Salk Vaccine Success Spurs Other Nations

LONDON (AP)—Spurred by American success with the Salk vaccine, governments from Africa's southern tip to Canada's Arctic reaches made plans Wednesday to shift their anti-polio campaigns into high gear.

In Rome even the extreme left-wing press outdid itself with praise of the American accomplishment. "The magnificent conquest," the pro-Communist Il Paese headlined.

FREE CHARGE

Canada's 10 provinces planned with federal government help to inoculate possibly a million children, most of them free of charge.

But some West European experts warned that the vaccine that worked in the United States might not also be effective across the Atlantic. Scientists in Britain, France and Sweden said they were pushing ahead on development of vaccines of their own.

A spokesman for the British Medical Research Council explained: "Viruses of the disease differ in various parts of the

AFRICAN ISSUE

Dr. James Gear, director of South Africa's Polio research foundation, said a locally developed vaccine similar to Dr. Jonas E. Salk's would be issued there soon. The issue had been delayed until the report from the United States, he added, but "research groups and health authorities in many parts of the world now will be able to determine their policy regarding inoculation."

Danish health authorities planned to begin free vaccination before May 1 of all children between the ages of 7 and 12 whose parents give permission. The Danish government has set aside almost $300,000 for the project, which will use a vaccine developed by scientists who studied the Salk method in the United States.

Salk Suggests Next Target

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Dr. Jonas E. Salk, who developed the Salk anti-polio vaccine, said Tuesday night science should now turn its efforts against mental disease as the next major target of preventative medicine. Dr. Salk made the recommendation in an interview with Edward R. Murrow on the CBS television program "See It Now." Murrow conducted the interview from New York. Dr. Salk was in Ann Arbor where the announcement was made Tuesday of his successful accomplishment in developing the polio vaccine. "The area of mental disease is one of the largest by far and is particularly desperately in need of quantitative measures that tell us precisely what we are dealing with," Dr. Salk said.

William Faulkner To Speak Tonight

William Faulkner, Nobel Prize winner for literature, will speak to a public gathering at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the student union building on the University of Oregon campus. He is scheduled to arrive in town shortly before the talk. Thursday he will spend visiting various student and faculty groups, and Friday he will relax at the coast.

Man's Death Said Suicide

The Lane County coroner's office Wednesday listed as a suicide the death of George Walter Angst, 37, whose body was found Tuesday afternoon in his home at 933 W. 7th Ave.

Eugene police said a bullet from a .38 pistol as the cause of death. They said he apparently shot himself about noon Tuesday. The body was discovered about 1 p.m. by the dead man's son, Roland A. Angst.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Ann Angst; children, 11 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Uranium Finds

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—The Australian government Wednesday announced 2 uranium discoveries in New South Wales. Supply Minister Howard Beale said they were in regions far removed from previously known uranium sites.

Technical Aid Faces Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP)—The staff of a Senate foreign relations subcommittee said Wednesday serious problems will beset the technical aid program until the government develops a "consistent concept of . . . its role in foreign policy."

"Reported change in administration and organization is not an unusual characteristic of a new governmental undertaking," the subcommittee headed by Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) was told in a staff report. "In this respect, the technical assistance program is no exception."

"It has been scattered among various executive agencies with minimum coordination. It has been centralized in the Department of State. It has been fused with other forms of aid in the Foreign Operations Administration (FOA). Now, it is apparently headed back to the Department of State."

First Hearing Rescheduled

A district court preliminary hearing for Ira Lee Huddleston, 30, Grants Pass, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon, was postponed Wednesday because the complainant wasn't available to give testimony.

Huddleston is accused of assaulting Vernon R. Gordon with a pocket knife Sunday evening.

Since Gordon wasn't available to testify Wednesday, Judge Chester N. Anderson re-scheduled the hearing for April 21 at 9:30 a.m.

According to a Lane County Sheriff's report, Huddleston drove Gordon out near Coburg Sunday evening, suddenly pulled a knife and threatened him.

Gordon told Sheriff's deputies that Huddleston robbed him of about $780 and drove off, leaving him by the highway.

Gordon gave his address as 667 Willamette St. Eugene. The Lane County District Attorney's Office said he was in Portland Wednesday.
