Four More Executives Start Jail Terms

By LEE LINDER
Of the Associated Press
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Four high-salaried electrical firm executives surrendered Monday to start 30-day jail terms for fixing prices and rigging bids in America's biggest federal anti-trust case.

Dressed in conservative business suits, and accompanied only by their attorneys, they arrived from 5 to 20 minutes before they had been ordered to surrender. All appeared glum.

After fingerprinting them, U.S. Marshal William O'Brien said he would handcuff them—two to each set of handcuffs—and then drive them in two automobiles to the Montgomery County Prison in Norristown.

At Norristown, they will join two Westinghouse executives who asked to start their 30-day terms last Friday—three days early.

Beginning their terms are William S. Ginn, 45, a General Electric vice president from Schenectady, N.Y.; George E. Burns, a G.E. vice president who lives in Cleveland, Ohio, but is on special assignment for manufacturing services at Louisville, Ky.; Lewis J. Burger, 48, of Fort Wayne, Ind., G.E. division manager who formerly headed the switchgear division; and Edwin R. Jung, 58, vice president of Clark Controller Co., Cleveland.

A seventh man sentenced to jail for his part, John Marvin Cook, 54, Fox Point, Wis., marketing vice president of the Cutler-Hammer, Inc., Milwaukee, Wis., was granted a week delay in his starting term because of his daughter's engagement party this week.

Ginn, a husky man of about 6-feet-2 who looks like a football player, and Burger were first to surrender. Asked by newsmen if he had any comment, Ginn, who bosses 17,000 employees in seven plants of the nation's largest electrical firm, replied tersely: "Nope."

Burger stood quietly in the marshal's office, but Ginn paced up and down the room. Burns, a gray-haired man in a gray suit, was next to arrive. He told reporters: "It is a very unhappy situation I find myself in."

While antitrust convictions are not regarded as felonies—thereby resulting in loss of civil rights, it is routine here for the U. S. marshal to handcuff federal prisoners en route to jail.

The two Westinghouse Electric Corp. executives already in prison are John H. Chiles Jr., 57, Sharon, Pa., vice president of the transformer division, and Charles L. Maunell, 60, Drexel Hill, Pa., sales manager of the steam turbine division.

The seven men, who reportedly earn between $25,000 and $135,000 annually, will occupy separate cells in the Montgomery County prison, which is 20 miles north of Philadelphia. It is a 112-year-old structure that can house a maximum of 275, but now has 205 inmates.

Warden Andrew White said there will be no preferential treatment for the men. They will follow the same daily routines as other prisoners.

Wake-up time is 6:30 a.m. Lights go out at 9 p.m. But prisoners can listen to jail-supplied radios until midnight when silence is mandatory. There is an afternoon exercise period and prisoners can borrow three books weekly from a small library. They can have visitors Wednesday and Saturday.

Ginn, as director of the turbine division, supervises plants at Schenectady, Elmira, N. Y.; Linn, Fitchburg and Everett, Mass., and Erie, Pa. He is also in charge of the Knolls Atomic Power Laboratory near Schenectady.

The seven men ordered to jail were among 44 executives and 29 electrical firms sentenced last Monday and Tuesday by U.S. Dist. Judge J. Cullen Gandy.

Fines totaled $1,924,500, with a portion already paid. The judge, condemning the conspiracy as a blot on American business, gave 24 other electrical industry executives suspended jail terms and placed them on probation for five years.

Now! Relieve acid attacks caused by STOMACH TENSION

Tablet discovery checks attacks in seconds... then works like a warm glass of milk to keep acid stomach soothed for hours

N.Y., N.Y. (Special). Medical science knows that today, millions suffer from Stomach Tension... a distress caused by today's hectic pace of living; juice and coffee breakfasts; eat-and-run lunches... diet foods. Your own doctor can tell you, Stomach Tension pours wave after wave of burning acid onto delicate stomach tissues. But ordinary antacids merely relieve the first wave of acid... then leave the stomach, leave you open to further attack. An antacid was needed that could give prolonged soothing relief... the amazing relief that doctors knew a warm glass of milk gave. The answer came when physicians discovered a Glycine compound—a medication that soothed a burning acid stomach even better than a warm glass of milk. A medical publication reported that this compound gave faster relief than ordinary antacids, and actually worked to soothe the stomach for hours and guard against repeated acid attacks. This most effective compound is named Amitone. If you suffer Stomach Tension today, and ordinary antacids fail to bring the relief you want, you need Amitone. Amitone tablets are available at all drug counters without prescription.

Labor Chief to Tour Other Areas of U.S.

By NORMAN WALKER
Of the Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration Monday charted a new series of town meetings across the land to get firsthand the plight of the unemployed.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, just back from an initial five-state swing, said he plans to carry President Kennedy's message that "help is coming" into other sections.

Goldberg toured depressed areas in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan and Pennsylvania over the weekend. He said Kennedy followed the trip with great interest and considered it "very worthwhile."

The labor secretary said he soon will hit the road again to visit the South and West and such areas as West Virginia, Massachusetts and the Mesabi iron range in Minnesota.

TOWN MEETINGS

On his first tour, Goldberg said he would talk with unemployed workers and their families and consult in "town meeting" type sessions with labor, management and local government leaders to get their ideas on how the recession can be licked.

"I am sure we will be able to alleviate the effects of unemployment and put the country back to work," the secretary said confidently on his return to Washington Sunday night.

He reported wide acceptance of Kennedy's plans to supply extra jobless benefits, grants to needy children, a higher minimum wage, and aid to education, housing and aged health needs.

Goldberg said this acceptance was true of the public at large, business as well as labor. He explained that objections heard at meetings on his trip from some business men represented only "healthy discussion."

Criticism of the Kennedy proposals came Sunday from Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., and Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., in separate television-radio interviews.

'GRAB FOR POWER'

Ellender said of the depressed areas bill "it is just another grab for power by those who can think only in terms of a bigger and bigger federal bureaucracy."

Loans and grants to depressed areas, Ellender added, "would place the federal government in direct competition with communities in other parts of the country which also are trying to attract new industry."

Speaking along the same lines, Keating said "we've got to make sure we don't go overboard and make things worse. Any bill worth its salt must therefore explicitly prevent the taking of an industry from one distressed area and moving it to another."

Spending Estimated

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Science Foundation estimated Monday that government spending to support scientific research June 30 will total $9.1 billion. This compares to $8.6 for the fiscal year that ended last June 30 and $7.4 billion the previous year.

First Family's Visit Causes Minor Stir

MIDDLEBURG, Va. (UPI)—This quiet community in the Virginia horse country absorbed President Kennedy's first weekend visit with hardly a tremor and showed little outward display of curiosity about its distinguished new neighbor.

The President flew here by helicopter Saturday for his first look at the 400-acre Glen Ora estate which he has leased for a year, a mile and a half south of this town of less than 800 population.

The President returned to the White House Monday.

Mrs. Kennedy and their 3-year-old daughter, Caroline, arrived by helicopter a day ahead of the President. The First Lady and Caroline intended to stay until Tuesday night or Wednesday.

The President made only one public appearance during his stay—to go to church—but he pulled Caroline on a sled about the grounds of the estate Sunday.

Kennedy attended Mass at noon Sunday in the Middleburg Community Center, where weekly services are held in a town with no Catholic church.

A crowd of about 40 persons, many of them children, stood across the street by a filling station to watch Kennedy arrive. Mrs. Kennedy stayed home, suffering from a cold.

Some of the townspeople were convinced there was less interest in the first Kennedy visit than in the annual auction sale Saturday of household furnishings, antique and otherwise, or in ridding the roads of snow and reopening snowbound schools. On top of earlier snowfalls, this area had 20 inches of snow last Wednesday and another four inches Sunday.

Middleburg Mayor Edwin C. Reamer, a fuel oil dealer, said he was delighted that the President had picked Glen Ora for a retreat and believed the majority of the residents here felt the same way.

The Middleburg area, along with Virginia, went Republican in the presidential election last fall.

Troops Called Out

LALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (AP)—Territorial troops were called out in race-troubled Northern Rhodesia Sunday. The Ministry of Federal Government of the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland said the call was a precautionary move and in the interest of public safety.

X-15 Expected To Set Record

EDWARDS AFB, Calif. (UPI)—Maj. Robert White, holder of the world's unofficial speed and altitude records, sometime this week will fly the X-15 equipped with the world's mightiest manned-craft engine.

White will be the first government pilot to fly the experimental spaceship. He is expected to break his own speed record of 2,275 miles an hour in the initial flight. His altitude mark is 136,000 feet.

If all goes well, White this week will pilot the X-15 at about 2,500 miles an hour at an altitude of 80,000 feet over this Mojave Desert base in Southern California.

The X-15 White will pilot has an engine which develops 57,000 pounds thrust. Previous X-15s he has flown had two small engines developing a total of 16,000 pounds thrust. It was with them that he set the new unofficial speed and altitude marks.

The big-engine X-15 is designed to fly at 4,000 m.p.h. up to 100 miles—a speed and altitude White and pilot Joe Walker will gradually work up towards in the final series of testing beginning this week.

Pearl Receives Gift

PORTLAND (AP)—William A. Pearl got a practical gift from employees at a party honoring him on his retirement as chief of the Bonneville Power Administration. They presented him with a registered Hereford heifer for the small farm he operates near Oregon City.
