that date are entitled to schooling rights accrued before that time, but are not permitted to build up additional rights.

James C. Hagerly, White House press secretary, was asked whether the President would support bills already introduced in Congress to permit servicemen to continue to build up school rights if they are in service before Feb. 1.

"We would be very much in favor of it," Hagerly said.

"The President believes it would be unfair to take schooling accrued rights away from men already in service."

Hagerly added that the President had no alternative but to terminate such accrued rights in his executive order. He said continuation of the rights would require legislation.

A bill to continue schooling rights for men already in service by the end of January appears ticketed as one of the first items to be passed by the new Congress.

The House Veterans Affairs Committee arranged public hearings starting Monday on the proposal advanced by Chairman Teague (D-Tex.).

Sen. Hill (D-Ala.), the new chairman of the Senate Labor Committee which handles such legislation, has announced he will sponsor the measure in the Senate.

CAA Continues Probe Of Ky. Plane Collision

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Twisted, shattered wreckage and airport records were all that remained Thursday to possibly explain how 15 persons died Wednesday in an airplane collision only a couple of miles from the busy Greater Cincinnati Airport. The airport is in Boone County, Ky.

A TWA airliner, a Martin Skyliner, bound from Cincinnati to Dayton and Cleveland, Ohio, collided with a privately owned DC-3. Thirteen persons, including three crew members, were killed on the airliner. Two others died as the DC-3 plunged to earth.

NO SURVIVORS

The planes crashed on snow-covered hillsides along the Ohio River, about a half-mile apart. There were no survivors. Almost 12 hours after the accident,
