

Turncoats May Be Able To Challenge Army Acts

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Communist decision to send home three American turncoats who first chose to stay in China could stir up new difficulties for the U. S. Army, and the former soldiers themselves.

The three who changed their minds about remaining with the Communists who captured them in Korea sailed from Hong Kong Monday saying they are ready to face the consequences of any wrongdoings while prisoners of war.

What they did not say, and may not realize, is that they have possible legal grounds for challenging the Army's right to give them dishonorable discharges when they and 18 of their comrades refused to come home with the Army.

Church Services Held at Drive-in ELMSFORD, N. Y. (AP)—To make worship "more convenient and comfortable," St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church is holding services in a drive-in theatre.

Ushers at the ticket gate give out programs, and prayers and sermons are heard over the theatre's amplifiers. Parishioners are urged to dress informally.

The Rev. Ralph Warren Storm said he plans to hold outside services each Sunday during the summer. More than 200 persons attended the first service, twice the previous indoor average.

To Visit Middle East

WASHINGTON (AP)—Special Ambassador Eric Johnston expected to leave by plane July 28 for his fifth visit to the Middle East to enlist Arab and Israeli support for American plans to develop water resources in the region.

Whether American prisoners after the armistice in Korea, the military code states that a dishonorable discharge can result only from a conviction and sentence by a general court-martial. The same regulations also state that a full-dress military trial cannot be held without the presence of the defendant and qualified lawyers to defend him.

The Army decided that "undesirable" discharges were the worst that could be given to the 21 men who originally chose to stay with the Reds. Such discharges, which rate below honorable and general discharges but above bad conduct and dishonorable discharges, can be ordered by administrative action.

But Secretary of Defense Wilson bluntly told the Army it was all tied up in its own red tape. He ordered that the men be given dishonorable discharges, saying the secretary of the Army had sufficient general powers to dispose of the cases that way.

The three Americans were given a short briefing about their status when they reached Hong Kong. They will be fully informed of their rights when they get back to this country, especially if either civil or military action is started against them. They could demand a test of the legality of their dishonorable discharges.

There is also the undecided question of whether a man who has been formally and officially discharged from service can be returned to military jurisdiction to answer charges lodged against him for alleged acts while in uniform.

The Army has given no hint as to what if any action it plans in the cases of the three now on their way home: William A. Cowart, of Dalton, Ga.; Otho G. Bell, of Hillsboro, Miss.; and Lewis W. Griggs, of Jacksonville, Tex.
