OSC to Hold Animal Sale

Livestock men will have the chance to choose from 101 registered animals at the third annual Oregon State College breeding stock auction Aug. 11. The sale will be at the OSC livestock pavilion, starting at 1 p.m.

Included on the sale list are Hereford bulls and cows; Angus bulls, cows, and heifers; Romney rams and ewes; Southdown rams and ewes; Suffolk rams; Hampshire rams; and Berkshire gilts. All are from the OSC registered flocks and herds.

Normal increase in livestock numbers through the raising of all offspring for teaching and research purposes makes such a yearly reduction sale necessary, says Dr. Fred F. McKenzie, head of the OSC department of animal husbandry. Livestock to be sold during the year for breeding purposes usually is held for this sale, giving all interested persons an equal chance to buy.

All bulls to be sold have above average rate-of-gain, feed efficiency, and are excellent in type. The OSC production testing program makes complete information available on each animal. Copies of the sale catalogue are available from the OSC animal husbandry department. Mail bids should be sent to Dr. McKenzie.

FARM SAFETY WEEK AHEAD

To focus attention of the nation on what needs to be done about reducing farm accidents, July 24 to 30 has been proclaimed as 12th National Farm Safety Week. Theme for the week is "Your Safety is In Your Hands."

Mabel Mack, assistant directos of the agricultural extension service at Oregon State College, says the governor's committee on farm safety for Oregon plans a concerted effort during National Farm Safety Week to make farmers more safety conscious. Al Bauer, Salem farm radio director, is chairman for the committee.

The committee is made up of representatives from the Oregon Grange, Farm Bureau Federation, Farmers Union, REA's, youth groups, industrial accident commission, OSC, press and radio.

President Eisenhower recently underscored the need for more attention to safety precautions on the farm in pointing out that "a death toll of 14,000 farm residents each year is a tragic loss to the nation."
