Trailer Trek to Canada

By EDNA RAMP
Of the Register-Guard

It's a vacation on wheels for two Eugene families who are bound for a three-week trip to Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Collins and daughter, Patsy and her friend, Joyce Herendeen, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Schwarz and son, Bobby, left Sunday morning with their trailers for British Columbia. Plans included fishing in B.C., a possible flight to Anchorage, Alaska, stops at Lake Louise and Banff and Sun Valley en route home.

Home for the summer holidays is Gail Merrill, daughter of the Charles K. Merrills, who has been attending University of Washington the past year. Gail, who made a four point average during her first term and has been on the honor roll throughout the year, received the Chi Omega house freshman award for scholarship.

Back to the Emerald Empire after an 8000-mile trip are Mr.

and Mrs. E. L. Koerner, who spent their three-week vacation with family and friends in the mid-west. They visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Koerner in Alliance, Ohio, and her two daughters, Miss Judy Deitch of Loudenville, Ohio, who formerly lived in Elmira, and Mrs. Jerald Baker of East Troy, Wis.

The visitors also attended the Rev. Baker's graduation from Garrett Biblical Institute at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., and his ordination at the Methodist Conference in Wisconsin Rapids, Wis. The Koerners were accompanied East by her daughter, Gale, who is visiting from California.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Andreason entertained at a family party at their home honoring their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Andreason Jr., who were married recently. Mrs. Andreason is the former Sidney Cushing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Cushing, also of Eugene. Dan left Saturday for San Diego, Calif., to begin active duty with the U. S. Marine Corps and Sidney will remain in Eugene.

ELECTED — Mrs. Ceburn Davis of Seaside was named president of Oregon State Association of Emblem Clubs at the fourth annual convention this weekend in Eugene.

The party also was a family "welcome home" to the elder son, Charles Andreason, who returned to Eugene recently from the East coast after more than three years' service in the U. S. Army.

Mrs. Grover Klein poured and Mrs. Mark Smith cut the cake.

PACKING PROBLEMS — Mrs. O. Meredith Wilson has difficulty fitting everything into boxes as she prepares for moving day Wednesday when she and President Wilson and their family will leave University of Oregon campus for their new home and position at University of Minnesota.

It's Fond Farewell To Wilsons

Eugene bids a reluctant farewell tomorrow to University of Oregon's "First Family."

For Wednesday is moving day for President and Mrs. O. Meredith Wilson, who will oversee the loading of their moving van, then take off by automobile with three of their six children and head eastward.

Their destination, of course, is Minneapolis, where President Wilson will assume his new duties as president of University of Minnesota. But enroute the family plans to enjoy a weekend at Jackson Hole, Wyo., and a two-day visit with Mrs. Wilson's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Wilson and their four children.

Two moves await the Wilsons when they reach Minneapolis. First they'll move into the present university President's House, where they will remain for at least several months. Meanwhile the handsome home in nearby St. Paul that has been presented to the university as the future President's House will be vacated by the owner and put in readiness for its new occupants.

"So we're trying to sort and label everything—those items we will need immediately, the things we won't use until later," Mrs. Wilson smiled as she stopped between packing to discuss her plans.

Already the many high bookcases were stripped of their books and packing boxes were filled with cherished mementos. "These have been wonderful years in Oregon," Mrs. Wilson continued. "We never expected to leave here and I'm sure it will always seem like home, especially to our four older children. But it's strange the turn your life takes—this was an opportunity that one doesn't turn down."

The family's reluctance to leave Oregon is apparent from their "gradual" journey to the mid-west. Son Met, who will be a senior at Harvard University next fall, drove here from Cambridge, Mass., with a classmate, Bill Baldwin of New Haven, Vt., and the two plan to spend the summer in Portland. Met is working in an investment firm while giving Bill, who's been to Europe but never been west of Pennsylvania, a "Western education."

John, 15, has elected to remain in Eugene this summer with Mrs. Wilson's brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Loren C. Barlow. John has covered second base for the same Little League team (Myrno and Sons), which makes his presence in Eugene this summer more or less essential.

Daughter Mary Ann, South Eugene High School junior, left earlier this month for Norway, where she'll be an exchange student under the American Field Service plan.

Connie, who has just finished her freshman year at University of Oregon, will go to Minnesota with her parents and decide later in the summer whether to remain there or return here for her sophomore year.

"The two little ones, David, 11, and Margaret, 9, will also drive back to Minnesota with us," Mrs. Wilson added. "Of course, once we feel at home there, we're certain to enjoy it. But our family will always have a special fondness for Eugene."

And vice versa!

This Is a Problem?

By HELEN BOTTEL
Family Advisor

Dear Helen:
I read in your column about women wanting to know how to get a man. Well, I want to know how to keep them from falling for me. I can't even go to the store without having a man look at me like a dying calf. What's your answer?—LONE FEMALE.

Dear Lone: What's YOUR formula?

Dear Helen:
I am 28 years old, have been married almost six years, have four lovely children and a wonderful husband. The trouble is my mother-in-law has resented me since the beginning of our courtship. She used to see us once in a great while, but now she never calls, and when we run into her, she turns her back. Should I try once more and see if I can find out what's wrong, or just let it go?—W.P.H.

Dear W.: Try again. Your m-in-l may be riled at an imagined hurt which can only be smoothed out by kindness and sympathy. You might never be close but if you can avoid an open rift, you'll be doing your husband a great favor. See below.

(This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of Eugene Register-Guard.)

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Toddler in the house? Then I hardly need to tell you that he's half imp, half angel.

Your guidance now will play an important part in the development of your child's future behavior pattern.

- Try to identify right from wrong by using a different tone of voice.
- Use "no" sparingly, but mean it when you use it. Be lavish in praise of good behavior.
- Try to let your child know that you disapprove of the deed, not him, by letting your love show at all times.

Footloose and fancy free, that's the way toddlers like to be these soft summer days. If you've a nice grassy yard or play area, do let your toddler run barefoot, provided his traveling ground is free of stones and sharp objects. Feels ever so nice to little feet and strengthens 'em to boot.

Something new to turn any imp into an angel at mealtime: Gerber Junior Spaghetti with Beef Tender, enriched spaghetti is artfully blended with bits of flavorful beef and brightened with savory tomato sauce. Rich in the energy-giving calories active toddlers need, plus a heaping helping of vitamin-A value. Serve it with a Gerber vegetable and dessert for a lip-smacking luncheon.

More that's new...delicious and nutritious, too! Gerber Cookies with added protein are filled to the hilt with flavor. What's more, these crispy, crunchy cookies have twice as much protein as most other cookies. And the delicate icing is enriched with important B-vitamins. Yes, vitamins in the icing, so they can't be lost in baking. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.
