ing programs for music teachers of the county and for the visiting teachers. Complete program schedules may be obtained at the high school where most events are to take place. Other Eugene schools and university facilities will play a big part, also.

A large number of music education exhibits will be on display in the high school's main corridor starting at 3 p.m. Wednesday. This exhibit is free. Exhibits are under direction of the Music Industry Council, the national organization for music education supply houses across the U. S. Hundreds of interesting exhibits will be on display.

HOUSING ASSURED

Registration began Tuesday and continued Wednesday for students and teachers at the Eugene Hotel, Eugene High and the central school office.

Gordon Corner, chairman of the housing committee, said Wednesday that adequate housing has been assured for all the visitors, thanks to the generosity of Eugene area people and volunteer helpers.

Climaxing the event will be a big Festival Concert at McArthur Court Saturday at 8 p.m. The public is invited. Admission will be charged: 75 cents for adults, 25 cents for students.

SATURDAY CONCERT

The All-Northwest Band, Orchestra, and Choir will present a gala festival. All three units will be seated together on the court floor. Band director will be Harold Bachman, director of bands of the University of Florida; choir director will be Charles C. Hirt, director of choral organizations of the University of Southern California at Los Angeles; and the orchestra director will be Irwin Hoffman, director of the Vancouver, B.C. Symphony Orchestra.

As a finale, all the 3 groups will combine Saturday night to present "Era of Peace," by Williams-Christianson, and "The National Anthem," Key.

Junior College Bill 'Premature'

SALEM (U)—The State Board of Higher Education said this week it would be "premature and unwise" for the Legislature to pass a bill asking that the board support junior colleges.

The board ordered its staff to make a study of the junior college question.

The bill would make the board give financial aid to school districts which operate junior colleges. The aid would amount to $1,000 a year for each junior college, plus $100 a year for each student.

The Bend school district is the only one which now operates such a college.

U.S. to Lift Nets

CHIBA, Japan (U)—The United States Navy said Wednesday it will completely remove the anti-submarine nets guarding the entrance to Tokyo Bay. The news was welcomed by Japanese fishing and shipping interests.

Agreement Signed

KARACHI, Pakistan (U)—Pakistan and India took a new step Tuesday night toward fully normal relations. The 2 governments signed an agreement here opening all railway routes between their neighboring countries.

Sales Tax Measure

Legislation would have nowhere to turn unless it adopted a sales tax, because the income tax couldn't be increased any more, he said.

He said he fears that if the income tax is increased now, it would influence new business against coming to Oregon.

Legislative committees gave approval to proposals to control the sale of comic books and to have driver training in the schools.

The Senate Judiciary Committee, after studying the problem for three months, decided on its comic book policy. It would have comic book dealers licensed, and then amend the obscenity statutes so they would apply specifically to the books.

LICENSES REVOKED

Dealers who violate these laws would have their licenses suspended or revoked.

The committee is preparing the bill.

The measure to have driver training in schools was approved Tuesday by the House Education Committee, and placed on Wednesday's House calendar. The program would be financed by boosting the price of the 60-cent learner's permit to $5. Also, $1 would be assessed on each $10 of traffic fines.

Taking a slap at the board of Higher Education, the House voted 40-13 for a bill to make the board give financial help to junior colleges which are run by school districts.

$1,000 A YEAR

The bill, which goes to the Senate, now would apply only to the Bend district, since it is the only one with a junior college program. The House vote came only a day after the Board of Higher Education.

Sextuplets Die

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (U)—The Zagreb weekly newspaper "Vjesnik U Srijedu" reported Wednesday that a 19-year-old woman gave birth to sextuplets in the tiny village of Todorovo, in the mountainous Yugoslav province of Bosnia. The paper said all 6 of the babies—2 girls and four boys—died.

First Polio Shots Set Monday

ease as possible. This year's serum has been corrected, and is of much more uniform consistency.

DEFECT CORRECTED

He also explained that one defect in some of last year's serum—because it was experimental—was the use of merthiolate as a preserving agent. "This may have injured the vaccine and is being eliminated this year," he said.

The doctor also predicted further improvements as time goes on, bringing about a nearly 100 per cent level of effectiveness.

The serum, supplied by the polio foundation, will be administered by members of the Lane County Medical Society who are volunteering their services.

Dr. Berryhill said that the reason for spreading the inoculations over 5 days is not a shortage of doctors, but a shortage of syringes. "There just aren't enough to do it all in one day," he said.

SCHEDULE ADVANCED

But, he explained, this is not a serious shortage as the revised inoculation schedule will put the program far ahead of original deadlines.

Prospects also are brightened for individual inoculations of persons not in the first through fourth grade group.

The serum was licensed late Tuesday for general distribution. This means that all serum not needed for the public health program will be channeled through drugstores for purchase by individual doctors.

The new inoculation schedule also will be beneficial in this respect.

Rep. Leon S. Davis, Hillsboro, chairman, said the bill would be patterned after one passed by the Washington Legislature.

It would allow the director to set retail milk prices for 90 days, and then to renew its order if the war hadn't been settled.

Davis said the legislation would deter large retail outlets from selling milk as "loss leaders."

The House Highway Committee approved a bill to transfer the state's 87 truck weighmasters from the Highway Commission to the state police.

The legislation, supported by log truckers, was opposed by the Highway Commission.

COST ESTIMATED

Estimates put the cost of the individual shot at $3 to $4. No charge is being made in the county-wide inoculation in the schools.

On a nationwide basis, the serum administered last year was proclaimed about 80 to 90 per cent effective in preventing the dread disease.

But in Oregon, it was 100 per cent effective — although the sample was not large enough for final conclusions. And in the 8 western states only 8 of the 41, 661 children inoculated contracted paralytic polio, well below the national average in the test.

Differences in the effects may have been due to the differences in batches.

Lane's serum will come in by air, probably by Friday. Other points in the state not served by airline will get theirs by Civil Air Patrol plane. The CAP has volunteered its services.

Obsidians Set 'Teton' Film

Eugene Obsidian search committee Thursday night will sponsor a film, "Teton Adventure," with a commentary by Glenn Exum, mountain climber and guide from the Teton Mountains. Admission will be 75 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. The film will be shown at Condon School at 8 p.m.

The film features Exum, Paul K. Petzoldt, famed climber, lecturer and guide, and Virginia Garner, woman climber, photographer and adventurer. Petzoldt and Exum have for more than 20 years operated the School of American Mountaineering and both have climbed such peaks as the Swiss Matterhorn.

"Teton Adventure" features the ascent of the Grand Teton and shows the entire route from the base to the summit. Film was taken by Ray Garner, member of the Canadian and American Alpine Clubs.
