UO Planning Special Flight To France

Twenty-five University of Oregon students will have the opportunity to fly to France this summer at a price far below regular airline fares.

The university, under the provisions of the National Defense Education Act, has chartered a jet to fly 90 teachers of high school French to Tours, where it will conduct a nine-week language institute. Approximately 25 seats will be open to university students and faculty at a cost of between $300-$350. This is $200 less than normal air rates.

According to Carl L. Johnson, professor of the romance languages and associate director of the foreign language institute, students need not attend the institute, however he encourages those who are intent on serious study rather than vacationers.

Those interested in making the trip should contact either Professor Johnson or David M. Dougherty, head of the department of foreign languages.

Merit Pay Plan Aired

A merit pay system for city employes was one of the chief topics of discussion Saturday at a meeting of the Oregon section of the International City Managers' Assn. in Portland.

Hugh McKinley, Eugene city manager and president of the group, said the managers studied a proposal that would provide a uniform merit pay system, but no definite conclusions were reached.

Members of the group also discussed pending legislation that will affect cities, and problems of annexation.

John D. Holstrom, recently retired chief of police of Berkeley, Calif., was chief speaker. Consultants for a discussion on personnel problems were William F. Danielson, city personnel director, Berkeley; Melvin H. Cleveland, director, state civil service commission, and Eric L. Carlson, head of the local government service division of the state Civil Service Commission.

'Mr. Follies' Contest Set

A "Mr. Follies" contest will be conducted this year in connection with the Junior Service League Follies of 1961.

For the contest, men's organizations in Eugene each will select a candidate. The winner will be announced May 17, at the follies, and will be presented with a trophy.

Voting for the contest will be open to the public. Votes, which will be cash, will be counted in relation to the number of members in the candidate's organization.

The winning candidate's organization will receive half the net proceeds of the "Mr. Follies" contest.

Mel Gustafson of Eugene, sponsored by Eugene Rotary Club, was the winner in 1957, the last date that the follies were held.

For this year's follies, members of the Junior Service League have secured a professional director. Variety acts are featured in the show.

Further information on the "Mr. Follies" contest is available from the chairman, Mrs. Leroy Latham of Eugene, DI 5-5486.
