IN ONE EAR...
 By JIM WELCH
 BURSITIS of the mind is the only thing that could have allowed boredom during the past week and a half.
 Oxnam, Faulkner, Oppenheimer—three of the world's brighter and more outspoken figures, and all in Eugene and before the public free.
 These speakers actually were far from free. The university paid in the heavy four figures to get them here, but those who made the choices realized that there's more to a school than its catalogue.
 Every teacher knows that he can labor for months and fail to make his point, only to have it thrust into his students' minds in a moment by a visiting authority.
 Possibly more important is the effect upon the community: jarring it into a knowing that these people we read about really exist and that their problems and accomplishments are fact, not just distant fairy tale. The atom bomb, for instance.
 As one woman said after the Oppenheimer talk: "You know I'll bet he knows that bomb from beginning to end."
 FAITH, appropriately, is the name of a man at a local stock brokerage house. He (Gerald T. Faith) was approached Wednesday by a young thing who said, "I'm interested in atomic power—and I've got $150 to invest." That's the Oppenheimer effect.
 FAITH well may be the name of the Bulldog of Alder St. Because he's a she, according to Boyd Peterson, another denizen of the street. This is the dog who through lethargy and a trust in his—her—own invulnerability never moves aside for a car. Gentle bulldogs, yes. Happy bulldogs, well yes. But she bulldogs, never.
 A BACHELOR in Salem is planning a $100,000-plus home with six bedrooms. Mercy!

ALL THE RIDDLES of this age are not nuclear. One of the longest standing is how the New York Times, printing all the news that's fit to print, can stay in business.
 A case in point: In a recent issue the Times printed the entire Yalta documents. The Register-Guard ordered 10 copies at 10 cents each. The total postage, paid by the Times, came to 96 cents.
 A FRIEND sloshed into the office the other day, shook the cloudburst from her shoulders, and said, "Do you know what Fred Brenne just said to me? He said 'Fine Day.'"
 Fred had had his job as Eugene Chamber of Commerce manager longer than any other chamber manager in the region. It's the little things of everyday life that matter. For example, Fred reads the Journal of Commerce while jaywalking across Willamette St. just to demonstrate his trust in Eugene drivers.

DUST STORM WARNING — Roy Norris, a Colorado Highway Department driver, stands near a warning sign on U. S. Highway 36-40 during height of dust storm ready to caution motorists about poor visibility in the plains area. The photo was made about 35 miles east of Denver.

Texans Dread Arrival Of Storm Named Sam

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP)—This west Texas city's official sandstorm advisory board, composed 1-2 of women, already is getting sentimental over sandstorms which they swear are thoroughly masculine.
 Seven official sandstorms—good, clean sand—already have swept the area. Don't dare call 'em dirty dusters.
 The sandstorm advisory board was created here Jan. 7 after women protested the U.S. Weather Bureau's policy of giving feminine names to hurricanes. West Texas sandstorms, the board said, would be given masculine names. The board is composed of three persons, Chamber of Commerce Manager Delbert Downing and U.S. Weather Bureau forecaster Bill Percy, hopelessly outnumbered by attorney Barbara Culver.
 They hardly had time to frame their certificates of appointment when the first sandstorm, struck Jan. 20.
 Sandstorm Adam responded to his name like a gentleman, whistled along at 29 miles per hour, stayed a couple of hours, and was careful not to overstay his welcome.
 The next was Benson, named after the Agriculture secretary, Ezra Taft Benson. He deposited an extra half-inch of new surface to the vicinity's grazing lands. Local Republicans swaggered.
 Sandstorm Casanova danced in, took a look at things where men are men and departed hastily. But the next sandy fellow was a real devil. El Diablo, the board named him. He was a real man, towering 12,000 feet and roaring for hours all over West Texas.
 Ely was a hit-and-run fellow. Some folks didn't know he was even around. Then came Farouk, who turned out to be fast but not so potent.
 But Gus was different. He stuck a chip on his shoulder and hung around for days. Strictly no gentleman, said Mrs. Culver.
 The next sandstorm's name is secret but Democrats are betting his name will be Harry. And Rayburn-conscious Texans dread the day sandstorm Sam arrives.
 "He's bound to stay a long, long time," they say.

Jury Picked For Newport Assault Trial

NEWPORT, Ore. (AP)—Testimony was scheduled to begin Thursday in the second trial of Richard Thomson, accused of trying to kill his business partner, James Meuler, 31, in 1953.
 Thomson was convicted in the first trial, but a new trial was ordered by the State Supreme Court on the ground improper evidence was introduced.
 Selection of a jury was completed Wednesday, and the jury at once went to the scene where Meuler went over a bluff in an automobile.
 Thomson is accused of hitting Meuler over the head with a piece of pipe, and then rolling him off the bluff in the car. The car plunged into the surf far below, but Meuler bounced out part way down, and recovered to testify against Thomson in the previous trial.
 Defense attorneys have indicated they may plead temporary insanity for Thomson. This led Dist. Atty. William Hollen to request an examination of Thomson by Dr. Rogers Smith of Portland Wednesday. The defense agreed. After the examination, there was no announcement of Smith's opinion.

 FRANKLIN, Neb. (AP)—Mice haven't a chance in the Franklin County courthouse. Supplies of poisoned grain kept by the county agricultural agent for fighting prairie dogs, mice and other rodents were recently invaded by courthouse mice. The invaders scarcely made it away from the sack before they succumbed.
