Party Line Party in Portland

Much feted recently has been Mrs. Agnes Hanson, housemother at Kappa Alpha Theta chapter house on the university campus, who is retiring after 20 years' service in that position. Many parties have been given for her, and she has been inundated with gifts.

A luncheon for 500 women honored Mrs. Hanson Saturday in Portland at the University Club. Sponsored by the two alumnae groups in Portland, senior and junior, the gathering included alumnae of Salem, Albany and Corvallis as well as Eugene, and also the actives from the Eugene campus. Again, gifts were presented to the beloved housemother.

Eugene alumnae attending were Mrs. Edward Pape Sr., Mrs. John Elder and Mrs. David M. Graham.

Looking forward to residence in Eugene are Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Leivers, who will come here in late July after many years in Juneau, Alaska. Mrs. Leivers is a sister of Mrs. Leslie White and is a guest this week of Dr. and Mrs. White while she shops for a home.

Mr. Leivers has been an employee of the federal court in Juneau and will soon be retired. The couple will drive via the Alcan Highway repeating a trip they took three years ago for a former visit to Eugene.

Long-time friends, Mrs. Eric Ericson and Mrs. Nellie Howard leave Portland Thursday by jet for a two or three week holiday in Hawaii. This is a first trip to the Islands for the two women, who claim a friendship of 54 years.

The two women plan to visit the outer Islands during their stay. They will return to Eugene by plane.

On their way to Hawaii to soak up enough sunshine for the whole summer—just in case Oregon's sunny days don't last—are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hamilton. They took the jet flight out of Portland Saturday afternoon for Honolulu. This will be their first trip to the Islands and they plan three weeks of sight-seeing and relaxation.

When Quota Club last spring entertained the girls of Rebec House, with whom they have maintained a big-sisterly relationship for several years, the girls had such a wonderful time with "Buz," the big Labrador dog belonging to the hostess, Miss Thelma Schaefer, that they asked if they might "please come back next year."

The sequel took place Wednesday evening, when the Rebec girls, about 25 of them, with their housemother, Mrs. Zella M. Kusby, met at Miss Schaefer's home with an almost equal number of Quota members. The girls broiled hamburgers on the patio while Quotarians arranged other dishes upon a buffet table nearby. Buz was the center of a romping group of girls most of the evening, and got his share of hamburgers.

After the dinner, the girls reported to Miss Schaefer that they had appointed a clean-up committee, which went into action at once.

Co-chairman with Miss Schaefer for Quota was Mrs. Earl Byrom, and they were assisted by Mrs. J. Lorin Edmiston and Mrs. Earl Blackburn. Mrs. Victor P. Morris was a special guest.
