

Bus Fractures School Boy's Arm

MAPLETON — Carroll Sederlin, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sederlin of Swisshome, received a broken left arm Thursday afternoon at Mapleton Grade School.

The boy was standing behind a school bus when Driver Fred Dietz released the brake. The bus rolled back, according to school authorities, and pinned the boy's arm to the wall of the school. He was treated at the local clinic.

In World War II, 4,800,000 young men were reviewed by draft boards.

ACCIDENTS

Many diseases can be traced to falls, auto accidents and severe blows resulting in misalignments of the spine. Misalignments of the spine produce pressure upon nerve fibers, thus interfering with the normal nerve supply of the various organs and tissues within the body.

If you have had a serious accident, have your spine X-rayed and adjusted by your family Chiropractor to prevent serious complications.

Photos of Teachers Explained by Official

KLAMATH FALLS (AP)—Carroll Howe, Klamath County school superintendent, said here Saturday that his views on why school men want photographs of teacher applicants has been distorted in a meeting of the Urban League at Portland.

At the league meeting Thursday, David Robinson, a chairman of the Fair Employment Practices Advisory Committee, quoted Howe as having said Indians are prejudiced against Negro teachers. He said Howe had pressed for a change in the law which now forbids requiring photographs from job applicants.

Howe said that is not what happened. He quoted a letter he had written earlier to Norman Nilsen, state labor commissioner

Woman Locates Disston Resident

A San Francisco woman who reads the Register-Guard has solved the disappearance of a Disston man.

Eleanor Brewer, who works for the Veterans Administration in San Francisco, Friday called state police in Eugene to say that she read about the disappearance of Chester Graika, 37, from his Disston home and the subsequent search for him.

She explained that a month ago Graika, suffering from a mental illness, was admitted to DeWitt State Hospital in Sacramento.

Graika was last seen locally last November and state police learned only that he left the neighborhood in a car with California plates.

Police Still Seek Killer

SALEM (AP)—Clues are still scarce in the 5-week-old Erwin Kaser murder case.

Marion County Sheriff Denver Young said Saturday that 3 of 4 rifles picked up for laboratory tests have been cleared of any connection with the crime and have been returned to their owners.

Kaser, a Silverton hop grower, was shot to death as he drove his car into the driveway of his farm home the night of Feb. 7.

Casper Overross, a one-time neighbor of Kaser, was arrested and charged with the murder, but was released by a Marion County grand jury.

Officers said 1 of 2 bullets fired by the slayer would serve for comparison purposes, but they declined to say whether the fourth rifle had been linked with the killing.

Charles Gray Services Held

Funeral services were held in Eugene Saturday morning for Charles E. Gray, of 1159 1/2 Mill St., a long-time businessman of Eugene.

He died Wednesday, at the age of 65.

Mr. Gray operated the Office Machinery & Supply Co. in Eugene from about 1920 until the late 1940's when he sold the business. His location for many years was in the old Register-Guard Bldg., now the Baker Bldg.

Survivors include his widow, May, whom he married June 6, 1911, at Dickinson, N. D., 2 brothers and a sister.

Dr. Vance H. Webster officiated at the funeral services, at Poole Larsen Chapel. Concluding services were held at the Rest-Haven Memorial Park.
